

The Friendship Project

This is an optional project.

There is no timeframe for this project.

I know many of you are really missing your friends right now. Here is a special project that might help you feel better! Make a special book with all of the important people in your life!

1. Think of a special person in your life that you are missing. It could be a friend from school, your karate class, a grandma, cousin, teacher etc.
2. Draw a picture of that person to include in your book. You could draw their face or entire body. If you want to you can even include yourself in the picture. It's your choice! IT'S YOUR BOOK!

3. Write something about that person.

Examples:

Why is that person special to you?

What do you like about that person?

What do you want to do with that person when you get to see them again?

It's your choice!

4. Add as many people as you want! It's your choice!

5. Think of a title for your book and design a cover.

Examples:

My Book of Special People

My Friendship Book

Important People in My Life

Or think of your own title!

6. Assemble your book. Enjoy reading your book and thinking about all of the good times you will have when you can see these people again!
