

Jocasta Nu - September 2025

Jocasta Nu, the Chief Librarian of the Jedi Order on Coruscant who considered herself the gatekeeper of all Jedi knowledge.

She survived Order 66 and went into hiding. She tried to preserve what little teachings she could about the Jedi Order with her assistant Gar, in the hopes of creating her own Jedi school to ensure that the Order remained alive.

She infiltrated the temple on Coruscant to find a holocron containing a list of force sensitive children. She was stopped by Darth Vader, she told him that Sidious would use that list to train an army of dark side warriors. Feeling threatened, Vader destroyed the holocron before killing Jocasta.

Repudiation.

A relic from before the Ruusan Reformation. Officially, it meant rejecting a concept as unauthorized or as having no binding force to a particular individual or contract. In practice it translated as being completely disowned from one's lineage. Feemor had taken each day following his former master's repudiation one step at a time, content to simply melt into the stacks of the Temple Archives and disappear into obscurity. Yet when he meets a youngling slated to be the next piece in Yoda's plan for Qui-Gon Jinn, he finds that maybe the Force has more in store for him than he originally thought.

Darth Bane - October 2025

He was the last surviving member of the Brotherhood of Darkness and Dark Lord of the Sith after the Jedi-Sith Wars. Bane recognized that Sith infighting had weakened them to the point that the Jedi could destroy them. To rectify this, Bane reformed the Sith and created the Rule of Two, mandating that there could be only two Sith - a Master and an apprentice.
