Feedback (Why accepted, why rejected?):

The project presents a well-structured roadmap. All four phases are laid down systematically and with good measures of project proposals in the ASI Payment Gateway. These milestones show that there is a degree of appreciation of the relative technical detail and market requirement. Nevertheless, the phased layout enables important categories of features, like communication between chains, security mechanisms, or a system of governing the platform, to be implemented gradually.

The project is still in its developmental phase and therefore future success will depend on evaluations, feedback, and testing. The primary focus on security, the growth of the platform's capacity, and user-friendliness make the ASI Payment Gateway ready to offer a competitive and innovative solution in the sphere of cryptocurrencies and payments based on them.
