

Toolkit for TYEP in Texas

Spread the Word and Raise Funds for Trans Youth and Their Families

In response to the rise in extreme legislation banning best-practice medical care for transgender youth, including in Texas, the Trans Youth Emergency Project \(TYEP\) is directly supporting the families of youth who are impacted by anti-transgender healthcare bans across the country. Campaign for Southern Equality and NC Transformation Project are leading this program in Texas – and we'd love your help in getting the word out to reach as many young people and their families as possible.

In the document below, we have provided some social media and email posts to help you get the word out about this important program. Be sure to tag our partners:

- Campaign for Southern Equality (@SouthernEquality on Instagram/Facebook, @SouthernEqual on Twitter/X),
- Transgender Education Network of Texas (TENT) (@transtexas on Instagram, Twitter/X and Facebook)
- Equality Texas (@equalitytexas on Instagram, Twitter/X and Facebook)

Thank you for helping to raise visibility and funds for this critical project!

No one should have to travel long distances for medically necessary healthcare – but a ban on gender-affirming care in Texas and 24 other states forces trans youth and their families to do just that. Now, the Trans Youth Emergency Project – led by Campaign for Southern Equality, Transgender Education Network of Texas (TENT), and Equality Texas – is supporting families in TX with patient navigation services, emergency grants of $500, and more to support the families of trans youth in accessing out-of-state care. Trans youth are under attack in Texas and across the country – 25 states have passed bans on gender-affirming care, and now families are facing impossible choices as they try to get their child the care they need to thrive. The Trans Youth Emergency Project, – led in Texas by @equalitytexas, @transtexas @SouthernEquality – helps support trans youth and their families as they travel long distances for care. Families in TX can now access support through TYEP, including:

- 🗺️ Patient navigation to out-of-state care
- 📁 Emergency grants of $500 for travel or medicine
- ☂️ A network of care and information that families can turn to even as the landscape shifts

SAMPLE EMAIL ANNOUNCEMENT

Subject: Announcing the Trans Youth Emergency Project in Texas

Friends –

No one should be forced to leave their home state to access healthcare – but right now, transgender young people and their families in Texas are being forced to travel extreme distances just to access best-practice gender-affirming care. That’s because of cruel legislation passed by lawmakers, that inserts the government into the private and personal medical decisions that should be exclusively between doctors, trans youth, and their families.

Similar anti-transgender restrictions have passed in 25 states, including Texas, and now we’re excited to share that a new project is pushing back on these bans and helping families of trans youth navigate this crisis.

[Organization Name] is proud to spread the word about the Trans Youth Emergency Project \(TYEP\), led in Texas by Equality Texas, Transgender Education Network of Texas (TENT) and the Campaign for Southern Equality. TYEP provides 1-on-1 custom patient navigation services and supports families of transgender youth with emergency grants to help them travel out of state for care.

If you need support accessing gender-affirming care that is restricted in Texas, or just want more information about the ban, click here to get support from the Trans Youth Emergency Project. And please forward this email to anyone who may need this support.

Transgender youth and their families in Texas are navigating an impossibly complex care environment to get their child access to essential health care. For some, this has meant traveling hundreds of miles several times a year; others have considered moving to another state entirely. Bottom line: Families in Texas have been doing everything they can to protect their children and make sure they have the care and support they need and deserve to thrive. We’re glad there’s a fantastic new program available to support them through this difficult moment.

Thank you,
