Derek's Joke 2

The School of Psychology, Harvard University, conducted a study called "What really do you see?"

People were asked to focus their attention on a simple picture and then asked if they had noticed anything odd.

Now here's your chance to participate in the Harvard study.

Study the picture for about a minute; then identify anything you see that's HORRENDOUS.

The study results were as follows:

1. 100% of males failed. They were distracted by the big boobs.

2. 100% of the females also failed. They were distracted by the wide choice of doughnuts.

The correct answer:

There's a mouse on one of the doughnuts!
