Brutes have no human rights: We found the Twitter account of Shinji Minato (murderer of Junko Furuta)

To start this post, I would like to share the suspect's account in question here: https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto

Picture 1: Potential Shinji Minato (Boy C) Twitter account.

It would specifically belong to Shinji Minato (Boy C), known as being a resident of the house where Junko Furuta's kidnapping, torture and murder was carried out. Naturally, I am aware of the seriousness of the accusations, which is why I will now review everything we know for sure about Shinji Minato, and then present the evidence that we have been gathering during this last time.

The murder of Junko Furuta was one of the most terrible crimes committed in Japan due to its brutality and the very young age of the criminals who committed it. The house where these crimes occurred belonged to the parents of Shinji Minato, who was 15 to 16 years old at the time of the crime. He received from the Tokyo District Court about 4 to 6 years in prison. However, his story continued on August 20, 2018, after stabbing a person in the neck when he had a discussion with him in the parking lot. Here I will leave an article in English about that recent incident: https://www.tokyoreporter.com/crime/man-accused-of-beating-stabbing-male-office-worker-in-kawaguchi/

Man accused of beating, stabbing male office worker in Kawaguchi

BY TOKYO REPORTER STAFF ON AUGUST 20, 2018

SAITAMA (TR) – Saitama Prefectural Police on Monday announced the arrest of a 45-year-old man for allegedly beating and stabbing a male company employee following a dispute in Kawaguchi City on Sunday, reports Kyodo News (Aug. 20).

At just before 5:30 p.m., Shinji Minato, of no known occupation, allegedly beat the victim, 32, in the right shoulder with a metal baton on a road in the Higashi Uchino area. The suspect also slashed the victim's throat with a knife.

It is important to note that it is thanks to this article that we are confirmed that Shinji Minato is 45 years old at the time of committing this crime. Later an article was written that talks more in depth about the criminal and his relationship to the murder of Junko Furuta: https://www.tokyoreporter.com/crime/junko-furuta-killer-arrested-for-attempted-murder-3-decades-later/

Picture 3: Junko Furuta: Killer arrested for attempted murder 3 decades later

In this second article we discover that Shinji Minato is also unemployed. In Japan, it is illegal to carry sharp weapons that exceed a certain length, so it was speculated at the time that there could be a penalty related to the illegal carrying of this weapons. However, for several months nothing was heard about this case, until many months later: https://www.tokyoreporter.com/japan-news/special-reports/junko-furuta-killer-again-on-trial-chaos-in-the-courtroom/

Picture 4: Junko Furuta killer again on trial: Chaos in the courtroom

Here we discover that the trial carried out against Shinji Minato was full of irregularities and that it presented very little coverage by the Japanese media. The defendant during the trial began to speak inconsistently and unclearly, citing the article:

"Much of the remainder of the hearing was filled with the incoherent ramblings of Minato, according to Friday, with the defendant claiming that the stabbing was a "fabrication"."

Shortly after this article, no more was learned about Shinji Minato or the outcome of his trial, so there was no way of knowing what was of the trial or its results for long.

However, during this time a WordPress user named A JAPANESE IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE, a resident of Japan wrote a post dedicated to the recent arrest of Shinji Minato: https://yumig.wordpress.com/2018/12/11/shinji-minatos-repeat-offence/

Picture 5: Article written by A JAPANESE IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE, dedicated to covering the recent arrest of Shinji Minato.

I would also like to take advantage of recommending a post that she had written the previous year, in which she dedicates to covering much of the information about the murder of Junko Furuta and serves as an excellent introduction for overseas people who would like to know more about the case here: https://yumig.wordpress.com/2017/01/05/the-28th-anniversary-of-the-death-of-junko-furuta/

Picture 6: Article written by A JAPANESE IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE, dedicated to covering the 28th anniversary of Junko Furuta's death.

Now back to the case, she begins to cover much of what Shinji Minato's life was like after the death of Junko Furuta and how is his relationship with his current neighbors. Among the most important data we have:

- He tried to become a muay thai fighter, but when he was booed by the public that they were able to recognize him, he decided to resign.
- He and his family moved several times in different cities after his liberation: the city of Ichikawa (Chiba Prefecture), Kyoto, Osaka and the city of Aizu (Fukushima Prefecture) before his address was unknown.
- Between 2006 and 2010 he married a foreign woman, after which he had a daughter.
- At the time in which the A JAPANESE IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE's article was published (late 2018) Shinji Minato's father had died two years ago (late 2016 or early 2017).
- He moved to the apartment where he committed his second crime recently (in June 2018). He did it alone, since by that time he had separated from his wife and had kept the custody of his daughter.

As you can imagine, Shinji Minato's neighbors had no idea who he was. However, that did not prevent them from raising a certain fear between them. Here I will leave some testimonies left by them:

"The apartment had a new manager. The monthly rent used to be about 65,000yen with only half of the apartments occupied. The new manager reduced the rent down to 39,000yen; that's when shady characters came to live there. I thought he was a Tekiya because he hang stall screens to dry, you know, those screens that go round food stalls. He did not seem to go out to work at all though. When he came out of his room, he would descend the stairs shouting. appeared vigilant. I was afraid that he might do something one day….. I wonder whether he would come back."

