President Gerald R. Ford Was Interested in UFOs

He apparently had interest in UFOs because he asked about them as a Congressman, Vice President and 38th President. Congressman Gerald R. Ford stated, "The American public deserves a better explanation than that thus far given by the U. S. Air Force. In 1966, Michigan experienced hundreds of UFO sightings and reports by dozens of students of a weird dancing light produced quite a furor. To handle the demands for an explanation the Air Force held a quickly arranged news conference where J. Allen Hynek, an astronomy advisor to Project Blue book, made a statement he would regret the rest of his life. He declared that a sighting made by Frank Mannor on March 16, 1966, in Dexter, Michigan was probably "swamp gas." The comment made Hynek an instant celebrity. One of those who came to the help of the public in their demands for answers from the government was House Republican leader Gerald Ford, who would later become 38th President. Like any good Congressman Ford came to the defense of his constituents.

"In the firm belief that the American public deserves a better explanation than that thus far given by the Air Force, I strongly recommend that there be a committee investigation of the UFO phenomena. I think we owe it to the people to establish credibility regarding UFOs and to produce the greatest possible enlightenment of the subject."

"I have taken special interest in these (UFO) accounts because many of the latest reported sightings have been made in my home state of Michigan...Because I think there may be substance to some of these reports and because I believe The American people are entitled to a more thorough explanation than has been given them by the Air force to date, I am proposing either the Science and Astronautics Committee or the Armed services Committee of the House, schedule hearings on the subject of UFOs and invite testimony from both the executive branch of the Government and some of the persons who claim to have seen UFOs...In the firm belief that the American public deserves a better explanation than that thus far given by the Air Force, I strongly recommend that there be a committee investigation of the UFO phenomena. I think we owe it to the people to establish credibility regarding UFOs and to produce the greatest possible enlightenment on this subject."

Ford's letter was passed on to the House Armed Services committee and the House Science and Astronautics Committee in hopes that one of the two groups would hold hearings. Neither would do anything to start. One member of the Science and technology Committee explained that as he knew the Air Force didn't come under his jurisdiction. Ford then asked the committee if flying saucers were under their jurisdiction and received no reply. The Armed Services Committee on the other hand thought that there might be troubles holding hearing. It had been tried before and never took place. The House Committee on Foreign Affairs did take up the issue in response to the call for hearing made by Ford. It was not the full hearings that Ford had asked for but it was an airing of the issue in public. Committee representative Cornelius E. Gallagher had questions for President Johnson's Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

McNamara stated: Of course we have an interest in it. We treat each of these reports as though it were a report of a sincere individual, and we seek to find the explanation of what it was that led to the report. It is our responsibility to defend the country against potential aggressors. We don't know what form the aggression might take. We recognize the possibility that it might take a different form than anyone has anticipated in the past. I have complete confidence in the Air Force's objectivity in this area. If anything the investigations are more extensive than actually required.

Gallagher: Is there anything at all to any of this?

McNamara: I think not. I have talked to the Secretary of the Air Force and the (AF) Director of Research and Engineering, and neither of them place any real credence in the reports they have received to date. Snip Thanks to Frank Warren

Alien Bases on the Moon

Strange things have been seen on the moon for centuries -- usually flashes of light or color, or lights that appear to move across the lunar surface. These are known as transient lunar phenomena (TLP), and many of the reports, dating from 1540 to 1969, have been cataloged by NASA. Thousands of UFO reports indicate the craft are either based on Earth or relatively nearby. The Air Force radars pick up "Uncorrelated targets," those not contained in their database on a regular basis. Often UFOs are filmed by our shuttles entering and leaving our atmosphere.

"Walter Schirra aboard Mercury 8 was the first of the astronauts to use the code name 'Santa Claus' to indicate the presence of flying saucers next to his space capsule on October 3, 1962.

James Lovell on board the Apollo 8 command module came out from behind the moon on Christmas Day 1968, he said for everybody to hear: 'Please be informed that there is a Santa Claus.'

In the Sea of Fertility Magelhaens A Crater is a 32-kilometer in diameter located at 12.6 south latitude, 45 east longitude. In its center are huge structures four by three kilometers square at base, and better than one and a half km.tall. The sun is the east.

The structure to the left center implies ramps leading up to launching facilities. Notice the double line leading towards the left and right from the central area the object sits on, which is indicative of a "causeway". The central complex is surrounded by various straight lines not found in nature, indicating intelligent design and similar to archaeological ruins here on Earth.

Recently Buzz Aldrin announced on TV, that when Apollo 11 visited the Moon their capsule was accompanied by a UFO. According to Apollo 11 transcripts of the technical debriefing following the mission, astronauts Armstrong, Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin and Michael Collins told of an encounter with a large cylindrical UFO even before reaching the moon. "We called the ground and were told the S-IV Booster was 6,000 miles away." Aldrin described the UFO as a cylinder while Armstrong said it was "...really two rings. Two connected rings." As they circled the moon, Armstrong saw a mysterious bright florescence light on the inner wall of the crater Aristarchus.

Later when they landed, Neil Armstrong took the first step on the Moon on July 21, 1969, it seemed that mankind had finally conquered our closest neighbor. During the next three years, six missions to the moon were made and a total of twelve astronauts walked on the moon. Almost all saw strange artifacts or UFOs indicating some type of alien presence. It seems logical that we would have established a permanent Moon base for scientific study. The former Soviet Union carried out its scheduled lunar exploration and then quietly sidelined its projects suggesting we were warned to stay away.

