Introduction

Welcome to the Graduate School Thesis & Dissertation Manual. This document is intended as a general guide for graduate students preparing theses or dissertations as a fulfillment of their graduate studies at Idaho State University.

This guide is based upon the ISU Graduate School's values, to be a leading driver of high-quality graduate education and its dedication to be the embodiment of academic and creative excellence through the scholarship and research of its graduate students. In short, this guide is intended as a resource for graduate students to ensure consistency in the format and style of theses and dissertation. For brevity, the language of this guide refers to theses or dissertations as an ETD PDF (Electronic Thesis Dissertation PDF). Students must also apply these guidelines to DA papers and professional projects as well.

The following guidelines for the formatting and submission of your thesis or dissertation are in place to ensure consistency and professionalism in the work that represents Idaho State University. These guidelines are not formatting suggestions, but requirements, and must be followed accordingly.

Use this guide as a general overview for progressing towards your thesis or dissertation defense. Always refer to your advisor and supervisory committee for specific questions and guidelines required by your department. Listed on the following page are additional ISU student resources and it is highly recommended that students use them in tandem with this guide.

General Preparation and Responsibilities

The Graduate School and the student advisory committee coordinate their efforts to counsel a student candidate in preparing their ETD PDF manuscript and completing all steps necessary for graduation.

Student Candidate Responsibilities

Student Candidates are responsible for complying with the policies and procedures within this manual to ensure they receive the full benefits of the graduate experience and graduate on time. Student Candidates are advised to work with their major advisor and committee early and frequently to ensure no steps or requirements are overlooked.

NOTE: Before submitting the final, revised ETD PDF and supplemental documents, after a successful defense, the student candidate must meet with their advisor to proofread the ETD PDF to ensure all formatting and style elements set forth in this guide are met.

Preparation for Oral Defense and Exam Scheduling

In preparation for selecting a committee, review the following sections to ensure that both forms, the Oral Defense Request Form and the Exam Scheduling Form, are included and assigned to the appropriate committee member.

NOTE: The responsibility for ensuring the appropriate forms to schedule and oral defense and exam lie with the student candidate, though both forms are assigned to a designated member of the student advisory committee.

Defense Scheduling

When students are required to make presentations as part of the examination process, these presentations will be advertised and open to the public. To schedule an oral exam, contact the members of the committee to set the date, time, and place.

Exam Scheduling Form

Your Committee Chair or Department Chair must notify the Graduate School as soon as the dates are set, but no less than one week before the examination using the Exam Scheduling Form.

Oral Defense Request Form

After a candidate submits the completed ETD PDF for review, the department (not the candidate) must submit the Oral Defense Request Form. The Oral Defense Request Form contains all information relevant to scheduling the defense, including the location for the defense with a list of committee members.

Oral Defense

On the scheduled date, the committee gathers at the appointed location and presents their questions and comments about the ETD PDF to the candidate. Oral defenses are open to:

- all members of the Graduate Faculty as observers

- non-Graduate Faculty with permission of the advisor and the Dean of the Graduate School.

Committee Selection Preparation

Master's and doctorate levels will need to request a committee to evaluate their ETD PDF manuscript to complete an oral defense.

- All supervisory committees consist of an odd number of members.
- Committee Members should be members of the Graduate Faculty and approved by the Dean of the Graduate School
- One member serves as the Committee Chair and must be chosen from the Graduate Faculty.

NOTE: Appointments to supervisory committees of non-faculty members or of faculty members not on the Graduate Faculty must be approved by the Dean of the Graduate School. A list of the Graduate Faculty can be found in the graduate catalog.

Master's Degree Supervisory Committee

A master's degree supervisory committee must include at least three graduate faculty members who are approved by the department director of graduate programs and the Dean of the Graduate School:

- One member must be from within the department in which the student is enrolled.
- One member must be from outside the department in which the student is enrolled.
- The outside member will also serve as the Graduate Faculty Representative (GFR)

Doctoral Degree Supervisory Committee

A doctoral degree supervisory committee must include at least five graduate faculty members who are approved by the department director of graduate studies and the Dean of the Graduate School:

- Three members must be from within the department in which the student is enrolled.
- At least one member must be from outside the department in which the student is enrolled.
- One of the outside members will also serve as the Graduate Faculty Representative (GFR)

NOTE: The GFR is typically appointed at the same time the other members of the committee are named according to departmental procedures and policies. A complete description of the GFR's responsibilities can be found in the following section.

