

Windows 7/Vista: C:\Users\

Windows XP/2000: C:\Documents and Settings\

Linux (Most Distributions): ~/.mozilla/firefox/Profiles/<randomstring>/zotero

Zotero Standalone

OS X	/Users/<username>/Library/App
Windows 7/Vista	C:\Users\ <user name>\appdata\<="" td=""></user>
Windows XP/2000	C:\Documents and Settings\ <us< td=""></us<>
Linux (Most Distributions)	~/.zotero/Profiles/<randomstring>/zotero

Zotero - Choose User Profile

Zotero stores information about your settings, preferences, and other user items in your user profile.

Create Profile... [Empty Field]

Rename Profile...

Delete Profile...

Work offline

Use the selected profile without asking at startup

Start Zotero Exit

Library Contents

The most important file in the 'zotero' directory is the zotero.sqlite file, which contains the majority of your data: item metadata, notes, tags, etc. The directory also contains a 'storage' subdirectory, containing all of your file attachments, such as PDFs, web snapshots, audio files, or any other files you have imported (note that files that are linked are not copied into this subdirectory).

16:37 29/11/2014