

Comic Recs

Iron Man Vol. 1 #55 (First appearance. He's purple.)

Captain Marvel v1 #27 (cannot stress this one enough), #28-#33 (Plus a preview as to THE SADDEST THING EVER IF YOU READ THAT LAST PANEL AND THEN READ)

Death of Mar-Vell graphic novel.

Avengers #230-#261; #301, #305, #311, #314, #316-#318 - that covers his Avengers run. And he is so campy! I'll re-read them to figure out the must-reads.

INFINITY GAUNTLET. He's the narrator.

Silver Surfer: #18 or #19 ... #37 ... and some stuff right before Infinity Gauntlet that I don't remember. He's an adorable little shit. Oh! And Silver Surfer annual #5. You can tell that Ron Frenz starting out writing this character he's not really that fond of/hasn't quite grasped in SS Annual #4 (he's super-awful and OOC and yes a bit rapey in it), and by the next year rolls around (SSA #5) Frenz wrote him a bit more, got a hold on the character, and fell in love with him, as we all do. ;)

Quasar #59 is a must-read story, but his characterization isn't amazingly great. Or maybe it's just the awful art.

Avengers: Infinity (Written by Frenz so he's adorable in it)

Avengers: Celestial Quest #4 (a MUST)

Captain Marvel volume 4 ... uh ... around #15-18. Storyline is called "Crazy Like a Fox" (Awesome for Elysium too)

Rage of Ultron The lines Eros says at the end of the story is something the writer's THERAPIST told him.

The 2017 Thanos miniseries is an absolute must.

And you GOTTA read Cates' 2019 GotG Eros story. Just stick with it. It's worth it

If you need help finding them, let me know.
