

Creating Directions with Anatomical Terms

Your goal is to create a set of directions using anatomical terms to direct a fellow student to a particular location in the classroom. Write your location here :_____.(Do not show the person your location)

You will write at least five steps to get your fellow student to the correct location using anatomical terms.(Ex: Go the superior region of the arm- answer is the shoulder) The classroom is divided like a person in an anatomical position. The teacher will instruct you where the cranium, feet, arms, and hands are located around the room.