"He wasn't tall - only just above 160cm or so - but was muscular. His head was totally shaven and he always wore bulky T-shirts and shorts. He would suddenly speak to you about President Trump or something like that, but I avoided to interact with him as I didn't know what he was up to without even working. When a neighbor was once searching for something in his car, standing outside with the door open, he (Minato) tried to shut the door hard. Was he trying to hurt him? That neighbor was the man who lives right under him. They seemed to be having a row in the morning of the incident."

"Oh Yes. I've caused me trouble by shouting and stomping on the floor in the middle of the night. When I went to talk to him, there was no answer to my knocks. When I caught and spoke to him outside, he either diverted the topic or asked me whether I was hearing noise at night. I thought he was crazy, but somehow the noise stopped to my relief. Then the stabbing happened —- I was astounded. To think that I could have been stabbed —- I am very scared."

For many years, this was the last flow of information we had from Shinji Minato. And the worst part was that it looked like he had gotten away with it.

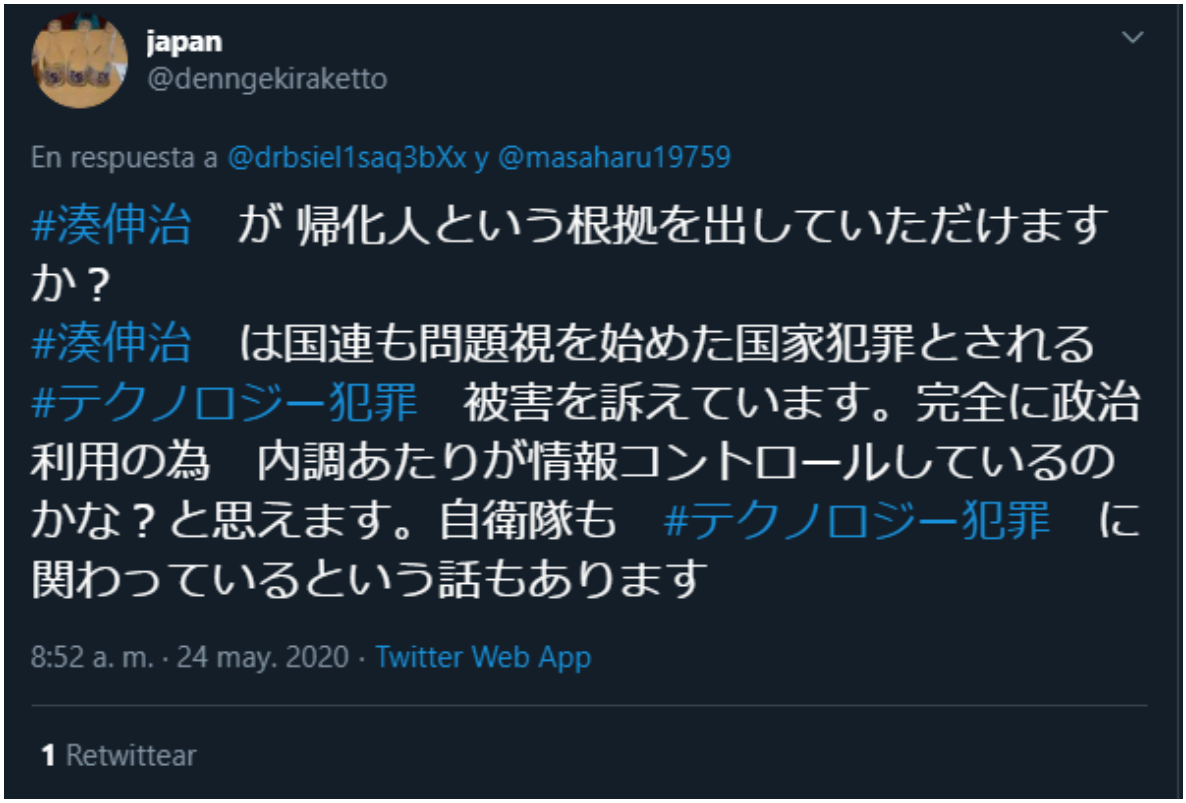

However, everything changed in mid-2020, when a member of our team came up with the name of an account after looking around in Japanese-speaking sites: denngekiraketto

It was not a great clue, but it was worth checking out, however, the more it was investigated in that account, the more suspicious it became. The first thing one notices on this Twitter account is the unusual number of tweets dedicated to Shinji Minato, he is not dedicated to writing about the other murderers or those responsible for the crime, he is only dedicated to writing exclusively about Shinji Minato and nobody else. Here I will leave some photos of said tweets (a quick review of many of his current tweets can demonstrate this point):

While this was highly unusual, it would not be the first time that there have been people who feel a certain fascination against a murderer. It is known that in Japan a cannibal and murderer became a kind of local celebrity. Maybe the same thing is happening here with them. However, the content of the posts was strangely familiar: https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto/status/1258851947597053953