Supervisory Committee Roles and Responsibilities

The following outlines the responsibilities of the student supervisory committee:

Student Candidate

Completes the ETD PDF manuscript by the guidelines outlined in this manual.

- Meets all deadlines and milestones provided by the chair, committee, and Graduate School.
- Meets all deadlines for completion of ETD PDF manuscript, oral defense, and graduation.
- Submits the required forms and pays all fees.
- Upload all signed required supplemental documentation in ProQuest.
- Provide an ETD PDF manuscript to the committee at least two (2) weeks before the defense for review.
- After reviewing this manual and the checklist in Appendix B, submit a revised ETD PDF to the Graduate School no more than two (2) weeks after a successful defense.

Committee Chair

Serves as the student's primary advisor in their ETD PDF manuscript completion process.

- Ensures all protocols are followed that are provided by the department, Graduate School, and, if necessary, the IRB.
- Ensures the student has been informed of all deadlines and milestones in the process towards completion of the research project.
- Approves the methodology and subject of the written research project.
- Reads, evaluates, copy edits, and otherwise provides guidance for drafts of the research project.
- Reviews drafts for honor code violations.
- Works with the committee with their opinions and comments for drafts and/or moving forward with the project.
- Schedules the defense
- Chairs the defense.
- Signs off on the formatting checklist the student submits with his/her initial final draft to the graduate school.
- Ensures the student corrects, changes, or revises any suggestion as a result of the defense before

Graduate Faculty Representative (GFR)

Assists the Candidate and the Committee members in scheduling the oral defense.

- Collects the ballots from the Graduate school for oral defense.
- Prevents the oral defense from proceeding if either the ballot packet or a Committee Member is unavailable.
- Ensures the oral defense is conducted professionally and fairly.
- Writes an evaluation of the exam, including notes of any irregularities.
- Ensures that each Committee Member votes upon the Candidate's performance.
- Announces the results to the Committee Members and ensures the Candidate is informed of the results immediately afterward.
- Return the ballot packet to the Graduate School as soon as possible.

Committee Members

Provide ideas and suggestions for the research or direction of the project.

- Reads, evaluates, critiques, and provides guidance for drafts of the research project as necessary.
- Reads and evaluates the final draft of the ETD PDF manuscript.
- Participates in the defense of the research project.
- Reviews drafts for honor code violations.
- Evaluates the ETD PDF as the basis for certifying the candidate has completed the requirements to receive the graduate degree pursued.
- Reviews the ETD PDF to provide counsel and encouragement to the candidate throughout the process and help ensure the thesis/dissertation connects to the current scholarship in their academic field.
- Grants final approval of the manuscript for publication in the university's ETD PDF database.

Defense Preparation

Once the thesis/dissertation has been written, edited, and in all other ways made ready for review, the candidate prepares for the final steps of their graduate career. These steps will include:

- Submitting the thesis/dissertation for evaluation by the committee
- Delivering an oral defense of the thesis/dissertation before the committee.

NOTE: If a candidate's discipline does not require a thesis/dissertation, then a formal written exam must be completed instead.

Submitting to Committee

In close consultation with their major advisor, committee, and the Graduate Faculty Representative (GFR), a candidate picks a date for their oral defense. The defense must take place at least three (3) weeks before end of the semester in which the student intends to graduate. All graduate requirements must be completed prior to or at the end of the semester during which the final defense exam is held.

NOTE: Dates and deadlines are available online.

A thesis/dissertation must be submitted to the committee, in its final PDF form, no less than two (2) weeks before the set defense date. The committee reviews the thesis/dissertation and prepares questions and comments that will be addressed to the candidate at the oral defense. If any committee member questions the adequacy of the substance or form of the thesis/dissertation, the committee as a whole decides if the document and the student are sufficiently prepared for an oral examination.

Post Oral Defense

Following the oral defense, the committee meets in closed session to determine the outcome of the examination. The candidate passes the exam if a majority of the committee votes. Otherwise, the student fails the exam. In the case of a tie vote with an even numbered committee, the candidate defaults to failing the exam.

For students failing the oral exam, the Graduate School allows one re-examination. This re-examination is to take place during the subsequent three (3) semesters unless otherwise approved by the Graduate School. If the academic unit involved has a formal re-examination policy that is more stringent, that policy supersedes the Graduate School re-examination policy.

