- 3) State status of the country.
- 4) Problems of the country.

V. Read and translate the text.

Canada is the second largest country in the world. Canada is situated in North America. Canada is slightly¹ larger than the United States, but has only about a tenth as many people. About 28 million people live in Canada. About 80% of the population live within 320 km of the southern border. Much of the rest of Canada is uninhabited² or thinly populated³ because of severe natural conditions⁴.

Canada is a federation of 10 provinces and 2 territories. Canadian flag has a red maple leaf⁵ on a white field with red edges. Canada is an independent nation. But according to the Constitution Act of 1982 British Monarch, Queen Elizabeth II of the United Kingdom is recognized⁶ as Queen of Canada. This symbolizes the country's strong ties⁷ to Britain. Canada was ruled⁸ by Britain completely until 1867, when Canada gained⁹ control of its domestic affairs¹⁰. Britain governed Canada's foreign affairs¹¹ until 1931, when Canada gained full independence.

Canada's people are varied. About 57% of all Canadians have some English ancestry¹² and about 32% have some French ancestry. Both English and French are official languages of the country. French Canadians, most of whom live in the province of Quebec, have kept the language and customs of their ancestors¹³. Other large ethnic groups are German, Irish and Scottish people. Native people – American Indians and Eskimos – make up¹⁴ about 2% of the country's population. 77% of Canada's people live in cities or towns. Toronto and Montreal are the largest urban¹⁵ areas. Ottawa is the capital of the country. Today, maintaining¹⁶ a sense of community is one of the major problems in Canada because of differences among the provinces and territories. Many Canadians in western and eastern parts of the country feel that the federal government does not pay enough attention¹⁷ to their problems. 80% of Quebec's population are French Canadians. Many of them believe that their province should receive a special recognition¹⁸ in the Canadian Constitution.

5. fishing grounds – рибні місця
6. deposits – поклади
7. wheat – пшениця
8. oats – овес
9. barley – ячмінь
10. lack – нестача
11. struggled – прагнули
12. preserve – зберігати, дотримувати(ся)

IV. Read and translate the text.

Canada's history is an exciting story of development of a vast wilderness¹ into a great nation. Most experts believe that the first people who lived on this land came from Asia about 15000 years ago. They came over a land bridge² that once connected Asia and North America. Their descendants³ are known today as Indians. The ancestors of the Eskimos came to Alaska after them probably about 5000 years ago.

In 1497, John Cabot, an Italian navigator⁴ in the service of England, found rich fishing grounds⁵ off Canada's southeast coast. His discovery led to the European exploration of Canada. France set up a colony in eastern Canada in the early 1600's. Great Britain gained control of the country in 1763, and thousands of British emigrants came to Canada. In 1867, the French and English-speaking Canadians helped to create a united colony called the Dominion of Canada. Two groups worked together to settle the country and to develop its great mineral deposits⁶ and other natural resources.

Canada gained its independence from Britain in 1931. During the middle of 20th century, hard-working Canadians turned their country into an economic giant. Today Canada is a leading producer of wheat⁷, oats⁸, and barley⁹. Canada also ranks among the world's top manufacturing countries, and it is a major producer of electric power.

Throughout its history, Canada has often been troubled by lack¹⁰ of unity among its people. French Canadians, most of whom live in the province of Quebec, have struggled¹¹ to preserve¹² their own culture. They have long been angered by Canadian policies based on British traditions. Many of them support a movement to make Quebec a separate nation. People in Canada's nine other provinces also frequently favour local needs over national interests.

New Zealand is an island country in the Southwest Pacific Ocean. It lies about 1.600km southeast of Australia and about 10500 km southwest of California. New Zealand belongs to a large island group called Polynesia. The country is situated on two main islands – the North Island and the South Island – and several dozen smaller islands. Most of the smaller islands are hundreds of kilometers from the main ones.

Wellington is the capital of New Zealand and Auckland is the largest city. English is the official language of New Zealand and is spoken throughout the country. Many native people speak their own language, Maori, in addition to English.

The country once belonged to the British Empire. Today it is an independent member of the Commonwealth of Nations, an association of Britain and a number of its former colonies.

New Zealand is a constitutional monarchy. The British Monarch, Queen Elizabeth II of the United Kingdom, is the monarch of New Zealand. She appoints a governor general¹ to represent her, but the governor general has little power. The legislation², Prime Minister, and Cabinet run³ the national government.

Britain gave New Zealand a constitution in 1852, when it was a British colony. But through the years the New Zealand legislature has changed almost all its provisions. Today, the nation has no written constitution. The flag has small British flag in the left upper corner and the Southern Cross on blue field symbolizing the sea.

The first people who settled in New Zealand were a brown-skinned people called Maoris. They came from Polynesian islands located northeast of New Zealand. The country was discovered by Europeans in 1642, but they did not start to settle in the islands until the late 1700's. Today, most New Zealanders are descendants of the early European settlers. Maoris make up about 12% of the country's population.

New Zealand has one of the highest standard of living in the world. For many years, the economy of the country depended largely on agriculture. Today agriculture, manufacturing⁴, and service industries⁵ are all important to the economy. New Zealand's economy depends on trade with many countries – Australia, Britain, Japan and the United States.