Picture 7: Translation: # Shinji Minato is unrelated to any political party, Soka Gakkai, Communist Party. I've been living seriously for over 20 years after being released. These tweets were suspiciously aligned with much of the data we know so far from Shinji Minato. As we saw earlier, he was charging that the evidence that he had stabbed someone in the neck was

"fabrication" against him. In addition to that during the trial he spoke and behaved inconsistently. Now in these tweets we can see how denngekiraketto expresses that Shinji Minato has been living a "serious life", fighting against the United Nations and the technological crimes it commits, and that he has a "great feeling of justice and duty towards humanity" . However, an important fact mentioned here is that denngekiraketto considers the evidence against Shinji Minato to be the work of a group, the same type of argument that Shinji gave during his trial. In addition, it is also clear that denngekiraketto is a believer in Qanon, this is a vitally important fact since some of Shinji Minato neighbors had mentioned that he was spending a lot of time talking about Donald Trump:

"He would suddenly speak to you about President Trump or something like that, but I avoided to interact with him as I didn't know what he was up to without even working"

Now for those unfamiliar with Qanon, this is a very popular conspiracy theory among Donald Trump fans. Not to mention also that this Twitter account is also a Trump fan: https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto/status/1027403385043992576

Picture 10: Translation: If you want to know what the Trump administration wants to do, please understand Donald Trump's inauguration speech and Japanese subtitles https://youtube . com/watch?v=B_Pwi9lyfHQ from around 4 minutes 10 seconds I think you can. First of all, I think it is necessary to know the world to know Japan.

After this evidence, we concluded that at this point it was worth getting to review each and every one of the tweets that this account had published just to be sure. It was thanks to this that we found 2 very important data. The first was that Shinji Minato and denngekiraketto had lost their father the same year: https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto/status/1231786084922560513

Picture 11: Translation: My father died of pancreatic cancer three years ago. One month later, my brother was admitted to a mental hospital in an assault case, was arrested again in the summer of 2018, and was admitted to the mental hospital. Mothers also have symptoms like electromagnetic hypersensitivity. I suddenly felt electrical numbness at the end of March 2017. At the same time, the LED lighting responded.

This Tweet was written in early 2020, which would indicate that denngekiraketto's father died in early 2017 or late 2016, the same estimated date as the death of Shinji Minato's father.

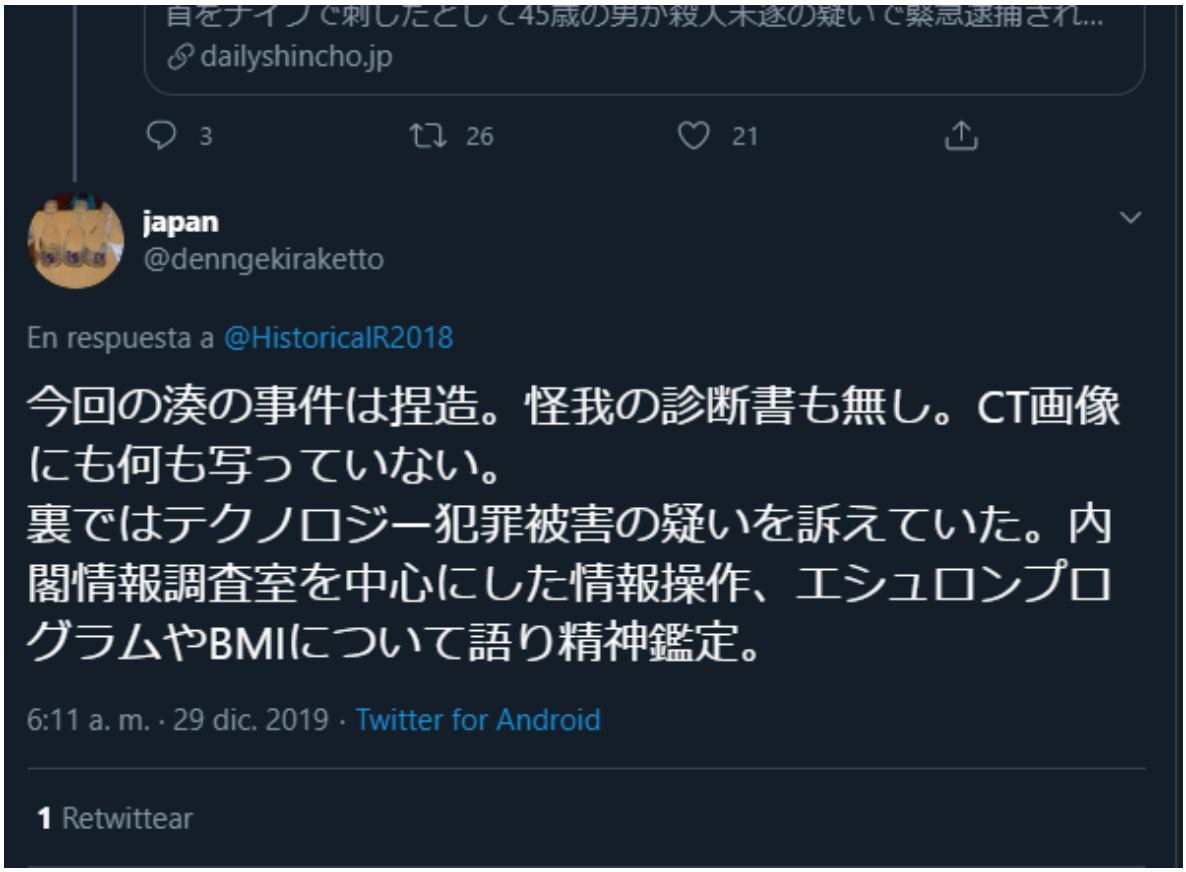

The second major clue we got came from reviewing his posts, specifically their dates:

Picture 12: More than 1 year of inactivity.