The major advisor is responsible for reporting grades for all prior thesis/dissertation registrations of the candidate when the document has been approved by the advisory committee. After the successful defense of a thesis/dissertation, the student must submit all appropriate documents to the Graduate School within two (2) weeks. Failure to do so may delay graduation.

NOTE: If the required documents are not submitted within one year, the Dean of the Graduate School may declare the defense void and require that it be repeated.

Manuscript Preparation

The Graduate School is proud that all theses, dissertations, DA papers, etc. will be part of the Idaho State University Dissertations and Theses electronic repository. Using the ProQuest ETD Administrator System your work will be available to be cited by other scholars around the world.

NOTE: The following guidelines for the formatting and submission of your thesis or dissertation are in place to ensure consistency and professionalism in the work that represents Idaho State University. These guidelines are not formatting suggestions, but requirements, and must be followed accordingly.

In preparing your ETD PDF manuscript for submission, remember that you are preparing a work that should reflect the hard work and dedication of your graduate studies. By following the formatting and style guides, your work will be accessible to other scholars so consistency is key and should be a source of pride for your contributions to scholarship at Idaho State University

Electronic Thesis and Dissertation Submissions

Congrats on successfully defending your thesis or dissertation! The next step is to prepare your ETD PDF for final submission.

Carefully review any feedback from your student supervisory committee and make appropriate revisions and edits. Then, meet with your advisor to proofread and double check that all forms, pages, formatting and styles set forth in this guide are included and met. Use the ETD PDF Requirements Checklist in Appendix A to ensure all requirements are met.

ETD PDF Submissions Process

As stated in the Student Candidate Responsibilities section, you must review final edits and proofread with your advisor before submitting the final ETD PDF and supplemental documents. This will ensure all requirements are fulfilled and save you time.

The following is the student's responsibility in the ETD PDF submissions process:

- The Graduate School does not require a printed hard copy of the thesis or dissertation. However, some departments may still require a professionally printed and bound copy of a thesis or dissertation. Candidates must check with their chair to confirm whether or not an ETD PDF will suffice, or if a printed copy is required.
- After completing the ETD PDF Requirements Checklist (Appendix B), a candidate must submit the following documents to ProQuest:

ETD PDF Submission Master's Candidates

- One final ETD PDF
- One signed use authorization PDF
- One signed committee PDF
- 5-6 Keywords from the ETD PDF Abstract Page

ETD PDF Submission Doctoral Candidates

- One final ETD PDF
- One signed use authorization PDF

- One signed committee PDF
- One Survey of Earned Doctorates Certificate of Completion.
- 5-6 Keywords from the ETD PDF Abstract Page

The ETD PDF is then uploaded to ISU's personal online database, and once approved for release will be made available to the public. You may view the Electronic Thesis or Dissertation Archive online.

ETD Review Process

Once the graduate school receives the ETD PDF, a review will begin and edits will be made to ensure the document complies with the submission standards as required in this manual. Required corrections will be sent to the student within 5-7 business days from draft submission;

NOTE: turnaround after review may take longer during peak times at the end of the semester.

Re-Submission Process

Any revision requested by the graduate school must be submitted with all edits made by the graduate school should be updated and re-submitted back to the graduate school within 2-3 business days. The Graduate School will review 5-7 business days after re-submission. The resubmitted ETD PDF must be in a final, error-free form.

PLEASE NOTE: Please note that submission made at the end of term responses may take longer due influx of ETD submissions.

The graduate school will return the ETD PDF for corrections up to 3 times. If by the fourth (4th) submission the ETD PDF is not error-free, the graduation term will be moved to the following term. In the case of repeated submissions the following process is outlined:

- GS Review 1
 - Corrections Email 1
 - Resubmit in 2-3 business days with corrections
- GS Review 2 (5-7 business Days)
 - Corrections Email 2
 - Resubmit in 2-3 business days with corrections
- GS Review 3 (5-7 business Days)
 - Corrections Email 3
 - Resubmit in 2-3 business days with corrections
- GS Review 4 (5-7 business Days)
 - Email will notify the student candidate that the graduation date will be moved to the following term.

Idaho State University Graduate School Style Guide

A thesis or dissertation stands as a major academic milestone for a candidate and serves as a significant contribution to their chosen field. This manual provides instructions relevant to the Graduate School's specific format and style requirements for a thesis or dissertation (ETD PDF).

