Questions to Ask a Book Coach Before Hiring

Experience

- What genres do you specialize in, and do you have experience with projects similar to mine?
- How long have you been a book coach, and what is your background in the writing industry?
- Can you share examples of success stories or testimonials from authors you've worked with?

Process

- What is your process for working with clients during the revision stage?
- How do you provide feedback, and what kind of communication can I expect?
- Do you offer any additional support, like brainstorming sessions or follow-up consultations?

Expectations

- What is your approach to helping writers stay accountable and meet deadlines?
- How do you tailor your advice to suit the unique needs of each client?

Collaboration

- What happens if we disagree on certain aspects of the manuscript?
- How do you balance respecting the author's vision with providing honest feedback?

Pricing and Logistics

- What are your rates, and what's included in your coaching packages?
- What is your availability, and how long do you typically work with a client on a project?