The account, until before August 19, 2018 was quite normal. There was nothing remarkable about it. However, August 20 of that same year was a very special day, because as you will remember it was the date that Shinji Minato was arrested for stabbing someone in the neck.

On December 29, 2019, the first publication he dedicated after several months of absence was: https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto/status/1211213047957606400

Picture 13: Translation: The case of Minato this time is fabrication. No medical certificate for injury. There is nothing in the CT image. Behind the scenes, he was accused of being a victim of technology crime. Psychological evaluation by talking about information manipulation, Echelon program and BMI centered on the Cabinet Information Research Office.

Now at this point many may be wondering: If Shinji Minato had been arrested for stabbing someone in the neck, how come they released him so fast that he could be on Twitter in late 2019? Sadly, the answer is that Shinji Minato's sentence had ended at the end of 2019. On November 22, 2019, an article was published where Shinji's sentence was finally published: https://blog.goo.ne.jp/he4n/e/a8dd863669b6cac9b306da80d7259112?fbclid=IwAR3sW4PoDwkVTpPX0EuqKMcFTnD1NXpBL1HfTdNrU9C5HddeDN-nB3KsGQ4

Picture 14: [Judgment] Imprisonment for one year in June, 250 days of detained days were included in the sentence, and the sentence was suspended for three years (probation) + litigation costs accused by the defendant.

He received a sentence of only 250 days, plus 3 years of probation and having to pay the court costs of the accused. After almost three decades of having tortured, raped and murdered Junko Furuta, after demonstrating to the Japanese justice system that in the end he learned nothing of his crimes, and after almost killing another person, he only received 250 days in prison.

By this point, we were almost certain to have found one of Junko Furuta's killers. However, due to the importance of our accusations, it was our obligation to exhaust every possible doubt of the equation. We were to hear evidence of HIMSELF. That is why for almost a month we deployed a series of different false accounts occupying different roles, so that we could earn his trust with one of us... and in the end we did it.

Under a false narrative, we managed to convince Shinji Minato to speak to us on July 1, 2020, we will first leave a record of the interview as it was written:

The obvious thing

10:07 PM

Interviewer: This case is on the agenda again and I help you because you helped me when this happened

Interviewer: Are u shinji

Interviewer: U can speak ur main language

10:09 PM

Interviewer: There is a group created for junko. The group has dozens of retired soldiers. They want to come to Japan and kill the addicted murderer. But I can help you.

Interviewer: I don't want anyone to die.

10:10 PM

denngekiraketto: Shinji Minato regrets about Junko Furuta.

10:12 PM

Interviewer: Are you Shinji?

Interviewer: I understand u its okay

10:13 PM

Interviewer: But there is a lot of false information. The lawsuit, known as 44 days across Europe, is exaggerated. There are many Russian citizens trying to kill you. I know the case is 40 days. I wanted to ask questions and get the right information denngekiraketto: I reflect on the case. It is used by the nation and also receives electric harassment.

10:13 PM

10:15 PM

Interviewer: Younger people can do bad things

Interviewer: He is ur dad

Interviewer: ?

Interviewer: I cant understand

Interviewer: you protect him too much. is it one of your family

Interviewer: or are you but how do you write from prison

10:16 PM

denngekiraketto: Not in prison

10:18 PM

Interviewer: Okay

Interviewer: Are u shinji minato then

Interviewer: İts okay u can tell me

Interviewer: I will keep your private because you trusted me

10:19 PM

denngekiraketto: Thank you

10:20 PM

Interviewer: I will not blame your mistakes in the past. You were just a child. I just want to learn what is being said right

Interviewer: Your welcome

Interviewer: How old are u boş

Interviewer: How old are u now?

10:20 PM

denngekiraketto: 47

10:22 PM

Interviewer: Do u have child or wife

Interviewer: Ah okay

Interviewer: Are you still seeing other murderers

Interviewer: (Picture of Ai Ijima)

Interviewer: Everyone talked about this woman and her relationship to the case

10:23 PM

denngekiraketto: Ai Iijima does not know denngekiraketto: Nothing at all

10:24 PM

Interviewer: peki gerçekten 40 gün boyunca işkence ettiniz mi

Interviewer: Sorry

Interviewer: Did you really torture for 40 days

10:24 PM

denngekiraketto: I didn't even think she was hungry

10:24 PM

Interviewer: According to sources, more than 700 times she was raped with the yakuza

10:25 PM

denngekiraketto: It is true that they rape her

10:26 PM

Interviewer: 700?