Remember, it is the student candidate's responsibility to ensure that the final ETD PDF submission adheres to the Graduate School Style Guide. Any questions that exceed the scope of this manual should defer to the requirements of the style manual chosen for the project according to discipline standards, as determined by the candidate in consultation with their chair and committee.

Suggested Style Manuals

The following manuals are available in the University Bookstore, the Eli Oboler Library, department offices, and online:

ACS- American Chemical Society Guide
AIP- American Institute of Physics Guide
AMS- American Mathematics Society Guide
APA- American Psychological Association Style Guide
APSA- American Political Science Association Guide
ASA- American Sociological Association
GPO- United States Government Printing Office Style
CMS- Chicago Manual of Style
CSE- Council of Science Editors
MLA- Purdue Guide

NOTE: Some departments specify the approved department style as found in the guidelines for publication of the following journals:

- American Anthropologist
- American Antiquity
- Journal of Bacteriology

Style Guide

The following guide is set forth by Graduate School requirements:

Format

All preliminary pages, including the copyright page, titles page, table of contents, etc. must adhere to the Graduate School style guide.

NOTE: The body text, references, and bibliography of the ETD may be in the style set forth by the student candidate's chosen style guide according to their discipline's standards. Otherwise refer and use this guide.

The appendix must be in accordance with Graduate School guidelines.

Paper Size

Thesis/dissertation manuscripts must be composed to fit on 8 ½ x 11 sized paper.

Margins

All margins must be 1” on the top, bottom, left and right. The margins should follow the guidelines given in the approved style manual being used by the department according to discipline specifications, typically 1 inch on the top, bottom, left and right side.

NOTE: tables, graphs, and other visuals need to fall within these margins. Additionally, if any tables require a landscape view to fit within the required margins, a candidate should rotate those specific pages within the thesis/dissertation document so the x-axis runs along the bottom edge of the screen.

Font

Use a clear, readable, and consistent 12- point serif font throughout the entire document. ETD PDFs are to be typed according to specific style guides according to discipline specifications. If not specified in the style guide manual, the font must be:

- Times New Roman (Script fonts are unacceptable)
- 12-point standard
- Changes in font style, color, and size may be appropriate for writing equations, labeling tables and graphs, footnotes, title pages, etc.

Italics may only be used to indicate titles of major works (i.e. books and journals), foreign language terms, and scientific terms

Bold may be used to add emphasis, or for headings and section titles Use bold sparingly and Nothing should be bolded on the Table of Contents or Abstract pages

Note: When a visual or other media is imported it may be appropriate to retain the original font.

Spacing

Double-spaced text is standard for the entire ETD PDF. There may be exceptions where alternative spacing may be appropriate such as:

- block quotes
- table and figure captions, descriptions, and footnotes
- a list of references, literature cited, bibliography, etc. While each of these may be single-spaced, there should be a space between each entry on the list

Pagination

Pagination rules can vary slightly based on the specific style manual used. In general, there are four locations where it is acceptable for pagination:

- 1) the upper right-hand corner of the page
- 2) the lower right-hand corner
- 3) top-center
- 4) bottom-center

Preliminary Pages Pagination

For preliminary pages, use lower-case Roman numerals (ii, iii, iv) centered at the bottom of the page. All other pages, text, notes, references, and so on are numbered according to the pagination starting on page “i” or rules stated in the chosen style manual.

NOTE: there is no page “i”. The title page is understood to be page “i”, but no numeral is printed there.

Text, Body, Reference Pages Pagination

For text body, references, and appendices use Arabic numerals (2, 3, 4) that begin on the first page of the main text of the ETD PDF. Numbering should carry on uninterrupted throughout the entire body of the document, including appendixes. Numbers should be consistent in their placement.

NOTE: there is no page “1”. the first page of the thesis/dissertation is generally understood to be “1”, but no numeral is printed there.

NOTE: There is no punctuation with page numbers, pagination should only include a number, names, lines, or other adornments are also inappropriate.

Document Page Descriptions (Required and If Applicable)

The following is a description of pages for sections of the ETD. Each page appears in the correct order and is noted if it is a required page or an applicable page.

