

This document describes trails in the Northwest Las Vegas valley. This includes La Madre Wilderness and the BLM land that is part of Red Rock La Madre Foothills.

Here is a link to the map above in the Wilderness Connect mapping system.

Here is a link to the BLM La Madre Foothills project. Use the "documents" link at the left to find the detailed documents relating to this project. This project has determined how the land can be used, including motorized and biking activities by trail. The BLM has chosen "Alternative B" shown on the map below.

Numerous existing 2-track trails have been designated for closure (shown in grey). The 2-track knows as "Burro Road" in TrailFolks actually passes through both BLM land, and between a narrow corridor in the La Madre Wilderness <https://www.trailforks.com/trails/burro-road/> shown in purple below.

Others have called this same 2-track "Bad Words". This 2-track connects Little Red Rock to Harris Springs Canyon and Kyle Canyon. Traveling from Little Red Rock you will encounter 2 challenging hill climbs shown by the blue arrows below.

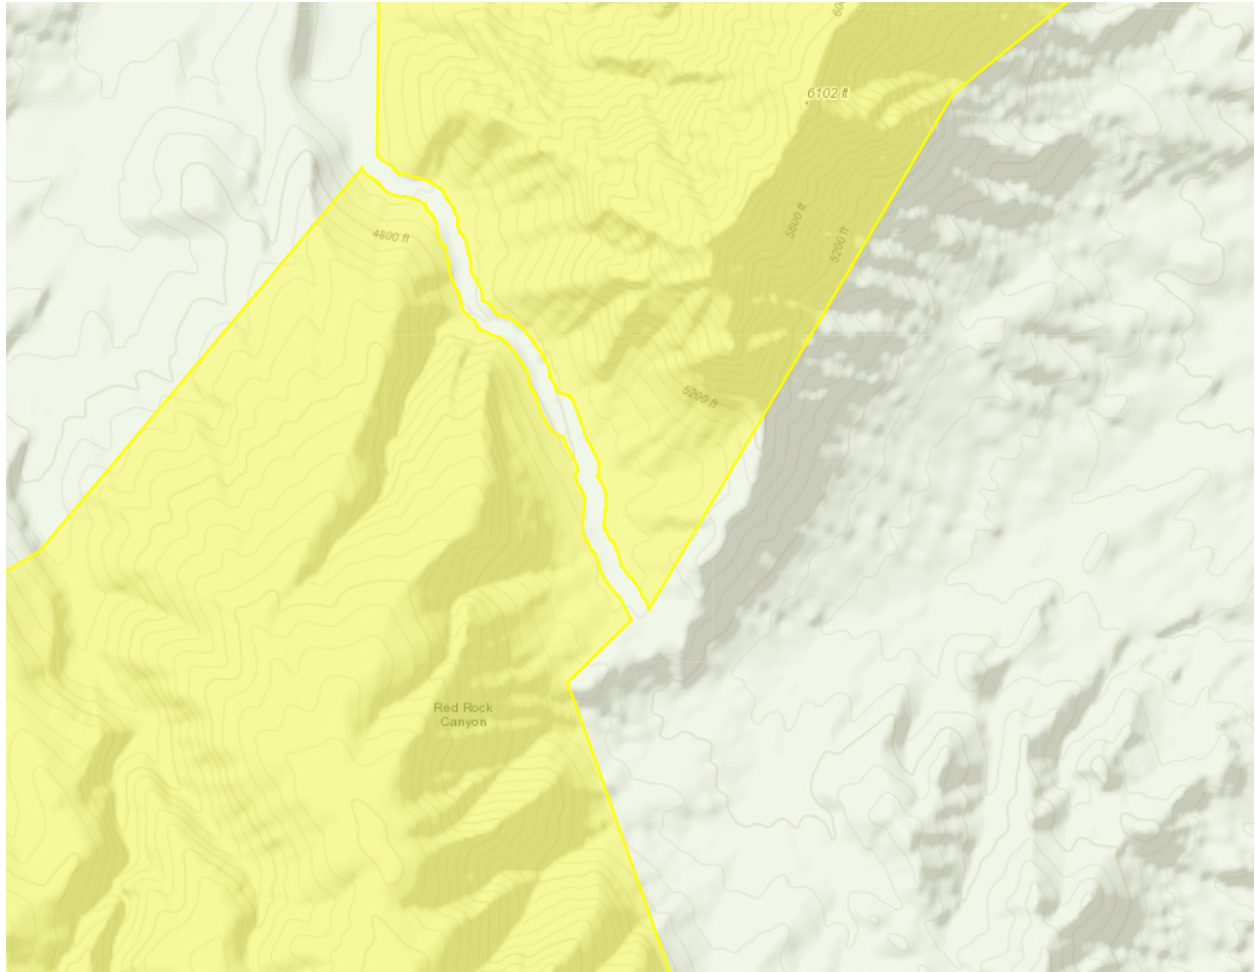

Here is a shot of the first hill (lower blue arrow above, photo below).

