Introduction

Hello, my name is Hayden. You may also know me by my old IGN, TheChosen1. My current IGN, and how most of the community recognizes me, is Nedyah.

Opening Thoughts

I support trans rights without question. Trans rights are human rights.

I know that may be hard for you to believe, but it is true. It is an understatement to say there are a LOT of people in the community who see me in a negative light. I understand that most people who read this will likely have a negative perception of me. The purpose of this doc is to provide new perspectives for you to consider. I am aware of two primary accusations against me: Transphobia, and sexual harassment of a minor. These claims are both false, and I will give an explanation as to why. If you are a TO reading this, all I ask of you is to keep an open mind and consider my perspective on the issue.

If you have any difficulty reading any of the screenshots, check out the Enlarged Screenshots tab of this document.

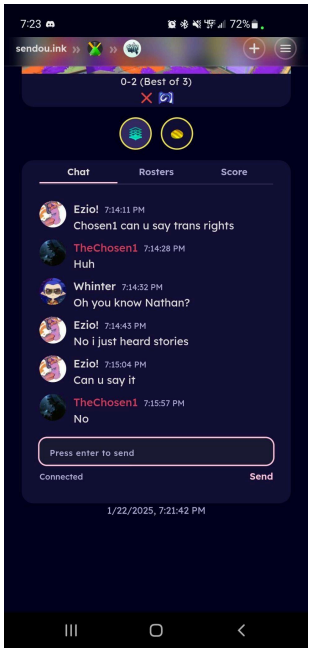

Allegation 1

Transphobia

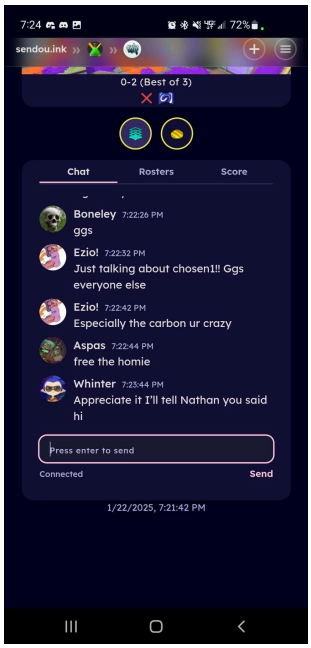

This is referring to allegations by multiple people saying that I don't support trans rights, or that I am otherwise disrespectful to trans people. There are a few screenshots that have been used to support this claim. I will address all of these below.

The first time I was accused of transphobia was in a tourney chat where I was asked to say "trans rights" and refused.

To make it clear, this was partially my mistake. I assumed the message was a joke, and so I responded in a joking manner. The “Not without a PayPal payment of 5 bucks” comment was intended to be a joke, always was and always has been. In hindsight, I made the situation much worse because of that, and I should have simply said trans rights. My lack of response was not intended to be a political statement in any way. Rather, I was trying to not interact and go about my day. This was a major mistake, and I apologize for all the confusion that I caused from this. As stated before, I support trans rights.

As for why this situation happened, I am not sure. This was the first time I had ever been confronted with this accusation, so the “stories” that were being referenced are still a mystery to me. So as far as I am aware, the transphobia accusation was simply made up. Ezio would go on to post this interaction on Twitter (which they later deleted) where it got a lot of attention.

