I Notice

I notice it is very green
 I notice river
 I notice many deciduous trees
 I notice the pond in the background
 I notice a very manicured/manmade setting
 I notice the green grass, leaves
 I notice that the water level seems to be quite high.
 I notice a long dock across the pond.
 I notice big fluffy clouds
 I notice a rock with a plaque on it
 I notice it is very flat
 I notice the water if very high
 I notice a ramada
 I notice a house near the park
 I notice that there are shaded areas so the sun must be shining
 I notice a swinging bench

I Wonder	 I wonder what kinds of fish inhabit the pond and if they allow boats.  I wonder what animals live here  I wonder what the water quality is  I wonder what species the tree are  I wonder what the plaque says  I wonder if the person living at the park visit often  I wonder if was always flat  I wonder if the water level is where it usually is, or whether this is cause for concern.  I wonder what the weather has been like and if there was any flooding within the park or along the river  I wonder how clean the water is  I wonder  I wonder if people can use the pond to fish or swim  I wonder if the pond is man made or natural.  I wonder what the marker is reminding people of.  I wonder why the river is called fox river  I wonder if the river floods
It Reminds Me Of	 It reminds me of summer  It reminds me of a song called Mirror Lake.  It reminds me of a park in Chicago that I used to go to.  It reminds me of living of the NE  It reminds me of our Riverside Park in Mauston when the river gets high and the playground equipment gets wet.  It reminds me of the river by my mom's house. It flooded recently because of significant rainfall  It reminds me of Hingiss Park in Kiel where the river is no longer healthy
