🤔 How Long Will These Operators Be In-Store?

The latest Frozen Abyss update officially launched for Call of Duty: Mobile back on January 14th, 2026. This update was promised for the new year which makes it a massive event for all Call of Duty players everywhere. As Activision promised, the update is meant to be the biggest in celebration of the newest year and what's to come. Need some more COD Points for those Lucky Draws and Mythic pulls? But how long will the Season last so you can get the new Mythic Operator Skins? Well, every Call of Duty: Mobile Season runs on an 8 week long cycle. This ensures that all players have plenty of time to complete every Battle Pass tier and Challenge Pass mission as they update. That includes all the latest collabs and Winter events going on right now. Based on that, the Frozen Abyss Season will likely run until early March of this year.

💎 How Do You Get Mythic Operator Skins?

Despite being labeled as the Call of Duty: Mobile store, it's more of the location of the gacha system in place. Inside the store, you can purchase other currencies required for weapon blueprints and cosmetics, including COD Points. COD Points are only earned through the premium version of the Battle Pass, special tournaments, and by playing certain seasonal events. However, the best way to get more is by topping up your account through the store itself or with us.

Besides buying extra currency, the Call of Duty: Mobile store is also the place to open Crates and play the Lucky Draw. This is essentially where the Call of Duty gacha banners are, but without the banners themselves. With every new season, there's brand new rotating Mythic weapons and Operators you can pull. This includes some reruns that are voted on by the playerbase to return. Depending on how lucky you are, you can pull for the Mythic items and Operators in just your first few draws!

There's some ways to make pulling crates and Lucky Draws in the store a little easier. As mentioned prior, you can earn extra COD Points through the premium Battle Pass. This is supposed to help make up for the purchase of the premium version as a whole, which can then go towards the gacha. Also, when you buy the premium tiers, you'll get a free set of 10 crates to pull!

Besides buying the premium Battle Pass or buying the COD Points outright as a top up, you should try to complete as much of the season's content as possible. By playing through all the events and Challenges, you'll gradually earn more COD Points as you go. By remaining patient and praying on good luck, you might be able to get the Mythic Operators without having to pay at all. However, there's still the chance that you might have to wait until the next rerun.

🔥 The New Mythic Operator Skin: Lazarus' Cosmic Wrath

The newest Operator Skin added to the Lucky Draw drops is one for Codename: Lazarus. His newest skin is called the Cosmic Wraith as part of the Galaxy Scourge collection. While the skin doesn't apply any gameplay advantages of course as a skin, it adds a ton of exclusive customizable features and even animations for it. These include being able to change the colors of the burning armor to viewing new drop-in animations and voice-lines.

Alongside the Cosmic Wraith Operator Skin is a new weapon which must be drawn separately. The new Legendary FAL Aether Fracture Weapon can be pulled as one of the newest weapon blueprints for Lazarus. The weapon is not only incredibly powerful and matches the hellfire vibes of the Lazarus' skin, but can have its colors customized as well.

✦✦ The Rerun Mythic Weapon: AK117 Grim Ending

As with any new Season update for Call of Duty: Mobile, a rerun has also made its way in the Lucky Draws and crates. For players that missed the Grim Ending version of the AK117, it will be available once again during the Frozen Abyss Season. This weapon rerun was voted on by several players to return again, so it was clearly a missed fan favorite among people. If you don't have it, now's the perfect time to start pulling crates for it!
