

Community Guidelines

The Clay Slay Studio created by and for the queer and LGBTQAI+ Community. We want to invest and offer a place where people can express themselves freely without judgement and be creative together.

The baseline is:

If you respect everyone in this space, you're welcome.

Existing as a queer individual has gotten political, so this Atelier is political as a direct consequence. In this Atelier, the joy of the LGBTQAI+ Community and working with clay is the center. Only with joy can we fight hate.

Be mindful of how you talk to each other, don't assume gender, sexuality or identity.

When you chat with the people around you keep in mind that everyone can listen. Topics about diets, hate, assault or other hardships of life might affect the people around you.

Jokes: if you do a joke at the expense of a minority group/people, it's not funny.

There will be no alcohol served, however the consumption of alcohol (and food) is allowed. If you have a pet let us know, animals are allowed. You are allowed to leave at any time. There is a second room you're allowed to use at any time. If you wish to leave, you don't need to deliver an explanation.
