How Women's Hormones Work

Step 1: Your brain produces Growth Hormone (HGH)

Step 2: The liver converts it into Growth Factors – the real drivers of performance

Step 3: Growth Factors help support the body's natural systems for energy, recovery, and physical performance.

What no one tells you about menopause...

Women lose ~15% of their natural growth hormone per decade after turning 30. (source)

This essential hormone supports collagen production, energy, and overall vitality.

The good news? Your body isn't broken after menopause.

It just needs the right support to function like it once did.

The once-a-day solution...

You don't need more supplements. You need one that helps your body do what it once did.

BioPro+ doesn't just relieve symptoms. It supports natural hormone balance during menopause, without synthetic hormones.*