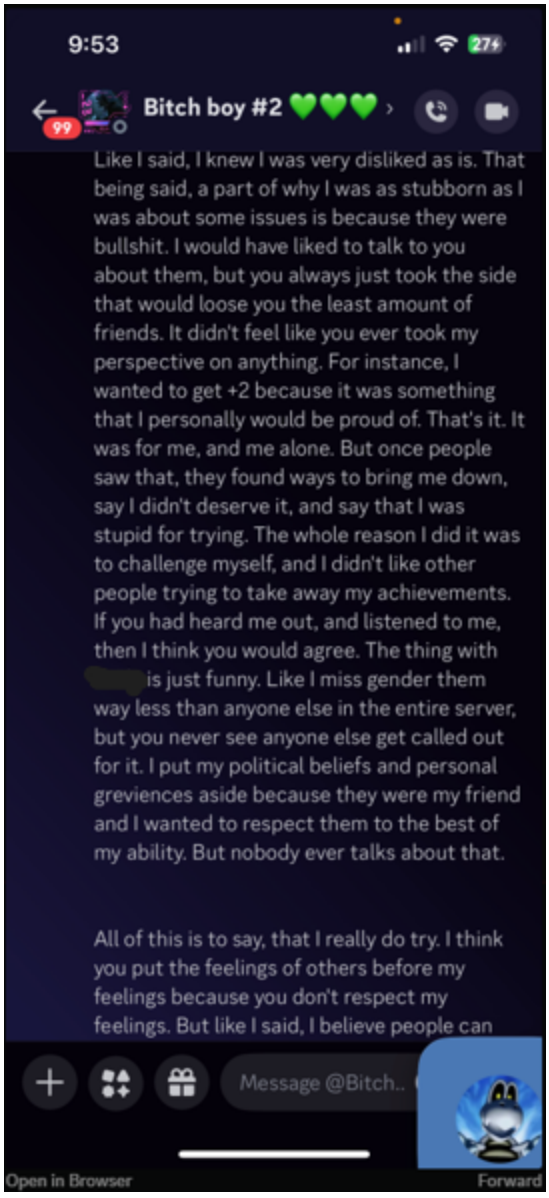

The next situation is in reference to some conversations I had about Lyric. I had been good friends with her for around a year prior to these interactions. At some point in late 2024, she transitioned from he/him, to she/her pronouns. This was a decision that I fully supported and respected. Unfortunately, I am not perfect and would occasionally misgender her in vc, to which she got very upset. After that, I had a conversation with my friend Jun about the interaction. I mentioned how I was getting frustrated because Lyric took my mistake as malice, even though I was in full support of her transition. Jun agreed with me, but commented that I should put more effort into using the correct pronouns in the future. I no longer have access to this account, so this is the only screenshot I have of this conversation.

- In the bottom of the screenshot, you can see that I said-“I am just scared to address it because of politics.”

-Taken out of context, this sounds like-“I’m transphobic, so I don’t want to talk about it.”

-What my message was actually saying-”I don’t want to talk about my frustrations with Lyric because it might give off the impression that I don’t support her transition.” (which is what happened anyways)

In the above screenshot, I was sending a DM to my friend after getting banned from their server. I was listing out some unrelated issues we had, as well as the situation with Lyric. Again, while this screenshot seems incriminating at first, it can be explained in the same way the previous one can.

-The circled section says: "I put my political beliefs and personal grievances aside because they [Lyric] were my friend and I wanted to respect them to the best of my ability."
“Personal grievances and political beliefs" was referring to their lack of patience in me after I misgendered her, and how it would likely come off if I were to bring that up. Jun and I had conversations about this topic before, in which I used similar phrasing. Unfortunately, those sentences were taken out of context to appear as if “political beliefs” meant transphobia. I in no way intended to say that I had anything against her transition, or trans rights as a whole.

To summarize this situation: I have always supported Lyric's transition, and nothing I said in these screenshots negates that. I will acknowledge that I worded my messages very poorly, and I am very sorry for not correcting them sooner. I did word my messages poorly, but that does not make me transphobic. The screenshot also shows me saying she was my friend, and that I wanted to respect her. 99% of my interactions with Lyric are very positive, including after she transitioned. This situation was all a big misunderstanding caused in large part by me. And if you are reading this Lyric, I am very sorry for causing this confusion. I meant no harm to you, and I do genuinely hope we can continue on even terms in the future.