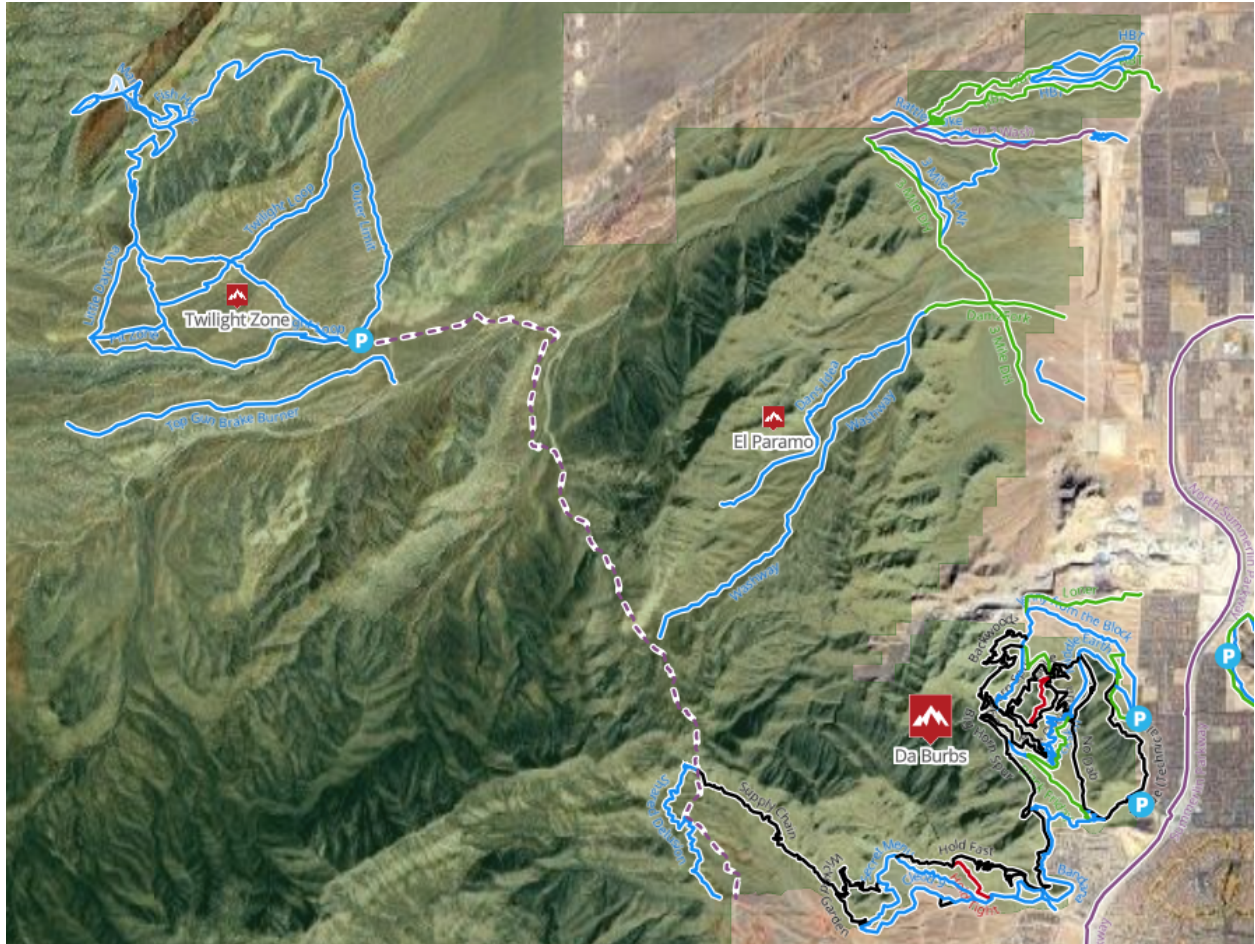

Below is the second hill which borders on the BLM property on the West side.

After climbing that hill in the background (photo above), there is a narrow wash that is a corridor between La Madre wilderness that is not designated wilderness (image below).