10:26 PM

denngekiraketto: It is not true that more than 700 times she have been raped for the yakuza

10:27 PM

Interviewer: Do you know about other killer? Are you still meeting?

10:27 PM

Interviewer: Ah okay

10:27 PM

denngekiraketto: I do not know

10:28 PM

Interviewer: Can you give me information that no one knows

10:28 PM

Interviewer: I am just curious

10:31 PM

Interviewer: I didn't want to say anything bad

Interviewer: I just want to learn

10:31 PM

denngekiraketto: I talked about everything in the police

10:32 PM

Interviewer: I wanted to learn from you for a grandmother who lived at the event personally, but incident files are everywhere.

10:34 PM

Interviewer: https://t. co/DUas5q1crX?amp=1

Interviewer: Lol

Interviewer: Look*

10:36 PM

denngekiraketto: This was no a murder. But I was cruel

10:38 PM

Interviewer: After all, you were there at that moment. How was your feeling You may not regret it. Maybe if you go back in the past, you'll do it again. After all, there are socio-emotional people and we can't blame them for being socio-emotional Interviewer: For example, Richard Ramirez is a serial killer I love.

Interviewer: He have a lot of fan

10:41 PM

denngekiraketto: Exposed weak oneself

10:44 PM

Interviewer: Why do you still live in Japan You can go from Japan and build a new life

Interviewer: Do u have child too?

Interviewer: You are married and have a bio (?)

10:44 PM

denngekiraketto: No children, no marriage (He has been divorced for many years now, and has not seen his wife and daughter since)

10:46 PM

Interviewer: When you say I have a family, are you talking about your mom and dad?

Interviewer: If I were you, I would go from Japan to another country.

10:47 PM

denngekiraketto: My mother and my brother are interested in other countries

10:50 PM

Interviewer: Ah

Interviewer: So are other murderers doing your crime when your life is so bad?

Interviewer: According to the information I received, most of them had a good life.

Interviewer: But u have bad life

Interviewer: Cause this murder case denngekiraketto: I can't read the text. My life is bad.

10:51 PM

10:52 PM

Interviewer: While you are living a bad life, your other friends who are involved in crime live a very good life. do you know this

10:56 PM

denngekiraketto: I don't know anything about other people

10:57 PM

Interviewer: I know

Interviewer: They are happy And rich

Interviewer: Poor u

10:58 PM

denngekiraketto: I have electric harassment

I'm not feeling well

10:59 PM

Interviewer: where are you now

10:59 PM

denngekiraketto: I am at home

11:00 PM

Interviewer: Is the cops hurt you now?

Interviewer: How then they torture you electrically denngekiraketto: I don't know who, but it’s hurt (Shinji Minato has delusions that electricity and 5G are weakening him. In his Tweets he usually mentions this very often)

11:00 PM

11:01 PM

Interviewer: How

Interviewer: Were you injured

11:02 PM

denngekiraketto: Electrical numbness, sleeplessness, etc.

denngekiraketto: I'm not particularly hurt

11:05 PM

Interviewer: how can I help you?

Interviewer: If I put a help tag for you, most people want to kill you, so people will want to kill you.

Interviewer: People don't help you and they want you to suffer more like an addiction.

11:08 PM

denngekiraketto: Electric harassment is a crime

11:08 PM

Interviewer: Yes i know but

11:10 PM

Interviewer: You and your friend eventually killed and tortured her, does anyone care about her rights etc.

Interviewer: All them said like that denngekiraketto: What about other victims of electric harassment?

11:11 PM

11:13 PM

Interviewer: I am sorry i just want to try my best

Interviewer: But sometimes i cant denngekiraketto: I regret what I did. What do you think about the state committing crimes and living in concession?

11:22 PM

11:24 PM

Interviewer: how can I help you?

11:25 PM

denngekiraketto: What do you think about electric harassment?