A few months after that interaction, I was once again confronted in a tourney chat:

This time, I didn't say anything at all. At this point in time, the accusations were out there, and all I wanted to do was ignore them and go about my day. After this tourney, I was taken to twitter once again, and canceled for my lack of response. Although my decision to not respond to these requests was very questionable, that does not make me transphobic. I ignored Sencon and Ezio because I felt like that was the path of least resistance. Neither of these situations should have happened, and I don't think there is any more meaningful discussion to be had from them. Once again, I support trans rights, and I have no problem saying this to anyone.

Now that I have addressed the transphobia claims, I want to address a meme that has been shared around in the time since I was canceled.

I know many people likely took this as a joke, but this meme was unironically used to ban me from some servers/spam my dms. It should go without saying, but using this meme as evidence is not productive at all. The vast majority of these images have nothing to do with me whatsoever, and the only two that are relevant have already been addressed in this document. This meme should demonstrate the nature of my accusations. While some of them are reasonable if you don't have the full context, most of it is a joke, and it should be treated as such. Some people actually took this meme seriously, so I wanted to address it here so ensure there is no confusion.

Sexual harassment of a minor

This is referring to Tini's allegation made against me, where they claim I made inappropriate requests in a vc. This is a very serious allegation, and not one that should be taken lightly. Simply put, this never happened. I understand that I have no evidence to prove that it didn't happen, but Tini also doesn't have any evidence to prove that it did happen. Because the situation can't be proven either way, it is my word against Tini's. I understand it's easy to immediately believe the accuser, especially because most people already have a negative outlook on me, and I do agree with standing with victims. However, this is a very serious allegation that involves behavior that is not only horrible and disgusting, but against the law. It should go without saying that I believe this type of behavior is vile, and to be accused of it with no proof just because someone doesn't like me is both a clear attempt at character assassination, and harmful to real victims who suffer when their claims are not believed because of false allegations like these.

I remember you saying this and then trying to defend it by bringing up Nebraska laws since you're still considered a minor at 18.
I also remember you doing this on multiple occasions with other minors in the server, with this same law excuse every time.

I think your memory might need some help lol. I did joke about the fact that 18 is still a minor for some reason, but it never came anywhere near this.
I don't really feel much need to defend myself anymore, but this is too far.

The fact that you feel the need to peddle these lies with nothing to back them up is really sad. With all the weird comments you've made to me, and the fact that it had been around 7 months since we had been in vc before you made this claim is pretty telling.
Leave me alone.

You can keep denying it, the truth does exist and it isn't what you say.
Most people already know your a bad person, but people should know the fucked up person you are. You don't deserve a place in the community with everything you've done, which is much more than what I said.

Furthermore, I do have some screenshots to shed some light on the type of person Tini is. Hopefully these make my defense more believable:
"Nobody masturbates better than me 😛"

(Unprompted comment on my year-old yt video)

(Unprompted ping on twitter)

To summarize this allegation: This claim is 100% fabricated. Tini and I were in the same server, and on good terms with each other for around a year until I was banned for the situation with Lyric, which had nothing to do with Tini. They only made this claim 4 months later, where I was already being canceled. I have been banned from multiple servers because of this claim, and I am widely seen as a pedophile, despite no evidence ever being presented. In addition to everything else, many of my friends in the vouchers tab are minors, and not one of them has ever seen anything that would indicate I would do this. Once again, I want people to stand with victims and support them, but these allegations are false.

Closing Statement

To the best of my knowledge, I have addressed all allegations against me in this document with my perspective. I am aware of the possibility that more allegations will surface after this document releases, since many subsets of the community truly dislike me that much.
If you have any questions, comments, or concerns, my DMs are open and I'd appreciate a one-to-one discussion rather than slander in the form of tweets like has happened in the past. Please also see the next tab, where some of my friends give their opinions and perspectives on these allegations. And lastly, thank you for reading through this document. Feel free to reach out to me at @nedyah_spl on Discord.