Photocopy and Use Authorization (Required)

In the interest of making a student's research available to appropriate parties, all theses/dissertations submitted to Idaho State University are made available to the public. This is achieved by depositing the thesis/dissertation in the ISU ETD repository, although certain theses and/or dissertations may be subject to a temporary embargo. Publication rights are reserved to the author, subject to the provisions of research contracts, federal grant stipulations, or other agreements made by the author with the university. Because of this, permission to download and/or print for scholarly purposes must be explicitly granted by the author.

NOTE: Since difficulties may arise in locating the authors of theses/dissertations to secure permission to copy, all theses and/or dissertations must include the Use Authorization form in the preliminary pages. This form must be completed appropriately to indicate that such permission is granted.

NOTE: To protect privacy, the electronic version of the Photocopy and Use Authorization page must not include a signature. The signed and completed document must be submitted to the Graduate School separately, on ProQuest.

Photocopy and Use Authorization Page Template—Appendix A

Title Page (Required)

The title page signals that the thesis/dissertation proper has begun. The title itself should be concise while also providing full information to the reader about what to expect from the following document. The author should use keywords that accurately identify and define the unique components of the argument and/or issue that underpin the project and distinguish it from other work. A clear title is vital for purposes of indexing and other informational purposes.

NOTE: The final version of the thesis/dissertation does not need to match the proposed title submitted in the original prospectus. The title page for the thesis/dissertation must follow the format requirements presented in this manual.

Copyright Page (If Applicable)

The following information is found on the United States Copyright Office Website at U.S. Copyright Office:

“The use of a copyright notice is no longer required under U.S. law, although it is often beneficial. Use of the notice may be important because it informs the public that the work is protected by copyright, identifies the copyright owner, and shows the year of first publication.

Furthermore, in the event that a work is infringed, if a proper notice of copyright appears on the published copy or copies to which a defendant in a copyright infringement suit had access, then no weight shall be given to such a defendant's interposition of a defense based on innocent infringement in mitigation of actual or statutory damages, except as provided in section 504(c)(2) of the copyright law."

If a thesis or dissertation is to be copyrighted, the student should include in each copy:

If preceding the title page, an unnumbered page bearing:

- (1) the symbol "©" or the word "Copyright" or the abbreviation "Copr."
- (2) the year of first publication
- (3) the full name of the owner of the copyright.

EXAMPLE: "© 2017 Jane Doe Student." A copyright registration is effective on the date that the required application, fee, and one complete copy of the entire work for which registration is being made are received in the U.S. Copyright Office.

Committee Approval Page (Required)

Each thesis/dissertation will contain a committee approval form signed by the committee members only after the final acceptance of the thesis/dissertation. Before final acceptance, each member of the candidate's committee should carefully examine a draft that is essentially a final copy of the thesis/ dissertation. Excessive numbers of corrections may warrant that a second or third draft be reviewed by the committee before committee members' signatures can be given.

Theses/dissertations are approved after an oral defense. Oral defenses are scheduled by the student in coordination with the committee and department. The oral defense must take place no later than three weeks before the end of the semester in which the student intends to graduate.

Two weeks prior to the date of the oral examination, a draft of the thesis/dissertation must be presented in substantially final form to the committee for review. The final form includes any and all inserted material—e.g. photographs, maps, plates, and so on. After the defense, committee members may decide that the thesis/dissertation requires revision and will refrain from signing off until required adjustments and improvements have been implemented. Such revisions may include only minor changes to the text that can be dealt with immediately. However, other adjustments may require elaborate restructuring and additional scholarly work may even be required.

Students should immediately address the committee's concerns and rework the thesis/dissertation in response to the comments from committee members. The committee, under the oversight of the GFR, has been charged with helping to bring students' theses/dissertations to a level of excellent appropriate for viewing online by scholars around the world. The Graduate School will sign off approval of the thesis/dissertation only after evidence that this process has been rigorously conducted is presented.

NOTE: a blank, unsigned copy of the Committee Approval form must be included in the final ETD PDF without signatures. The signed copy must be uploaded to ProQuest as a PDF. The final ETD PDF must be submitted to the Graduate School within two (2) weeks following the oral defense.

Human Subjects Page (If Applicable)

University policy requires that students who expect to engage in research involving human subjects—research covered by this policy include both the collection of data through direct intervention and interaction or the acquisition of information from sources that allow personal identification of subjects—receive approval of their research procedures prior to the collection of data. The Human Subjects Committee application forms and CITI investigator training requirements are available online. For more information, contact the Human Subjects Committee through:

Dedication Page (If Applicable)

While it is natural to include a dedication page, it is not required. If desired, the candidate may include any information they wish, as this page is personal to them. Candidates should be aware that once the thesis/dissertation is submitted for publication, no portion can be altered, including the dedication. Candidates must be fully comfortable sharing with a global audience whatever they have written in their thesis/dissertation.

