

Tsunit'Kar system. Single yellow star.

Mi'Tsunit

1st planet closest to star. Dense, metal rich ball within inner red zone

Si'Tsunit

2nd planet, just inside inner border of the green zone. Breadbasket world. Lightly populated with above-average gravity at 1.13g. Three connected continents spread along planet equator with mostly flat plains and rolling hills and extensive river systems. Entirely dedicated to food and leisure. Food is grown on the ground, much leisure and oversight happens from two equidistant stratoslands suspended in the sky. A pair of metropolis sized airborne stations common to Feraylsen planets.

Ki'Tsunit.

3rd planet, located roughly in the center of the green zone. Barren with thin atmosphere, .82g gravity. Abundant mineral wealth. Lightly populated on planet. Possesses three moons all with reasonably advanced research stations.

First Asteroid Belt. High value minerals but relatively prone to losing asteroids.

Ni'Tsunit.

Fourth planet, located in yellow zone.

Frozen planet with multiple glacier harvesting operations. One moon, mid-sized with respectably sized colonies. Several resource stations in orbit.

Bi'Tsunit.

Fifth planet, located in outermost edge of the yellow zone. Tiny planet with little resource wealth and a single companion moon. Planet possesses several military outposts.

Outer Asteroid belt. Dense, mineral-rich asteroid belt.

Li'Tsunit.

Sixth Planet, gas giant with violent weather and plenty of valuable moons. Orbit is dense with manufacturing stations and idle ships waiting for refit and repair.

Di'Tsunit.

Seventh Planet, gas giant with calm weather and a large array of moons. Not quite so large or so moon rich as the sixth, still has a very respectable collection of manufacturing stations and moon colonies.

Planet naming uses ancient Feraylsen conventions, much like Humanity and latin. 'Kar references the core star. Tsunit is the system name, numbering goes from one to eight, Mi, Si, Ki, Ni, Bi, Li, Di, Ti, then wraps around and adds a consonant, Sit, Kit, Nit, etc.
