

Zuckerman's Discovery

By Hannah Hsieh, Greymouth Reporter
5am, Thursday, Greymouth.

Early this morning near Greymouth at 5:00, Lurvey, a worker from Zuckerman's farm discovered a web. But not just any web. The web had the words 'Some pigs' in the middle, and is believed that the web was created by a common house spider named Charlotte, as she wanted to save a pig named Wilbur from dying.

Mr. Zuckerman is proud of his fabulous pig, he believes the spider is trying to tell him something. It is heard that Charlotte is looking for new words to write on her web. "My barn is filled with animals alright, but Wilbur is special. He is like 10 million dollars to me." Mr. Zuckerman says. From the time he saw the web, Lurvey knew it was going to be more work for him. "New hay every day, a wash to get mud off, no more cow manure to go there, a new crate, so many. You name it." Lurvey says.

The story can be real, but there is even another that is believed. Some villagers believe that Zuckerman made the web himself to make others think his pig is really special. "It isn't easy to tell if it's real or fake, but I believe what I see. And I see Spam!" John, a 89 year old man said. It is a mystery, but police are investigating this situation.

For the believers, they are having an opening day to celebrate the special pig. All pig lovers are welcome, but no pig killers. They are celebrating in the town hall, where the pig will perform on stage. People that don't believe in the story say it will be disaster.