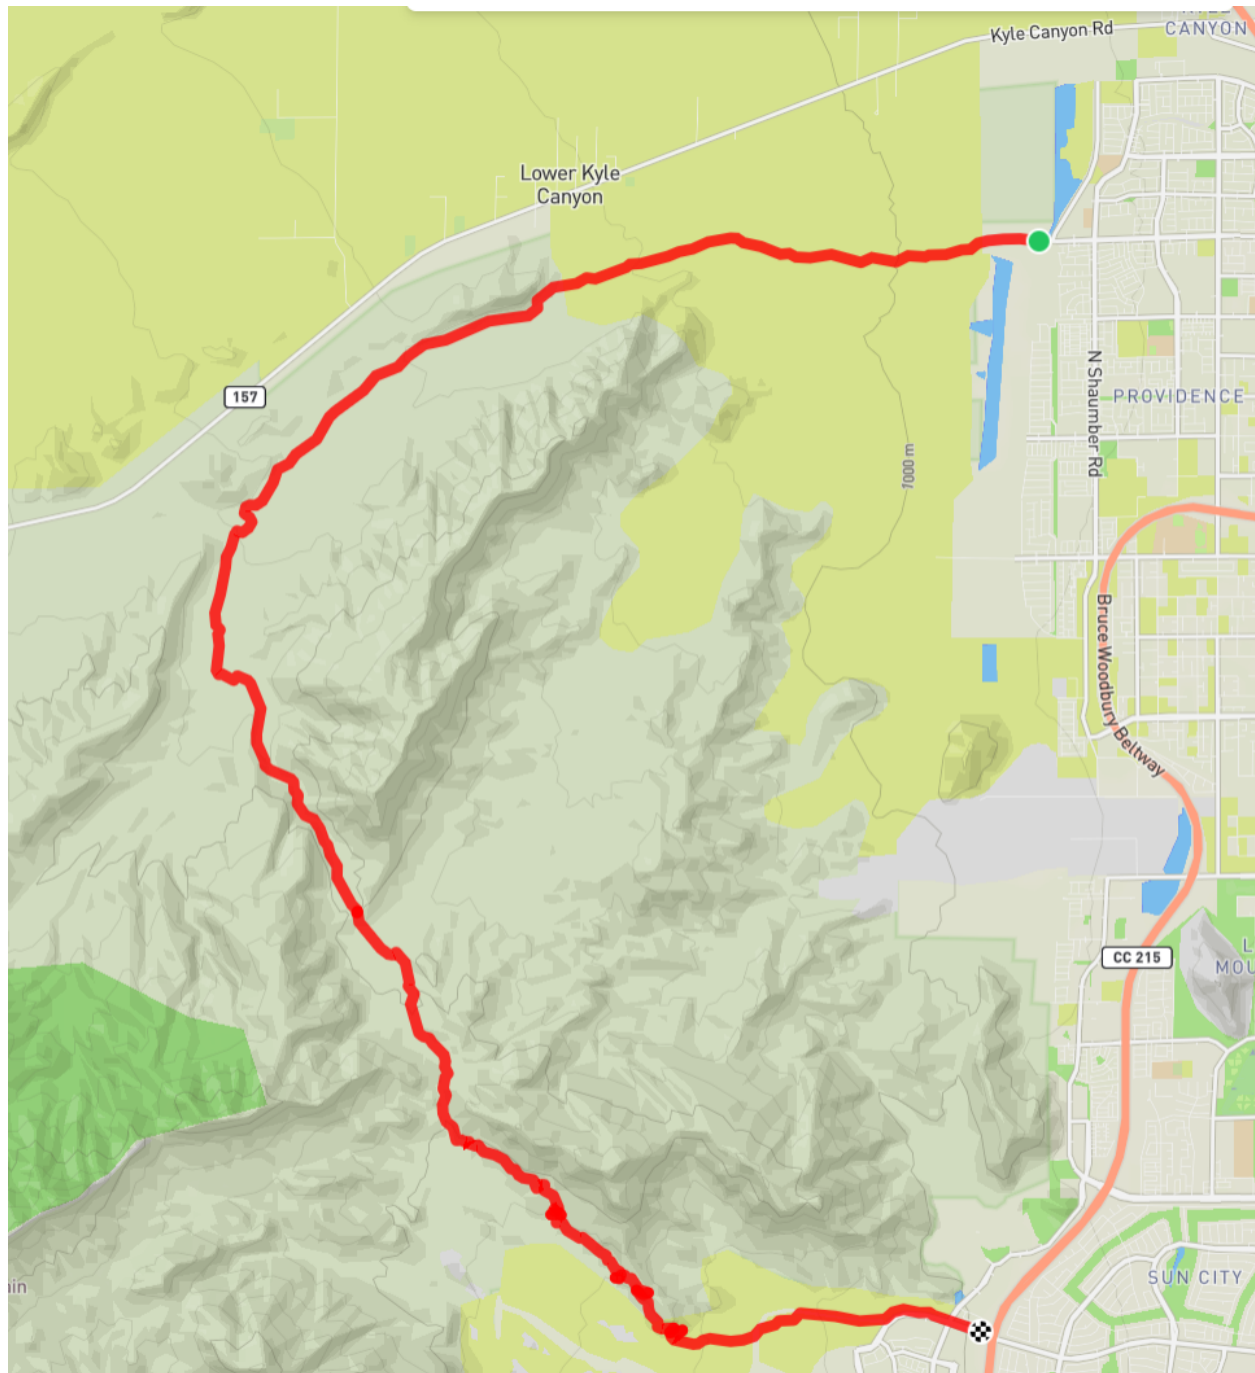

You can also connect between these 2 climbs by taking the trail Trailforks calls "Washaway":
<https://www.trailforks.com/trails/washaway/> which can be accessed from the West end of Centennial or Tropical.

OnX calls the route from the West end of Tropical to Little Red Rock "La Madre Mountain Pass":
<https://webmap.onxmaps.com/offroad/map/query/36.248741,-115.398308,12.68/overview?id=3ae6d4f0-ec7e-5c1e-874e-6b43431ecd37>

