

Decorating Tips Picking Out Wall Art

When it comes to decorating our home it can be a hard decision. One of the hardest things to pick out can be the Wall art. Normally there are bedrooms and a living room and even a kitchen to handle. Today we will look at a few easy steps to make this decision a little less stress full, more enjoyable overall. Shopping for wall art room by room can be easier by knowing the themes each room has, the purpose of the room and what you want to do with it. Here are a few steps to follow to help.

Choose it by the type of room.

1. Will this room be used as host social event and gatherings?
2. Do you want this room to have a relaxing and peacefully feel to it?

3. Will this room be where you do your hobbies or activities in?

4. Maybe this will be your kid's room or where they play?

Picking out a theme, style, color of the custom wall art has to have a purpose behind it and which room you intend to put it in.

Here are some popular recommend art styles to think about for each type.

A.A nice photo of a landscape and scenery will bring the room a nice and calming effect in your bedroom to help you relax a lot more.

B.Colorful prints and bright colors like very cartoonish feeling art will be great for a kid's room.

C.Wall art can be Hobby art in a way expressing yourself. Example would be gardening, or Wall Art with many types of decorative flowers and colors.

D.Rustic and Food art, such as water melons, are very good for kitchens.

Consider your lifestyle

Consider if you have a family with children and what is safe for the little ones. Smaller and lighter pieces are more suitable. Big bulky pieces of art are more likely to be broken or knocked over.

Select an art style

There are types of styles to choose from. It really just comes down to personal taste and the theme that you are trying to build around. Just take your time and shop room by room and match it up with the furniture you have or will get, as well the rest of the decor in the room. I hope this will help you feel a little more at ease when shopping for new Wall Art.
