

As Above

Reaching down and touching starlight
Suffusing your bones with brightness
Lit from within, the tips of your hair shine
Silver-blues and purple-blackish hues
You fall eternally into the night sea
Brushing planets with your fingertips
Sending them bumping gently along
Leaving bubble trails in ink-dark water

So Below...?

Shadow looms between sun and sky
Leaving all below it rimmed in frost
Shriveling slowly in the bitter cold
Icy blue and frostbitten black hues
The darkness looms ever closer
Stealing starlight into the void
Jolting the ground below out of place
To hurtle into catastrophic collision