

Author Interview With Theresa Sederholt by Itsy Bitsy Book Bits

For those new to your work, please tell us a bit about yourself, your books and your genre/s

- I'm a graduate of Campbell University with a BA in Criminal Justice. My concentration was digging into the mind of serial killers. I'm married to a professional chef for 41 years. I have one son who is a research chemist for new drugs and makes wine on the side. I love dogs, Nutella and coffee. I write romantic suspense. My books have alternating POV's and move very quickly. I try to show that no one is perfect. A portion of all my books goes to different charities.

What lessons have you learned as a writer?

- You can put anything on paper, however, when you put your heart into it, the readers notice.

If you won the lottery what would you do with the money?

- After the shock is gone, I would set up a no kill animal shelter in the Blue Ridge Mountains. After that I would give back to the community. Maybe open out reach centers for families who need it. Give to my local church. I could go on for ever.

In your everyday life how do you give back to the world?

- I give money to different charities with some of the proceeds from my books.

If your life was a song what song would it be and why?

- My Way. I don't play follow the leader. I never have. I forge a path that will let me leave my mark on the people who follow me. "We are all stories in the end, make it a good one." Dr. Who.

Name two authors you wish more people knew about

- The Lost Wife by Alyson Richman was amazing and made me fall in love with her work.

What are some of your hobbies?

- I like to work in my garden. Training my 100 pound puppy is always fun.

When reading reviews, what is something you love to see written?

- How my words made them feel.

What are you currently working on?

- The next Fitz book. A mafia Christmas book and a second chance at love book.

What books are currently in your to-read list?

- Something About Aimee (Girls from the Street Book 1) by S.E. Smith (Kindle Edition)

What is your favorite book made into a movie/tv show?

- The Client.

What is something people would be surprised to know about you?

- I wanted to be President of The United States

What is the hardest part of the writing process?

- Getting out of my head. When I'm writing something that is disturbing it is sometimes hard to put it away.

How do you do research for your book?

- I'm very big on research. First I find out everything and anything about the topic. I have no problem looking outside the internet for answers. Once I went and interviewed a guy from the Coast Guard. After that I went to a biker bar. It's where ever the story is taking me.

You are settling in for a movie night, what are your go- to, must haves as a snack?

- M & M's

You are filling out this interview as part of a tour with Itsy Bitsy Book Bits. What made you choose Itsy Bitsy Book Bits?