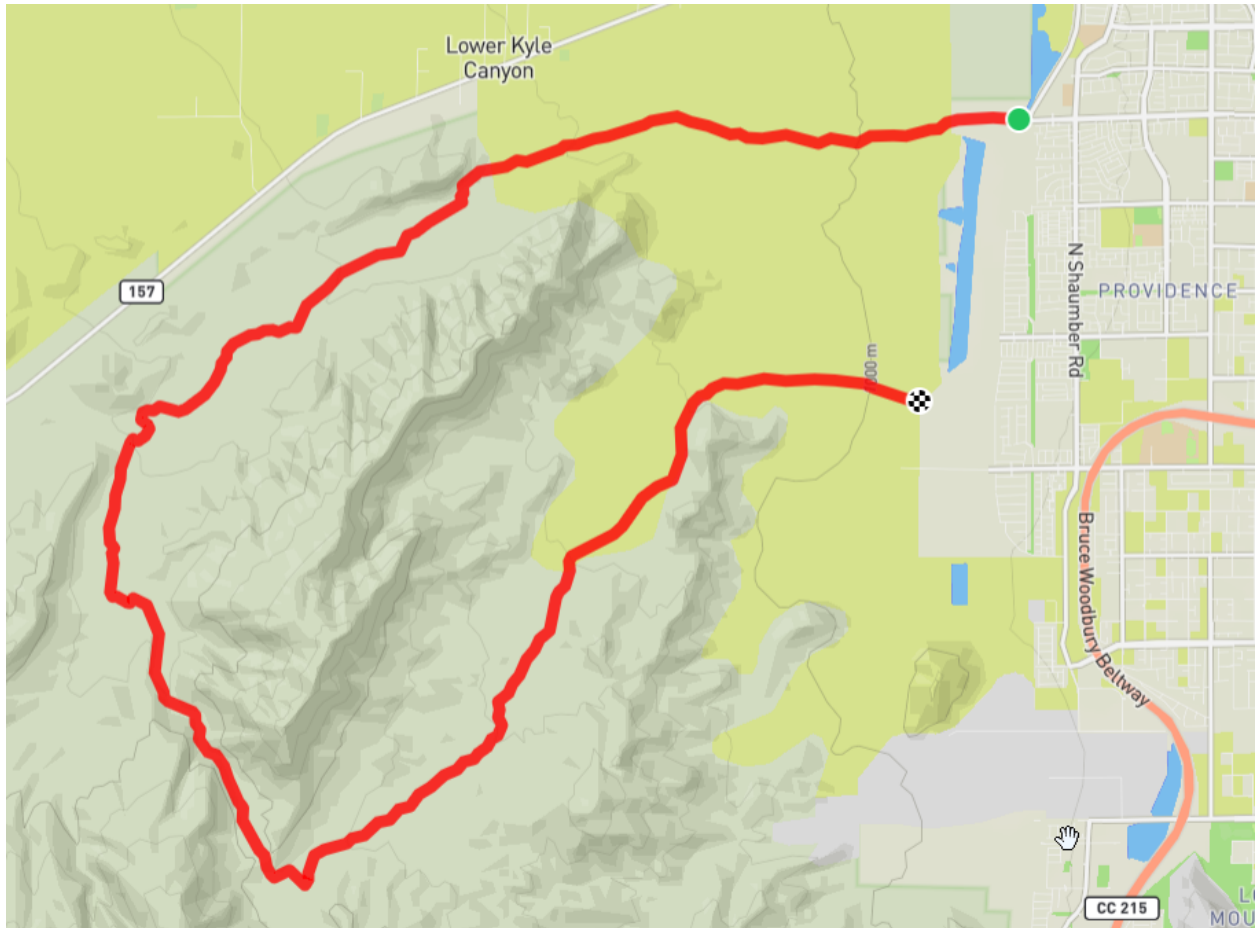

I have ridden several routes through this area. Here is one example 16 mile route up Kyle Canyon, through Burro Road to Little Red Rock.

Here is the GPX file:

<https://drive.google.com/file/d/1WC6AP2bAZwo1of2FnU-jgFCSorH8-40Q/view?usp=sharing>

I rode this on an eMTB.

Here is a GPX going up Kyle Canyon and down the central valley (image above):
<https://drive.google.com/file/d/1UCmzd0fpf4sdBMBmkTalYoPb4UfnggpG/view?usp=sharing> 15 miles. I rode this on an eMTB.

Here is a YouTube playlist of videos from this route:
<https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLZ4ONVypz2fYbWQQGuH5obVuBiGs9SVVR>