Similarly, there is no minimum or maximum length, but it is suggested candidates exercise some sense of propriety concerning the length and breadth of their dedication. There are no extra formatting requirements specific to the dedication page.

NOTE: Candidates must make certain to maintain the marginal and pagination specifications that apply to every other portion of the thesis/dissertation.

Dedication Page Template—Appendix A

Like the dedication page, acknowledgments can contribute a personal and reflective component to the thesis/dissertation. It allows a candidate to express thanks to those professors who have served a formative role in the research and composition of the current project as well as their graduate degree at large. Additionally, this is where grant funding and other assistance received should be noted.

NOTE: Similar to a dedication, this page is personal and should conform to general etiquette concerning the quality and quantity of information that will be available to the public. Candidates should continue the same format regarding pagination and margins as every other section in the thesis/dissertation.

Acknowledgements Page Template—Appendix A

A Table of Contents is critical for maintaining clear organization throughout the thesis/dissertation by providing an overview of the topics covered in the manuscript and where they can be found. The Table of Contents must be clear and consistent in all formatting. Please follow the template provided, though some adjustments may be necessary, determined by the specific chosen style used.

The body of the Table of Contents must:

- contain one section heading per line
- be aligned to the left and the corresponding page number aligned to the right with a dotted line connecting the two.
- Use subsection headings underneath the appropriate main heading and have a .5-inch indentation.
- The entire Table of Contents should be double-spaced.

The Table of Contents lists everything contained within the thesis/dissertation moving forward, but does not list itself or any preliminary pages that precedes it in the thesis/dissertation.

List of Illustrations, Figures, and Tables (If Applicable)

If illustrations, figures, and/or tables are used in the thesis/dissertation then the appropriate list(s) will be required in the preliminary papers. Each list should have its own page and present all of the contents as they are numbered and captioned in the thesis/dissertation proper.

Each list must be formatted similarly to the listing methods used in the Table of Contents. If included, these lists will serve as the first entries in the Table of Contents.

List of Figures Page Template—Appendix A

List of Tables Page Template—Appendix A

List of Abbreviations and Symbols (If Applicable)

If the thesis/dissertation employs a large and frequent array of symbols and abbreviations, then it is an expected courtesy that definitions will be provided at the front of the document.

Such lists should be placed on their own page(s) after the Lists of Illustrations/Figures/Tables (if included). Additionally, they must be included in the Table of Contents.

Authors should ensure that their use of abbreviations and symbols in the thesis/dissertation proper are consistent with the glossary.

The abstract is an important piece of formal writing in academic scholarship. It serves as a short statement summarizing the contents of the manuscript that follows. An abstract prepares an audience for the overall argument being made in the thesis/dissertation by explicitly declaring the most important findings and general purpose of the thesis/dissertation. The abstract will frequently determine whether or not potential readers take an interest in the document. An engaging thesis/dissertation is concise, informative, and engaging.

To make the abstract more user-friendly, a candidate must make certain to include a list of keywords relevant to the contents of the thesis/dissertation at the bottom of the Abstract page. These must include

- the main topic or subject of the thesis/dissertation
- authors and scholars directly related to the subject
- theories applied and examined throughout.

Because the requirements for an abstract vary based on the type of document being presented, please pay special attention to the following requirements:

Thesis Abstract Requirements

The student should prepare an abstract describing the essential content of the thesis in 250 words or less, double-spaced. The abstract is counted in the numbering sequence of the preliminary pages and is listed in the Table of Contents. The abstract is numbered according to its position in the preliminary pages.

Abstract Page Template—Appendix A

Dissertation Abstract Requirements

The student should prepare an abstract describing the essential content of the dissertation in 350 words or less, double-spaced. The abstract should reflect, precisely and accurately, the scope and sequence of the dissertation.

NOTE: No tables or illustrations are permitted.

A copy of the abstract is included in the preliminary pages of each copy of the dissertation. The abstract is counted in the numbering sequence of the preliminary pages and is listed in the Table of Contents. The abstract is numbered according to its position in the preliminary pages.