- ItsJustRin-”I've been interacting with Hayden since mid-January when he reached out to my post looking for a coach and offered to help. Since then, Hayden has been nothing but kind, respectful, and helpful to me. I'm a trans individual. It's blatantly listed on my profile on both Sendou and Discord, and yet he still reached out and offered help. I use he/him pronouns, but my voice is extremely feminine as I'm not on any sort of hormones. Even still, Hayden has NEVER had an issue with this, nor has there ever been the slightest hint of him saying or feeling anything distasteful regarding it. He has always respected my identity and pronouns, as well as the identity and pronouns of well over 10 of my friends he has been in vc with, who are all gender non-conforming and use a variety of pronouns. A portion of those people are also minors, and there were no problems before, during, or after the time Hayden interacted with them. I'm not sure where either the transphobia or pedophilia allegations came from. Even being very active in comp myself at the time the allegations came out, I had never heard of them, and I'm not even sure why they happened as Hayden has always seemed like a stand up guy to me. Even if the transphobia allegations were true, the fact that the comp community can't allow someone to grow and change their opinions is absurd. The community's obsession with cancelling people and having them permanently labeled as a "bad person" even after they've changed their views, apologized, and acknowledged their actions is ridiculous. The separation of humanity, empathy, and forgiveness in the online space needs to be seriously considered before actions are taken, opinions are formed, and posts are made. There is also the matter of pedophilia allegation with no proof. I very much believe in standing with victims, but as we've seen with Gem (squid school), immediately cancelling and harassing the accused is not the right move. Allegations can be false, proof can be faked, and we can stand with victims without persecuting the accused until evidence is released. I urge those active in online spaces, especially if you are young, to be careful with your words, actions, and posts, and think carefully and critically before you form opinions. Allow yourself to have an open mind that has room for change of opinions, and remember at the end of the day there is another person just like you behind the screen.”

- Cinnamon - “I’ve been in contact with Hayden for the past few months. Not once has he uttered any words or jokes about transphobia or sexual harassment. From my time knowing and what I’ve observed, he’s been nothing more than respectful, kind, and mature towards me and everyone he’s been talking to.”

- Once/Frog- “I’ve never seen anything from him indicating harmful behavior.”

- D7LO - “Hayden has coached me for about half a year now. At the start of him coaching me and the team, the majority of the team was not 18+ and never once did he ever say anything sexual towards them or me. Additionally he’s never joked or said anything harmful about trans people nor do I think he ever would.”

- Cosmo-”For all the time I have been friends with Hayden he has never brought up hateful comments or hinted of any unnecessary actions towards people in the trans community and has not threatened me or any other minors in any way. I strongly believe that Hayden is innocent and has not committed any of the alleged allegations.”

- Zapi-”When Hayden was accused of being transphobic, my friend sent me the information in a DM. I supported the people criticizing him without speaking to him or reading his statement. I didn't have a positive opinion of him based on what I had seen of him and the information that was available to me at that time. After some time passed, I had the opportunity to spend some time with Hayden. Over the course of the past year, I've had interactions with him, and spent a good amount of time with him. As both a player and a person, I believe in forgiveness and redemption when someone genuinely takes responsibility and learns from their mistakes. That's what matters most to me. I only hope people can respect that this is my own experience and the conclusion I came to after taking the time to hear another side and interact with Hayden myself.”

- Woke-”I've been friends with Hayden throughout the recent months and these allegations do not align with who he is. In my experience, he has shown a great amount of respect and support for me and other friends.”

- Doormat - “I’ve been very close friends with Hayden for about a year now. Throughout this time, he has never once made any jokes about sexual harassment or transphobia. I was not involved with the community at all until a year ago, and I tried my best to mostly stay under the radar regarding any drama or anything, but upon meeting Hayden, I had no choice but to be dragged in. I was filled in by multiple different people on both sides of the story, so I witnessed both sides of this situation. I’ve concluded that all these allegations are simply BS rumors that unfortunately just built up with people hearing about it. In my time with Hayden, I’ve observed that he’s been nothing but respectful and kind to everyone he’s interacted with, which includes multiple trans people in this community. As a close friend, I’ve sometimes had conversations with him about these allegations when they would come up again randomly, and he’s mentioned several times that he has always supported trans rights and was frustrated these allegations will never go away.I see these things as clear proof and clearance of transphobia allegations. As for the sexual harassment, this just got brought up for no reason. Since people clearly believed the transphobia allegations, the statement brought up something completely unproven and people still believed it without any evidence or listening to the other side of the story. As a minor myself, I firstly had to “be careful” being teammates and such a close peer with Hayden because of these allegations. As someone who has strongly considered both perspectives of these allegations, I’ve seen that Hayden is completely innocent and has been nothing but a positive experience, and I urge all critics to reconsider their thoughts of him.”

