

Tommy Kickmurder's Temple of Kicks: Terms and Konditions

Hello! Please enjoy this game.

In general:

- If you feel like your character has a high chance of declining a job at the meet based on the information in the post, don't apply.
- If you expect to deliberately derail a job based on the information in the post, either don't apply or come and talk to me first.
- On the other hand, if a job that was supposed to be about rescuing puppies from a well turns out to be about blowing nuns away with automatic weapons, do as you like. This is not totally unheard of.
- If you're almost certain to get Notoriety simply by virtue of participating in a run, you'll probably get Street Cred or enough rewards to justify using your downtime to cook it off. If you get Notoriety on your own initiative, that's your problem!
- Failure should always be considered an option. It's OK to fail!
- Jumping out of a moving van and headbutting an armoured vehicle (which is also moving) is OK too, but if you die you should expect a minimum of sympathy.

