My family go to the beach every weekend in the summer. We swim in the ocean usually, but sometimes we plays beach volleyball or builds sandcastles. My partner often forget to bring sunscreen, so she gets always sunburned. My brother hardly gets ever into the water because he gets cold easily. My sister always listen to music on her headphones. She talk rarely to anyone. We never brings our own food, instead we buy snacks and drinks from the stores nearby. We meet new people at the beach sometimes and we talk to them. Even if they're nice, we exchange never phone numbers to stay in touch after we leave. Always we feel tired after spending time at the beach. I sleep early and my brother go fishing sometimes. My partner and sister like to reads books under umbrellas, but they read the same book hardly ever.
