Greetings <name>,

Your website caught my attention while I was perusing YouTube for life coaching videos. Your program on your site not only provides valuable resources and tools for aspiring life coaches, but it also creates a supportive community where members can learn from each other.

Your channel caught my attention while I was perusing YouTube for life coaching videos, and I have to say the strategies you present about life coaching are spot on!

Now I see why they want you to become their mentor.

Your YouTube channel left a lasting impression on me, which led me to visit your website where I noticed an area that could be improved.

This area is implementing a newsletter sign-up or email update feature for your readers.

So, I wrote a newsletter that uses strategies to best attract your audience's attention with unanswered questions that only signing up can solve.

In case you're intrigued, I would be delighted to provide you with valuable pointers on creating a newsletter that can genuinely elevate your website.

All the best,
