3 Hot Tips on Having Your Car Towed

No one likes to think about the possibility of having their car towed. It is usually something which is associated with a legal problem or if your car is not working properly. This is why whenever you hear someone say they had to get a tow, it has negative connotations. No matter what the reason you are having your car towed, there are a few pieces of advice you should follow to make sure that you are getting the best tow possible. While it may seem that a tow is a tow, they are in fact, quite different.

Not all tow companies are the same and not every truck has the ability to keep your car safe. When you are investing in having your car towed, it is important that you get exactly what you want and that you protect your car from being injured from the tow. This is possible when you follow a few pieces of advice. It is your car and you deserve to get what you are paying for when you hire a company to tow your car.

1. Use a Flat Bed - The first thing you should know when having your car towed is that the flat bed is the best kind of method for having your car towed. This is because the flat bed will keep your car off of the ground and will reduce the risk your car will be damaged while it is on its way to the repair shop or to the next destination. The tie downs on the flat bed will consist of a few points on the car which were designed just for this use. These are the same points which were used when the car was delivered to the dealership and they will help to insure that your car arrives safely at its destination.

2. Be There - One big mistake people make is to not be there when their car is being towed. While you might lead a busy life, it is important that you are there when you are having your car towed. This is because anything can happen when you are not there. The person doing the tow might do something which is completely against regulation. They might scrape the car on the pavement when they are loading the car. They may even try to use another tow method than what you prescribed. You will never know and you will have no recourse unless you are there.

3. Research the Company - Look for a tow company which has a history of towing cars correctly. This is important so that you can be assured that they will treat your car correctly. Simply take a look online or contact the better business bureau. This will help to make sure that there are no hidden charges and that they will treat your car properly while it is being picked up and delivered to the location that you have chosen for repairs or otherwise.