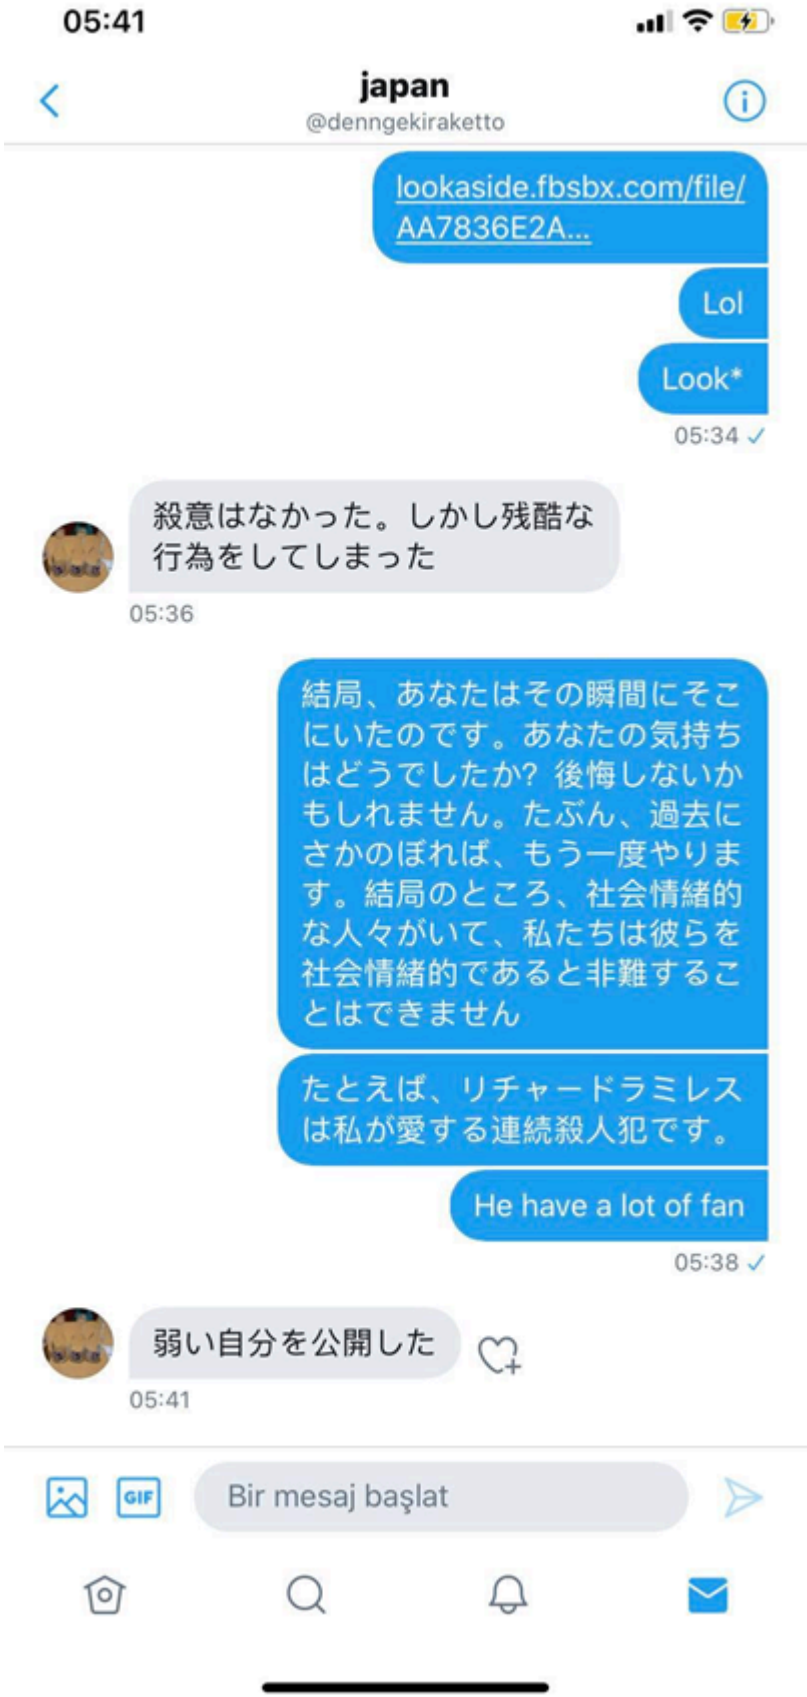

Among the most important points of said interview are:

