Privacy Policy

Fallout 76 Vault Companion — Chrome Extension

Effective Date: March 21, 2026

UNOFFICIAL FAN TOOL — NOT AFFILIATED WITH BETHESDA

This extension is an independent, unofficial fan-made tool. It is not created by, affiliated with, endorsed by, or in any way officially connected to Bethesda Softworks LLC, ZeniMax Media Inc., or Microsoft Corporation. Fallout and Fallout 76 are registered trademarks of ZeniMax Media Inc. All trademarks and game content belong to their respective owners.

1. Overview

The Fallout 76 Vault Companion is a free, unofficial Chrome extension created by an independent developer. It provides a personal field log — including a to-do list, power armor location notes, and general notes — to assist players of Fallout 76. This Privacy Policy explains what data the extension handles and how it is used.

2. Data We Collect

This extension collects only the data that you choose to enter into it:

- To-do list items (text and completion status)
- Power armor location notes (free-form text)
- General notes (free-form text)

No other data is collected. The extension does not collect your name, email address, IP address, browsing history, Chrome activity, game account details, or any other personal or identifying information.

3. How Your Data is Stored

All data you enter is stored exclusively using Chrome's built-in chrome.storage.local API. This means:

- Your data is saved locally on your own device only.
- Your data is never transmitted to any external server, database, or third party.
- Your data is never uploaded to the internet.
- Only you can access your data, from the device and Chrome profile you use the extension on.

Clearing your Chrome extension storage or uninstalling the extension will permanently delete all stored data.

4. Third-Party Sharing

We do not sell, share, rent, trade, or otherwise transmit your data to any third party — ever. There are no analytics services, advertising networks, or tracking tools integrated into this extension.

5. Extension Permissions

This extension requests the following Chrome permissions:

- storage — Required to save your notes and to-do list locally on your device using chrome.storage.local.
- windows — Required to open the companion as a standalone window when you click the extension icon.

No other permissions are requested or used.

6. Children's Privacy

This extension is not directed at children under the age of 13. We do not knowingly collect any information from children. Since no personal data is collected from any user, there is no special risk to younger users beyond what is described in this policy.

7. Changes to This Policy

If this Privacy Policy is updated, the new version will be made available wherever this extension is distributed (e.g., the Chrome Web Store listing). Continued use of the extension after any changes constitutes acceptance of the updated policy.

8. Contact

If you have any questions or concerns about this Privacy Policy or the extension, you can reach out via the extension's listing page on the Chrome Web Store.

Fallout 76 Vault Companion is an independent fan project. Fallout® and Fallout 76® are registered trademarks of ZeniMax Media Inc. This project is not affiliated with or endorsed by Bethesda Softworks or ZeniMax Media.