

So you know that in parties there are tables for every little thing. Like the cake table, the candy table, the sweets table, the food table. Well I enjoy doing the sweets table. I love making what's on the sweets table. I do chocolate covered strawberries, chocolate covered krispies, chocolate covered pretzels. Cake pops, cupcakes, sugar cookies. Since I enjoy baking I do it without a problem. I want to get better at it because people contacted me and said they wanted to book me for their weddings and 21st birthday. I really love baking too, I'm always making desserts at home. Cakes, pies, anything really. Every night we eat dessert because of me.

Another thing I'm good at is styling other people or myself. I like looking nice and cute. If I don't match, I don't feel right. I like the fact that I could rock both clothes, boy clothes and girl clothes. If I want to be dressed like Michelle I would and if I wanted to dress like Michael (that's the name I've given myself for the days I look like a little boy) I would too. I like the fact that all my family members come to me for a thumbs up. They ask me "do i match" ? And if they don't, I would go in their closet looking for something, and find a good purse. Cook up a good outfit and give it to them. I have cousins sending me pictures before they buy clothes asking for an approval " does this look cute" and I usually say yes but what shoes are you going to wear with it. I always like to think ahead.

Lastly, I think I'm good at being a good mom to my 4 kids. I love my dogs so so much!
