- Creativity is very important to me because it's always been an outlet (minute 0:06)

An outlet is a means of expression, release, or satisfaction: an outlet for one's artistic impulses

(<https://www.wordreference.com/definition/outlet>)

- The central tenet of my work is expressive gesture (minute 0:18)

“Tenet” means “principle” here.

- The Google team worked closely with the artists to [...] explore this brand new medium (minute 1:50)

“Brand new” means “completely new”.

- They are introducing new things. So we're guinea pigs for this (minute 3:42)

A guinea pig is “the subject of any sort of test or experiment”

(<https://www.wordreference.com/definition/guinea%20pig>, “conejillo de indias” in Spanish).

- There's no way I came close to tapping the potential of what this can do (minute 5:29)

To tap means “to penetrate, open up, reach into, etc., for the purpose of using something or drawing something off; begin to use: to tap one's resources” (<https://www.wordreference.com/definition/tap>)
