

How To Reheat Tater Tots

Best Ways To Warm Up Tater Tots

In Toaster Oven

1. Preheat the toaster oven until it gets to 400°F. Choose the middle position of the oven as the position for your tater tots.
2. Place the potato puffs in one layer on the baking dish.
3. Get your tater tots in the oven. Use a spatula to flip them over to ensure they warm up evenly.
4. Remove them from the oven and enjoy your meal.

In Microwave Oven

One minute is enough for tater tots to get warmed up in the microwave. That means you should reheat each side for 30 seconds.

If you leave them in the microwave for too long, they will come out soggy and mushy and you wouldn't want to eat them.

In Oven

1. Preheat your oven up to 350°F.
2. Get an oven-friendly plate and put your tater tots in it.
3. Use aluminum foil to cover the plate.
4. Get the dish in the oven and give the tater tots around 15 to 25 minutes to get hot. It is vital to frequently check on them because they can get burnt or overheated depending on how hot your oven gets.
5. Remove the tater tots from the oven and enjoy your meal.

In Pan or Deep Fryer

1. Put the pan on the flame
2. Pour a little oil or non-stick spray.
3. Let the pan heat up.
4. Put the tater tots in the pan.
5. Give them one minute to warm up and then turn them over to allow the other side to also heat up.
6. Remove them from the pan or skillet and toss them on paper towels to soak up the extra oil.
7. Check your tater tots to ensure the inside part is hot and the exterior is crispy.
