

ROOTS-OF-LIFE

Orange

Lost in his thoughts

@MT26

ROOTS-OF-LIFE

NAME
Orange

GENDER
Male

COLONY
Meadow

RANK
Wasp

About

Name	Orange
Name meaning	His fur color
Nicknames	-
Gender	Male
Pronouns	He-him
Sex	Male
Sexuality	Bi
Age	30 months
Colony	Meadow Colony
Rank	Wasp

Appearance

Appearance	Laperm apricot spotted tabby with folded ears and white gloving
Scars	-

Impairments	-
Accessories	-
Genotype	ll Lplp Bbl XOY dd Dmdm Aa Mcmc SpSp tata wgwg Sfsf

Personality

Orange could be in the middle of a forest fire and he would still smile, it seems like nothing can trouble this peculiar individual. A cat who lives inside the world in his mind, so it seems like not much affects him in the outside world. He might be often distracted, but he is still sweet and hardworking; just most often lost in his thoughts. Inside his mind he loves to imagine this universe where he is a superhero who comes to the rescue and fights evil villains, and will gladly share his lore with any cat interested (just you cannot make him shut up once you ask). However, some cats might find his distracted self, and lack of worry about things, quite annoying.

Family

Sparkle • Mother • NPC

LaPerm red spotted tabby with white gloving

Pirate • Father • NPC

Apricot spotted tabby with folded ears and a Manx tail

Tangerine • Sister • NPC

Red spotted tabby with white gloving and a Manx tail

Name • Mate • Owned by @

Appearance here

Name • Child • Owned by @

Appearance here

History

Origin Story

Orange and Tangerine were born from two housecats from neighboring homes, Pirate and Sparkles had fallen in love after their humans had introduced them to each other. The two kits grew in their mom's house for a while, playing games together and with their humans. Sparkle's owner would play about Orange being a hero that would come to the rescue of Tangerine, fighting all kinds of toys and going on epic adventures.

Time went on, and as her parents had told them, the siblings would be going to other homes in the neighborhood. Orange ended in a house with a large family with kids that loved "superheroes;" they would dress themselves in all kinds of costumes and gear, watching a screen with people with the same costumes and doing epic battles.

Orange was very happy when the day came that the kids gave him his own costume! He was very happy to have a cape and other cool accessories, and would play with them about their epic journeys. It reminded him of his time with his family, as well as feeling as part of the same group of "superheroes" that the kids were. He learned a bunch of tricks that the kids taught him, calling them his "superhero moves" and rehearsing them when the kids were not at home.

He would go outside and run around in the yard facing the endless forest, jumping and doing all kinds of moves. Orange was so drawn into this world that he would sometimes also sneak into the yard at night to continue training his powers!

Travel

The tom was an adult now, but his kithood love for heroes had not diminished. Orange would learn more tricks and train on them; when the friends of the kids came over, he would happily amaze them with his superhero skills!

One night he was hard at work outside when he noticed a strange figure perched on a tree, staring at him from the darkness. He tried to ignore it and keep training; but every time he took a brief rest, he noticed the figure was still staring at him.

Was this... some sort of sinister being? Orange could not tell what this creature was, hidden amongst the leaves. He slowly approached, keeping his eyes on it. He was ready to do his moves to defend himself and his home! At the last second the creature jumped from the branch and began flying, at first it seemed like it was heading for him. Orange rolled and then lunged forwards, only to realize the villain was flying away! Orange began chasing the flying thing, rushing deeper and deeper into the forest. He rushed between trees and bushes, jumping over streams and fallen logs. However, the being got further and further away until he lost it.

New Mission

Orange tried for some hours to keep searching for it, before tiredness overtook him and he fell asleep. The next morning he woke up, realizing he was lost. But instead of panicking, he realized this was the chance for his great journey. He would sooner or later find his way back home; but in order to do it, he had to defeat the villain of course!

Orange continued walking for some weeks, until he ended in a clearing. A pretty river ran amidst lush meadows. Would this be the perfect place to set up his base? Yes! Every hero needed a cool base, and he was not the exception! Here he met the cats of Meadow Colony, and vowed to protect them!

Trivia

Interests

- ♥ Learning tricks
- ♥ Hero stories
- ♥ Feeling like he has a mission to do
- ✖ His archnemesis (the flying creature)
- ✖ Cats not taking his work seriously
- ✖ Feeling unhelpful/cats calling out him for being "too distracted"

Beliefs

- Everything will be naturally solved as he progresses on his mission
- Follow your own path, the one your heart tells you to do.
- Everything happens for a reason.
- -

Other

- Average height and build, quite fluffy. 24cm tall

- Very agile and knows lots of tricks
 - Loves thinking about superhero stories and his lore, imagining what his journey will be.
- Therefore he is quite unphased by unexpected or risky situations, seeing them as part of his mission.

Application base created by @peeperonipip

Art drawn by @EclecticSky

Character designed by @EclecticSky

Written by @MT26