

Benedict Leteane

Benedict is a disability researcher and humanitarian, who is currently studying towards an Mphil in Disabilities Studies at UCT. He has three postgraduate qualifications in Social Development and Social Anthropology from the University of the Western Cape and PGDip in Disability Studies. He has a keen interest in reviewing websites and advising designers/developers about universal access and inclusive participation.