

Introduction of Li Guidan's Hawk III

Li Guidan's Hawk III

Li Guidan (1914-1938) was from Xinmin, Liaoning Province. As a soldier in the Chinese Air Force, Li Guidan fought bravely against the enemy during WWII. Together with Gao Zhihang, Liu Zigang and Le Yiqin, he was known as one of the "Four Aces" of the Chinese Air Force. In the air battles at the beginning of the war, he shot down 8 Japanese planes and had a brilliant record. He was awarded the Order of The Cloud and Banner(2nd Class) by the Chinese Government. In the Battle defending Wuhan, due to the death of Gao Zhihang, Li Guidan was promoted to the position of Acting Captain of the 4th Air Force Brigade, and he alone shot down 3 Japanese planes, but was unfortunately hit by the Japanese during the fierce battle and died a heroic death at the age of 24. Also martyred were Lv Jicun, Ba Qingzheng, Wang Yizhi, Li Pengxiang and other martyrs.

Camo of his Hawk III can be referred to here:

<https://www.bilibili.com/video/av458255018/>