

Shadow Lamp

(from Unearthed Arcana)

This mundane light radiates a faint, evil dweomer. If it is fueled by oil rendered from fat of human corpses, its beam generates 1d4+4 shadows who serve the possessor of the device for as long as it burns. When the oil is consumed, the shadows disappear. Typical burning time is one hour. Note: Characters of good alignment lose experience points equal to the value of these items if they do not destroy them on recognition.
