• COMBATIVE POSITIVE TRAITS:

- INDOMITABLE WILL: A spirit that is unrelenting, unwilling to admit surrender even in the most dire of straits. A complete glutton to both dish out and be dealt punishment, convinced entirely it's the only thing that makes him feel well and truly alive. He has been dubbed unbreakable, damn near unkillable, having carried through matches while severely bleeding, several injuries, stabbed by a knife, and even struck by lightning. Additionally, he has only twice lost matches via submission, neither of which were by referee stoppage, establishing such losses are a rarity.
- MASTERMIND: A true student of the game and someone who has devoted their life to it, has become somewhat of a wrestling genius. He has not only sat beneath the learning tree of several elites of the industry, but has adapted his knowledge with intimate understanding of the human anatomy to have lethal efficiency in his technical wrestling prowess -- hence the nickname of the Technical Assassin.
- STAMINA MONSTER: While Finn somewhat middles out in all departments in terms of strength and dexterity, you'll be hard-pressed to find someone with his level of constitution, having several matches under his belt going close to -- if not beyond -- the one hour mark. His longest to date being actively participating in the 2019 Clash of the Titans match where he competed for over two hours from the #1 entrance.

• COMBATIVE NEGATIVE TRAITS:

- RECKLESS SELF-ENDANGERMENT: Either due to stubborn pride or being such a glutton for punishment, he is often willing to put himself through a tremendous amount of pain to achieve victory. This has occasionally led him to carry several injuries simply out of the inability to accept the idea of losing. He is equally incapable of turning down a fight, regardless of his outlook on the fight. If that pen is put to paper and his name is on it, he's seeing it through to the bitter end, regardless of how tapped together he might be. On multiple occasions, Finn has taken big risks in an attempt to deal great damage to his opposition. Be it as simple as a Suicide Dive, to a skull-cracking Headbutt, or even to risking further damage to an already injured area of his own body, he rolls the dice and more often than not comes up snake eyes in the face of damage.
- STAND ALONE SYNDROME: While he may lead a school of ambitious competitors willing to learn under his guidance, he has also led a long career of having even the most dear of friendships end with a knife in his back. Due to this, he often becomes begrudging of improvised partnerships, only able to maintain trust in an elite few. This will often lead to an inability to get on the same page, as well as a deep-seated mistrust in those he teams with.
- ABIDE BY THE PRIDE: Throughout his wrestling career, he has not once resorted to any cheap or illegal tactics during matches, especially when his opposition are not of the same mindset. This has led to several instances where he probably could have had a match won, but allowed himself to be uncompromised in trying to win decisively, often ignoring there being no honor among thieves.
- RAGE BLIND: Hard to believe the once happy-go-lucky, happy to be here young man that came over from across the pond would grow into someone that will occasionally cross the line of justifiable violence.