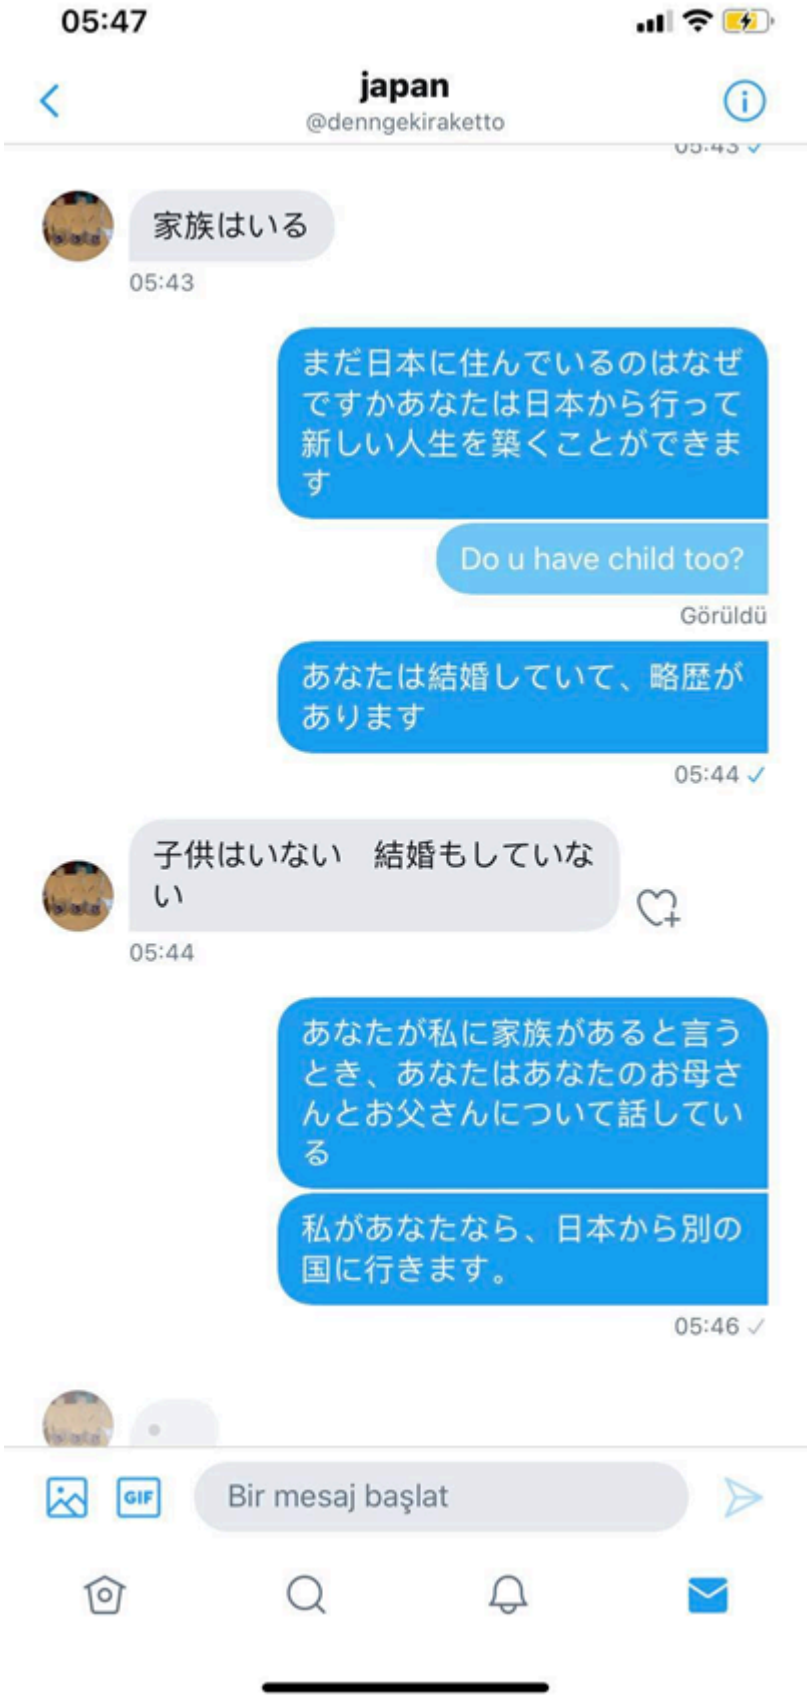

- User denngekiraketto is 47 years old (let's remember that Shinji Minato was 45 years old when he was arrested in 2018, 2 years ago).
- Ai Iijima, a famous actress in Japan who is often blamed as an accomplice to the kidnapping of Junko Furuta, it seems that she was not really involved after all.

- And the most important of all is that the denngekiraketto account really does belong to Shinji Minato, this user never denies at any time having participated in the murder of Junko Furuta, and also confessed it in this interview.

I would also like to leave some visual records of the interview in question:

As a separate point, the denngekiraketto account also recently uploaded a photo on its Twitter account, about a video dedicated to the memory of Junko Furuta (apparently, he likes to revisit the case from time to time): https://twitter.com/denngekiraketto/status/1286457445749948416

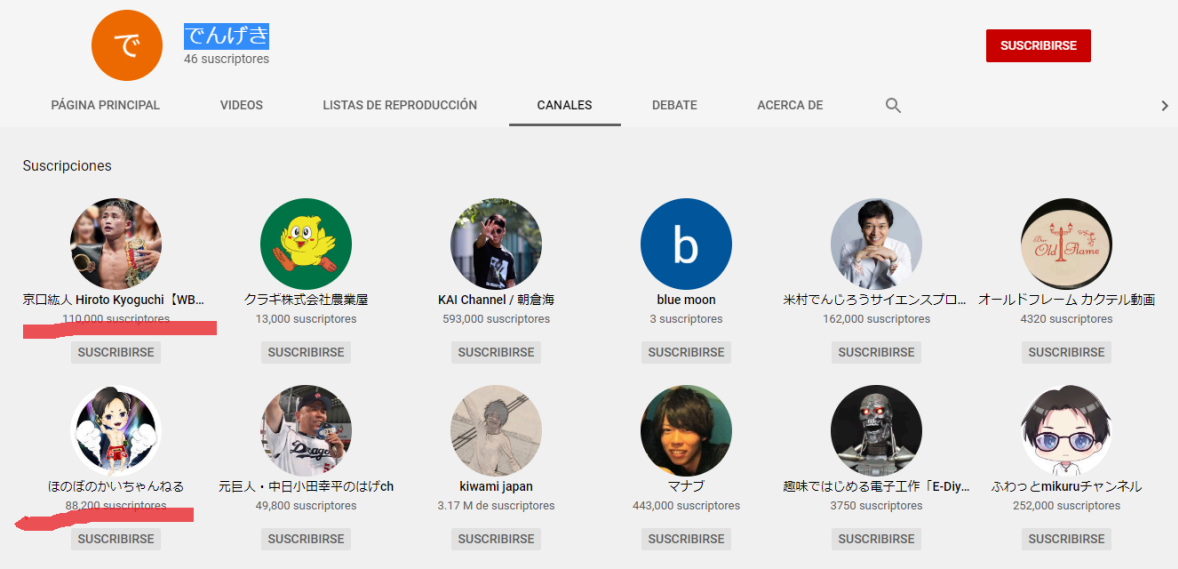

Picture 15: Translation: #Technology Crime When a victim raises an incident, he/she will create a forgery case without recognizing the other party's fault, even if he/she is ridiculous. It seems that there is a strong possibility of being targeted, as some groups are provoking crime. Japanese justice is pretty rotten

