

New Year's Training Resolutions According to 13 Experts (NASDAQ, TrainingIndustry, TD.org, Elliot Masie & More)

Hi NAME,

If you're starting to feel the pressure of driving bigger and better results in 2019, you're not alone. Training leaders across the world are feeling the same way, as professional development is increasingly becoming a differentiator in employer branding, and customer success – a differentiator in customers' brand loyalty.

And this year it can feel even more frightening, as it's the last year before a whole new decade begins, with a whole new set of expectations from the c-suite.

To make things easier on you, we reached out to some of the biggest names in corporate technology and specifically, in the training world, and asked for their advice.

In our latest free ebook, you'll discover:

- 1) The New Year's resolution these experts and companies recommend YOU make in 2019 and...
- 2) Just as importantly, you'll discover how these resolutions have helped THEM drive better results in corporate tech training.

The new year doesn't have to feel overwhelming.

[Click here to get the ebook, so you can learn what really works, decrease your learning curve, and differentiate your training department in 2019 for a whole new decade of success \[link to landing page\].](#)

To your success,