WritingEssayEast.com Review WritingEssayEast.com Review The writer missed the deadline by 6 hours, for a very simple paper. I expected the content in 10 days – that's a lot of time for a 3-page essay. That wasn't the worst thing about the experience. This was one of the worst papers I've ever received from a writing service. I checked it through

Review Criteria

In order to earn a high rating from us, there are certain criteria that all essay writing service reviews must meet. These are:

Producing quality academic writing that students can rely on.

Delivering products on time as promised.

Offering competitive prices and discounts.

Contributing to the overall academic good through relevant content and other resources for students.

A safe and easy to navigate the order placing process.

Attention to personal and financial data security.

Attentive and professional customer service.

Offering a variety of writing products and services.

Read this review to determine whether or not Writing Essay East meets our criteria.

Factor 1: Types of Writing Services Offered

A quick review of the site indicates that this company is focused on academic writing and business writing. They offer services to undergraduate students who are presumably students in their first two years of university, bachelor, and professional. The array of writing offered is pretty wide-ranging. Most students should be able to order the writing they need here. Here are some of the available offerings:

The company also offers admissions services including admissions essays, personal statements, and resumes. Homework assignment help is available across multiple academic disciplines. Finally, they offer thesis and dissertation assistance.

Business writing is also available. These services include copywriting, proposals, brochures, and business letters.

This review of writingessayeast.com focuses on academic services only.

Factor 2: Trust and Reliability

Students who have previously ordered services from this writing company were our prime source of information on this issue. In addition to this, we explored the Writing Essay East website, read their policies, and conducted other independent research.

There are some trust issues here. Most students did indicate that they eventually received a paper for the money they paid. However, many also felt misled in terms of deadlines and guarantees. In addition to this, the poor quality website lends to a sketchy, untrustworthy feel. Some of the students we encountered mentioned feeling uncomfortable going through the ordering process. That said, we are not aware of any form of fraud or loss of data. Just an overall poor impression.

Because of some of the types of writing offered here (e.g. capstone projects), it is clear that this company does cater to a European audience. As part of our review process, we took the time to attempt to review the privacy and security policies to see if the company could be trusted to be GDPR compliant. Unfortunately, we were unable to locate these policies on the company website. As such, we are unable to state that this is a secure website in terms of GDPR standards or the 'right to be forgotten', or if students can request to have their information deleted or modified. These policies may exist somewhere, but we were unable to locate them.

Factor 3: Level of Quality

We found the following text on the WritingEssayEast.com website

"Not every resource work in good faith. It's the Internet. Also, it was not forbidden and banal fraud scam, which takes place in the network. But what can we do? What can we do for you?" For the uninitiated, this 'word salad' is the result of one business stealing web content from another, then running that content through a spinner or translator in order to attempt to produce web content that appears to be original. As you can see, the result is nonsensical, broken English. This is a key indicator that a site is likely fraud or scam. If nothing else, it indicates that a company cannot find someone to write its own website properly. In that case, why would any student trust them to write an academic paper?

We reviewed a paper that was provided to us by a student. Unfortunately, our suspicions were correct. While the paper was factually accurate, and appeared to be written by someone who appeared to understand the subject matter, it was clear the writer had exceptionally poor writing skills.

Factor 4: Pricing and Payment

Pricing here is stunningly low. It starts at 6 dollars per page for undergraduate writing and goes up to 10 dollars per page for doctorate-level writing. To put that into perspective, most sites, even the less expensive ones will charge two to three times this.

Unfortunately, many students on a budget will see these low prices as a positive. In reality, it is another indicator of low quality or a potential scam. This is because no qualified academic writer will work for these rates. This means the papers made available to students will either be very poorly written, or worse they'll be plagiarized. While we did not find evidence of plagiarism, the quality was very definitely a concern.

There was a mention on the site's order form that a discount code could be entered. However, we did not complete the order process. We were also unable to locate coupon codes or discount vouchers on or off the company site.

Factor 5: Additional Important Considerations

There is not much else here to address. The site does offer a blog. Unfortunately, this also contains spun or machine-translated content. The result is barely readable posts that aren't likely to be useful to most students.

Concluding Comments

There are far too many issues here for us to endorse WritingEssayEast.com. While we don't believe any direct fraud or scams are occurring here, quality is a real problem. This is evidenced by the essay we reviewed, the poor design and copy on the website, and suspiciously low prices.

Services Review

WritingEssayEast.com Review WritingEssayEast.com Review Low prices are expected when the competition is so high. But for PhD and MA writers, are these prices reasonable? Will the best writers work for scraps? The testimonials don't mention any hidden costs, so the writers of this service really earn little.
