Team: SOLR (Solar)

Personality: Leader of Team SOLR, Sol Silver is an eccentric enigma in his own right.

Non-sociable, reclusive and awkward, he has difficulty functioning in society (just like the rest of SOLR). While unable to hold a decent conversation for more the 5 minutes, Sol is a talented combatant and leader. He prefers strategy in combat combined with overwhelming force, preferring to target an enemy's weakness and then hitting it as hard as possible....again...and again...and again. While normally clear headed and focused, his temperament can get the better of him, resulting in...complications. Sol does have the best intentions at heart and cares deeply for his team. Overall, Sol's personality is that of an anti-hero who seeks to do good, despite his shortcomings and attitude.

Weapon: Sol wields Fiona, an arming sword [2] forged from Tungsten that splits through the center, hinging at the base of the grip, to form a longbow [3], with the two halves of the blade curling back. Sol also carries Midnight, a self propelled grappling device [4] that is used primarily for mobility rather than direct combat. He also wears bracers [5] that increase the amount of pressure Sol can withstand, though his strength is unchanged. He carries Phantasm, an incredibly durable shield with a black background and golden paw emblem in the center, designed like the mark on his left hand. It is meant to to throw off opponents by reflecting light towards them. Lastly, he uses Cielo, a boomerang [6] enhanced with wind dust. Used to distract enemies by kicking up wind storms or to stun targets by slamming into them. Has a device built into it that, when activated, immediately returns to Sol.

Armor Design: Sol primarily wears a green tunic [7], though lacking the skirt as well as the hat. The torso is a bit bulkier and wears a black undershirt instead of a white one. He also wears tan pants and brown Steel toed boots. He wears a plain blue scarf around his neck that hangs down in the back [8].

Semblance: Eclipse

Behind the Scenes: Sol is based off of the various Links from The Legend of Zelda game series, though primarily the Hero of Twilight.
