NSMBA policy on Directors who are employees

At the time of writing, the BC Societies Act stipulates that “a majority of the directors of a society must not receive or be entitled to receive remuneration from the society under contracts of employment or contracts for services, other than remuneration for being a director.”

As a volunteer organization, Directors are not remunerated for their duties on the board. However, directors may be employed by the organization in addition to their board duties, provided:

- The “employee Director” is treated impartially with other candidates during the hiring process.
- The number of Directors employed by the organization does not exceed more than half of the board.
- Employee Directors are not eligible to hold the offices of President, Vice President or Treasurer.

- Employee Directors are not authorized to have signing authority on the NSMBA chequing account.
- The employment does not preclude the Director from performing board activities as a priority.
- The employed Directors do not participate in board decisions relating to their role, in order to avoid conflict of interest.
- The employed Directors may be asked to step out of board discussions relating to general HR practices, in order to avoid conflict of interest.