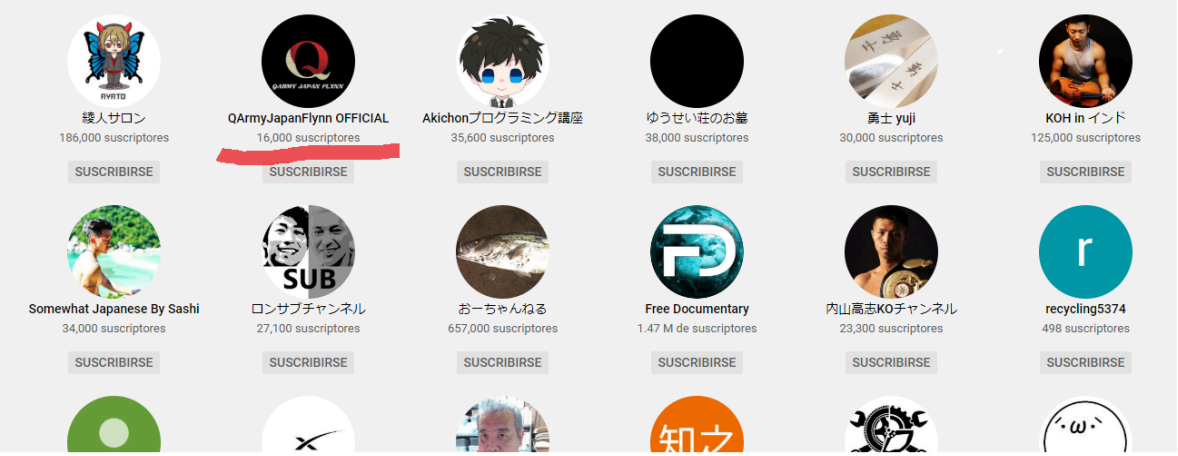

The interesting thing about this image is that he shows what could well be the icon of his YouTube channel. This had a character 'で' as the beginning of its name, in addition to being orange. With this track in hand, we started looking for potential channels on YouTube matching this description. To begin, we look for the meaning of denngekiraketto in Japanese, which translates as でんげきらけっと (Electricity). The character で was repeated again, so it was expected that its channel should mean eletricity in Japanese. Now, at last we could find his channel on YouTube, using the first characters 'で ん' we searched among the different accounts looking for the one that matched all the descriptions. Until we find it: https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCcaLvKg-YvWiWNJU3MATdMw

This YouTube channel is called でんげき, which can be translated as Electricity. But it was not the only evidence, it was also that the channel is dedicated to talking about electronics (a fairly common topic in denngekiraketto's tweets), and as if that weren't enough this channel was subscribed to a boxing channel and another dedicated to QArmyJapan (Both would be topics of interest to Shinji Minato, after leaving prison he wanted to be a professional wrestler and QAnon's theories have been of interest to him at least since 2018):

Picture 16: で ん げ き is subscribed to several boxing channels.

Picture 17: で ん げ き is subscribed to a channel dedicated to QAnon.

With this at least it is safe to say that the denngekiraketto's and でんげき accounts would be related.

So to end this extensive post, I would like to declare that within this research group we share the same pain and grief that many of you surely feel for this particular case. Junko Furuta was a girl who fought until the last minute for her right to live and be happy, and to see that in the end she had to die while murderers like Shinji Minato are still alive is undoubtedly a greater form of injustice within modern history. Almost 30 years have passed since that crime, and Shinji Minato still remains a public threat to his neighbors and everyone around him. Here we firmly believe that the decision of the magazine Shukan Bunshun (週刊 文 春) to publish the names of the criminals, knowing that they would receive light penalties for their crime was the correct one. And it is for this action that we firmly maintain that our duty, knowing the information we handle, is to publish this information equally so that it reaches the largest number of people possible on the internet.

We would like to thank all those who were able to make the existence of this post possible: To all the members of our team who spent so many weeks researching the Shinji Minato account for this research, to JAPANESE IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE for allowing the Junko Furuta's case could reach foreign countries, Tokyo Reporter for being one of the few sites on the internet to have covered the recent crime of Shinji Minato, all the people around the world who have been interested in the case and who to this day and await justice for the victim, and especially, we would like to thank Junko Furuta herself, her courage and effort in life was what inspired us to carry out this investigation to the end. This report is both ours and hers and we sincerely hope that it can bring her justice in the end.
