

What Is Kane Brown's Net Worth

Kane has been working on his music since he was just a kid, and he hasn't forgotten where he came from. And now? Kane Brown is living out his dream. And if you want to listen to some new music and are looking for that next great country singer, Kane is worth searching for. And in this article, we will reveal his journey including his net worth!

Childhood Story

Kane Allen Brown was born on October 21, 1993, in a remote area of northwest Georgia and Chattanooga, Tennessee. had a difficult childhood because he was fostered by his single mother. His family regularly relocated from one location to another, and Kane was frequently homeless. They eventually made their home in Red Bank, Tennessee.

Kane attended many schools throughout his life. While attending Lakeview-Fort Oglethorpe High School in Georgia, he sang with his buddy Lauren Alaina, who went on to finish second on American Idol season 10.

He also grew up exposed to R&B and country music and initially intended to be a singer in the latter genre. Nonetheless, in the 11th grade, he won a competition by singing Chris Young's "Gettin' You Home," after which he shifted his focus to country music.

Journey To His Professional Career

In 2013, Kane Brown competed in both X-Factor and American Idol and was chosen for the latter competition. When the program's producer suggested putting him in a band, Kane decided to leave because he wanted to pursue a solo career.

Kane began releasing his versions of hit singles after leaving X-Factor. He quickly gained a sizable fan base in no time. His recorded videos featured covers of songs by Billy Currington, Brantley Gilbert, Alan Jackson, and Lee Brice, among others.

His rendition of George Strait's "Check Yes or No" got a lot of attention, propelling his online fame to new heights. Kane's videos amassed millions of views over time. Inspired by the reaction of fans, he shared a teaser of his original tune 'Used to Love You Sober,' which was originally made public on his page. It earned a million views in the first 3 hours of uploading and 11 million views in the following weeks.

Kane took the next step after turning into an online music star by launching his first EP on June 2015, entitled 'Closer'. The funds he obtained through the crowd-funding website 'Kickstarter' was used to create the six-song EP. It debuted at number 22 on the Top Country Albums chart and sold 3,200 sales in its first week of distribution. 'Don't Go City on Me,' the single, peaked at number 43 on the Country Digital Songs chart.

For him, 2016 was a very successful year. In March, he published his EP Chapter 1, and in December, he released his breakthrough full-length album. The album was a huge success and was certified platinum in the United States.

Revealing His Net Worth

With all the track releases and social media uploads, Kane Brown has a reported net worth of $6 million!

Charity Event

Kane Brown played at Fifth Third Arena on Friday, October 28 in a benefit performance for the McLendon Minority Leadership Initiative. The project is a global vocational rehabilitation program led by NCAA coaches that provides opportunities and professional experiences for minority candidates in education institutions and corporate America. It's the first concert at Fifth Third Arena since the renovations in 2018!

Fun Facts About Kane Brown

Pizza fan

Kane has simple tastes in food, and his personal fave is pizza, specifically pepperoni pizza. During a question and answer session with Nash Country Daily, the pop singer stated that he could eat pizza each day and will never get tired of it. Another reason why we adore Kane Brown!

He doesn't like being barefooted

Stars, peculiarities and all, are exactly like the rest of us! Kane absolutely hates walking barefoot, explaining that he will never walk on the ground without socks since it feels strange to him just touching the surface with his feet.

Kane revealed to his fans that he could play Guitar Hero with his feet when he was challenged if he had anything interesting to show to them. He got to the point where he was able to play practically anything on expert and then said, "You know what, I've never seen somebody play with their feet before," so he started playing with his feet.

His married life

Kane asked Katelyn his romantic intentions in 2017 and later declared his plan to marry her at a concert. The next year, they married at Mint Springs Farm in Tennessee in front of their most beloved family and friends.

After Kane and Katelyn married, everyone wondered how soon their first child would be announced, and they did not need to wait long. Kane joyously revealed that they were anticipating their first child in May 2019. Their daughter, Kingsley Rose Brown, was born in October.

Final Words

Kane Brown's career has just begun and he is already one of the biggest country music sensations. To sum things up, Kane has worked really hard to achieve that kind of net worth. And with his exceptional talent, it wouldn't be terribly shocking if his net worth continued to intensify.