

From:

Subject: More Opportunities for Paid, Flexible, Real-World Experience

Dear [STUDENT],

[PARTNER] is excited to highlight an exciting program that makes it even easier for you to engage in Micro-Internships! If you're not already familiar, Micro-Internships are short-term, professional, paid work experience made available through Parker Dewey. The majority of these projects are remote, which means even students without transportation or a lot of time in their schedules can engage!

Through this program, there are now Micro-Internships being posted that are only available to a limited pool of students, and in some cases, may be exclusively available to students from [PARTNER]. To access these opportunities, do the following:

- Log in to your Parker Dewey account or create one if you're new to the platform.
- Make sure your profile and education information is up-to-date so you can see all the opportunities available to you.
- Apply! You'll find the projects related to this program under the 'Featured' header. While you're encouraged to apply for any open projects you find interesting, you have less competition for the projects in this section.

Best of luck as you apply for these exclusive opportunities to gain flexible, paid, professional, experience!

Sincerely,

[Sending Department Info]