- Inko - ”I have been friends with Hayden for a long time now, and he has been a very good friend to me and other people around him. I’ve never heard him say anything disrespectful or shameful the whole time I’ve known him. Hayden is a very chill and nice friend that is very passionate about the game and I hope he can be welcomed back into the community.”

- Squinky - “Hayden has been my close friend for over a year. I am well-aware of details surrounding the allegations against him. Hayden obviously isn’t perfect, but I fully believe he has good intentions. Hayden has not demonstrated hatred towards anyone based on their gender, sexuality, age, or race. I believe harassment towards Hayden is hypocritical, because Hayden has not given reason for anyone to believe he is transphobic, racist, or sexually inappropriate around minors. He has not harassed anyone, and I believe he deserves no harassment. The original allegations against Hayden derive from assumptions/extrapolations of incomplete evidence, the lack of consideration of evidence against his allegations, and straight up fabricated stories to try and remove Hayden from the scene entirely. Please do not follow that infamous mob mentality, and be open-minded about this situation. If you look at Hayden’s evidence and reasoning very critically, I ask you to do the same with the evidence and reasoning against Hayden. It is only fair, and I’ve concluded that Hayden has no reason to receive the harassment that has come towards him and the people that associate with him.”

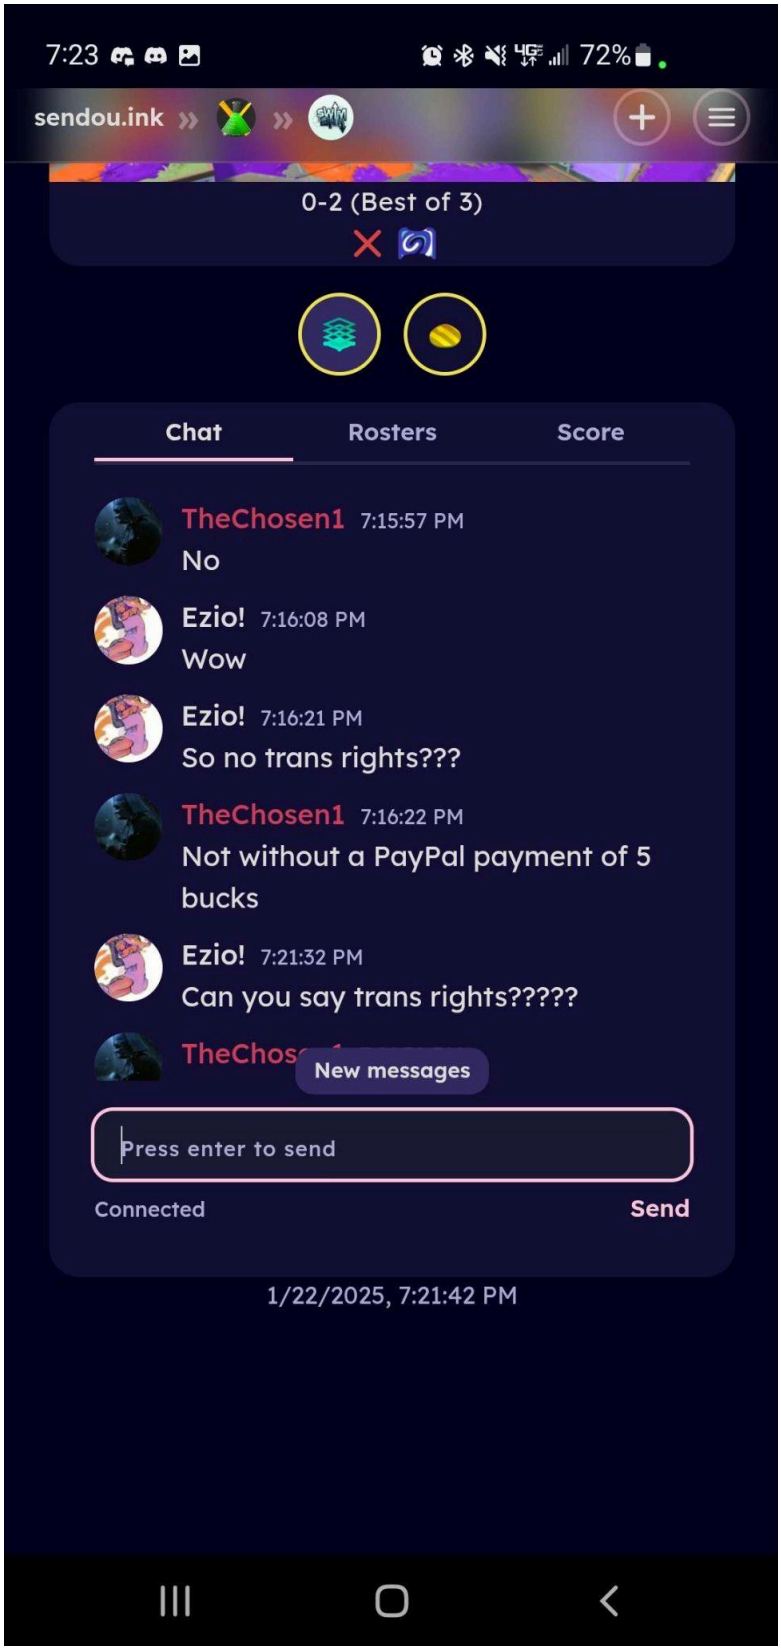

- JazzMoon - “Hayden has been my team’s coach for a while now, and he has not made any inappropriate remarks while coaching me/my team. Additionally, from what I have seen, he has not done/said anything that has made us uncomfortable when we’re just hanging out or making conversation. He is someone my team trusts to guide us in the right direction. Please look into this situation to make your own verdict- but from getting to know Hayden, I do not believe he would do/say anything wildly inappropriate to me, or my teammates, whether it’s about sex, gender, or discrimination.”

