Commission types: Fast or slow commission

Fast commissions are done with only two approval steps: Sketch and final result.

Slow commissions will have multiple sketch ideas, colour/markings concepts (in the case of customs), and each step is only continued after the previous one is approved.

	Fast comm	Slow comm
Sketches	1	Multiple choice
Colour studies	1, Present if relevant	Multiple choice
Lineart approval	-	Sent for approval

Colouring approval	-	Sent for approval
Final product approval	Yes	Yes
Average ETA	1-3 Months	2-9 Months
Total allowed edits	2 Free, 2 Paid	2 Free, 4 Paid

Edit costs

⚡ Fast comms

First edit	Free	Second edit	Free
Third edit	$ 15	Fourth edit	$ 30

🐢 Slow comms

First edit	Free	Second edit	Free
Third edit	$ 15	Fourth edit	$ 30
Fifth edit	$ 50	Sixth edit	$ 50

Edit counts per email sent. That means you can ask for multiple things to be edited in a single inquiry and it'll count as a single edit.

Example:

If you send an email with "Can you change the horns and eyes to be blue?" It'll count as one edit. If you send an email with "Can you change the eyes to be blue?" That'll be one edit, and if after that is done you send "Can you change the horns to blue too, to match?" it will count as another edit.

Discounts

💙 Patreon discount:

$5 Tiers	5%	$30+ Tiers	7%
-----------	----	-------------	----

Please inform me that you're a patron in your email if you want to claim a discount. Commissions open exclusively for patrons for an already discounted price won't receive a percentage discount over it.

Addons

Certain things such as character complexity, clothes, wings, NSFW versions, close ups and such may increase the cost of a commission. This is a very case by case scenario and you'll be informed of the costs after I can see your inquiry.

Those are drawn flat coloured in a small canvas and the character designs will be simplified.

They're made to be resized into small sizes and are ideal for page dolls and avatars.

Mini chibis don't get WIPs, you'll receive a preview of the final file for approval once its done.

BACKGROUND

Backgrounds are add ons to other comm types and can't be bought separately. Prices are based on complexity and size. Default rendering is lineless.

There are many variables when it comes to backgrounds, so I made this as a basic guide to give you a notion of how much those can cost, if interested please send me an email with your idea and I can give you a quote.

Small / Medium / Big

	Small	Medium	Big
Size	Enough to circle the character	Canvas expands to 50-70% of the character size	Wallpaper

What fits in	Better for simple scenarios, a couple plants or structures, floating platforms.	Scene can be more complex and expressive, the character can interact with background elements. Looks like a photo of a character in a setting.	Good to detail landscape. Rather than a photograph this would look like a painting.
Average price	100$	175$	250$

Background samples

Painted, complex, many foreground elements

Simple painted // Simple lined

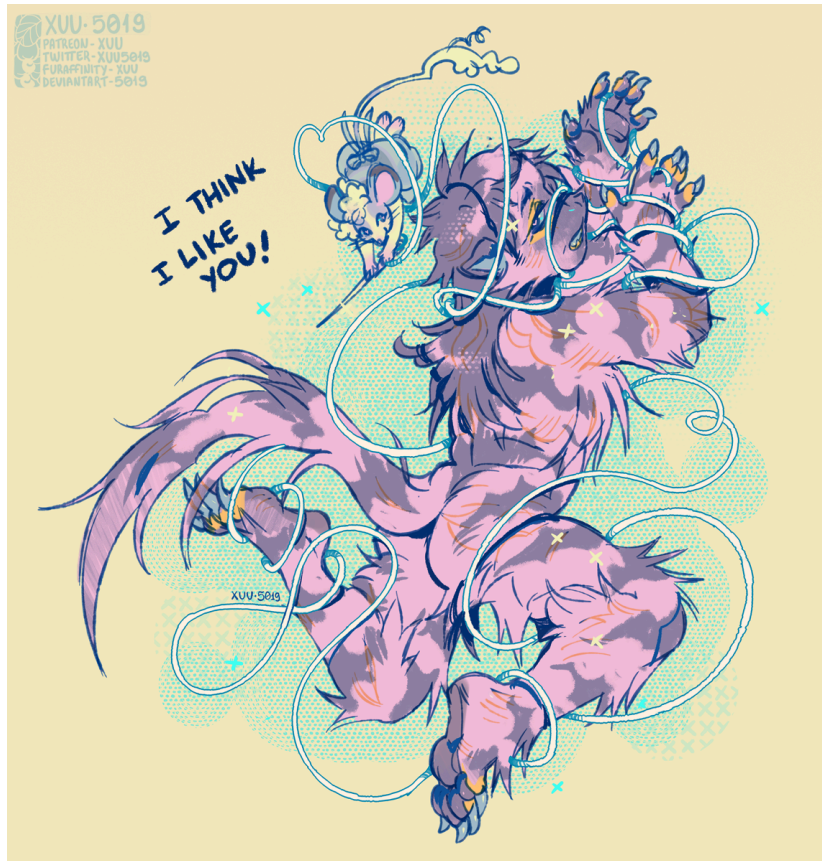

Medium complexity painted // Complex painted

HOUSE DEALS

Limited Palette Fullbody

95$ One character
 +95$ extra characters / % if micro or if too obscured
 + 25$ if NSFW
 + 20$ per extra palette alt (max 4)
 Props can be added for extra

1. Limited palette FBs are FULL ARTISTIC LIBERTY commissions, with no sketch approval stops, no edits, and no refunds. Please be very clear about what you'd want and what you'd like me to avoid for those commissions.
2. Please specify at least one colour in limited palette comms, characters will not be drawn in their natural colours in limited palette comms but will rather have the palette colours. Things such as markings might be simplified or stylised to adapt.
3. You can pick a palette yourself, I'll use 4-6 colours for those. Bottom of this document has some free palettes I found on the web for reference. You can use previous work by me as a reference if you'd like.
4. Sometimes those are shaded, mainly when the character is entirely one colour, but it is to expect that the result will be flat coloured.

If you like the rendering of limited palette fullbodies but would rather have it with your characters colours and approval steps, that would be a sketchy fullbody (see fullbody table above).

REFERENCES

Only available for flat/simple rendering

For references, I'll need to know this:

- ❖ How many fullbodies you want, if they'll be drawn from different sketches or if they'll be drawn from the same sketch, which pose you want them, if they'll be dressed and if yes I'll need visual reference for the clothing
 - ❖ How many portraits you want, which expressions they'll have
- ❖ How many close ups you want and what kind, such as: Mouth details, pawpads, marking close ups, etc.
 - ❖ If you want things such as coat rugs to show markings or wing spreads
 - ❖ If you want chibis, if they'll be with/without outfits
- ❖ If you want objects to be added to the reference picture, like character belongings or favourites, I'll need visual reference for those
 - ❖ If you want decorations, such as borders, backgrounds, etc

The cost of references is the sum of all those + framing, which is often 30-100$ depending on what you want. By framing I mean not only borders, but also organising and planning all those elements inside a single picture. Borders can be florals, filigree, abstracts or something else you'd like.

Sample type: Two FBs (front and back view) drawn on the same sketch + 2 Portraits for a humanoid character with floral borders will go for around 450$
