INTROIT ET KYRIE

Requiem aeternam
Grant liberation to those who suffer the injustice and violence of unfair systems, harsh labor and poverty. We hear their cries. Let the light of truth free them from oppression.

Te decet hymnus, Deus in Zion
We are creating renewed societies where fairness and peace flourish; where those who have suffered oppression can live with universal dignity rooted in equal justice.

Exaudi orationem meam
We listen above all to cries of the suffering. We seek their liberation from injustice, their dignity, and the restoration of shared humanity on earth. We hear their voices.

Kyrie eleison
Mercy is freeing the captive, restoring the broken, and seeking justice among those on earth. Mercy is the foundation of renewal, and the energy of our acts of conscience and courage.

OFFERTOIRE

O Domine
We stand beside the marginalized freed from oppression by the powerful and greedy. Let the living and departed be remembered as we build systems rooted in equal justice.

Hostias et preces tibi, Domine
We offer solidarity to those suffering injustice as we remember those who struggled and died for liberty. We join the living now who wake daily to the work of liberation.

SANCTUS
Earth fills with glory as we seek fairness and justice for all. It is a sacred, holy act to walk among the poor and marginalized and to seek their dignity.

PIE JESU
May merciful relief be granted to those suffering unfair systems, harsh labor, and poverty. May histories of oppressed people never be forgotten. Every story of suffering is worthy of remembrance.

AGNUS DEI
Hear our plea and join us to end suffering from exploitation. May a renewed world shine healing light upon those injured by injustice and grant dignity to all humanity.

LIBERA ME

Libera me, Domine
Let the brutality of injustice be visible. Deliver us to a new world order where the complicit hear the trembling voice of conscience. On this day of judgment, may mercy and reconciliation guide us.

Tremens factus sum ego
We tremble with anticipation as truth-telling and the light of liberation illuminate injustice. The powerful see the suffering caused by exploitation and we prepare the world for transformation and justice.

Dies illa, dies irae
This judgment day reveals anguish and misery among the marginalized. This day is great and bitter as we see their suffering. We accept the bitterness as we move toward deliverance and justice.

Requiem aeternam
As the oppressed leave the shadows of injustice and are illuminated, we grant them rest from endless labor and struggle. We grant them the recognition and human dignity they have been long denied.

IN PARADISUM
We enter a world born anew, built on devotion to equal justice. We hear the voices of martyrs to freedom and living voices who continue the work of renewal and rebirth on earth.

Chorus angelorum
This chorus of voices sings “all are welcome” to this paradise. Gentle hands guide us to this heaven on earth where all people feel safe, free from pain, valued and loved.