Like I said, I knew I was very disliked as is. That being said, a part of why I was as stubborn as I was about some issues is because they were bullshit. I would have liked to talk to you about them, but you always just took the side that would loose you the least amount of friends. It didn't feel like you ever took my perspective on anything. For instance, I wanted to get +2 because it was something that I personally would be proud of. That's it. It was for me, and me alone. But once people saw that, they found ways to bring me down, say I didn't deserve it, and say that I was stupid for trying. The whole reason I did it was to challenge myself, and I didn't like other people trying to take away my achievements. If you had heard me out, and listened to me, then I think you would agree. The thing with [redacted] is just funny. Like I miss gender them way less than anyone else in the entire server, but you never see anyone else get called out for it. I put my political beliefs and personal greviences aside because they were my friend and I wanted to respect them to the best of my ability. But nobody ever talks about that.

(I forgot I have 2 accounts)
I think your memory might need some help lol. I did joke about the fact that 18 is still a minor for some reason, but it never came anywhere near this.
I don't really feel much need to defend myself anymore, but this is too far.

The fact that you feel the need to peddle these lies with nothing to back them up is really sad. With all the weird comments you've made to me, and the fact that it had been around 7 months since we had been in vc before you made this claim is pretty telling.
Leave me alone.

You can keep denying it, the truth does exist and it isn't what you say.

Most people already know your a bad person, but people should know the fucked up person you are. You don't deserve a place in the community with everything you've done, which is much more than what I said.