It is only recently that plans have been announced for a new expedition and a base to be constructed on the moon, even so, most of the work will be done with robots and humans will not actually return to the moon until 2018.

The idea the moon could be an alien base sounds unreasonable; unless you start listening to some of the astronaut statements and realize radars, cameras, and electronic signals are picking up these objects in space on a regular basis. The Moon is known to have valuable minerals and sources of energy.

There is more evidence to support the alien base theory. Radio transmissions between the Armstrong and mission control was broadcast live, "We have company" before NASA officials hurriedly pulled the plug. A variety of sources claim that radio hams picked up the following communication before the crew switched to a secure channel."

"These babies are huge, Sir...enormous....Oh, God, you wouldn't believe it! I'm telling you there are other spacecraft out there...lined up on the far side of the crater edge...they're on the moon watching us..."

Apollo 14 Astronaut Edgar Mitchell the sixth man to walk on the Moon, openly claims the other astronauts saw amazing objects on the Moon and told him what they had seen.

We have supporting statements by Otto Binder, Dr. Garry Henderson and Maurice Chatelain that the astronauts were under strict orders not to discuss their sightings. Gordon Cooper testified to a United Nation's committee that one of the astronauts witnessed a UFO on the ground.

Christopher Kraft, who was director of the NASA tracking base in Houston during the Apollo Moon missions, revealed the following conversation between Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Mission Control after he left NASA:

Apollo 11: "Those are giant things. No, no, no this is not an optical illusion. No one is going to believe this!"

Mission Control (Houston Center): "What...what...what? What the hell is happening? What's wrong with you?"

Apollo 11: "They're here under the surface."

Mission Control: "What's there? Emission interrupted...interference control calling Apollo II."

Apollo 11: "We saw some visitors. They were there for awhile, observing the instruments."

Mission Control: "Repeat your last information."

Apollo 11: "I say that there were other spaceships. They're lined up on the other side of the crater."

Mission Control: "Repeat...repeat!"

Apollo 11: "Let us sound this orbit a In 625 to 5...automatic relay connected...My hands are shaking so badly I can't do anything. Film it? God, if these damned cameras have picked up anything. What then?"

Mission Control: "Have you picked up anything?"

Apollo 11: "I didn't have any film at hand. Three shots of the saucers or whatever they were that were ruining the film."

Mission Control: "Control, control here. Are you on your way? Is the uproar with the UFOs over?"

Apollo 11: "They've landed there. There they are and they are watching us."

Mission Control: "The mirrors, the mirrors...have you set them up?"

Apollo 11: "Yes, they're in the right place. But whoever made those space ships surely can come tomorrow and remove them. Over and out." Thanks to

Apollo 12 Strange Reflection

This photo of astronaut Alan Bean was taken by Pete Conrad as both stand on the lunar surface. You can see Conrad in the reflection in Bean's visor. You can also see some instrumentation in the foreground of the reflection. But what the heck is that thing hovering in the sky in the background, pointed out here as "artifact" by Luna: Astronauts Among the Ruins? You can even see the shadow it casts on the ground behind Conrad. Yet this photo is really puzzling. We can usually find reasonable, or at least plausible, explanations for the other photos shown here and elsewhere, but this one is truly enigmatic. What about it NASA? What the heck is that thing? Perhaps the best source for this kind of information is The Lunascan Project, an organized effort by amateur astronomers to record and document TLPs.

NASA 'Astronauts Photographs of Earth'

Steve Tobias writes, "This is from NASA video that was sent by someone to youtube.com and the larger entire video image is below":

Many other spheres are able to be seen that are also in orbital altitude following the NASA spacecraft but you have to try and discern them against the earth features. The video can be seen at youtube.com or maybe even Google if it hasn't been censored yet and if you have the patience to go through the entire list using search words: NASA video UFOs. Thanks to Steve Tobias who has 20 years of combined U.S. Air Force, MD Air and Army National Guard, and the U.S. Civil Service. Arkansas Silent Triangle

Gentry -- Last night December 12, 2006, at 3:31 AM I noticed three bright lights outside in the sky. These lights were arranged in a triangle shape. Two of the lights were white or possible a pale yellow in color then one bottom light was red. Gentry is a very rural area, with no traffic or other light disturbances. I went outside and the lights zipped across the sky, from left to right, almost like a shooting star sideways with NO SOUND! Then it paused on the right side of the sky, then immediately zipped back across the sky to the right. This time the red light was on the top not the bottom. It was so dark that I could barely see the actual craft, so I am going by the shape and light pattern as to the EXACT shape. It was matte black, not shiny. This was NOT a typical airplane. It was so fast zipping across the sky and NOT a sound... Made a sideways "N" zig zag pattern, then disappeared completely into the night sky. Thanks to Peter Davenport Director www.ufocenter.com

California Disc Cigar

Ukiah -- While sitting on my front porch at 4:40 PM, on December 10, 2006, I looked, saw a quick flash of movement and suddenly four cylinder shapes came out of the clouds and "danced" back and forth, almost quivering, then suddenly they spun sideways, up and down, and zoomed straight off toward due west. They had no lights just the solid shapes of dark gray cylinders or ovals.

Studio City --The observe saw a white disk on December 12, 2006, at 10 PM. was. It was shaped like a normal saucer but it had a little dip at the bottom. It was able to gain altitude while remaining parallel to the groundThanks to Peter Davenport Director www.ufocenter.com

SANTA CRUZ - I was sightseeing and taking photographs along the north California coast on December 30,2006. On a back road just south of Bonny Doon, I took a photo of a picturesque landscape. The camera was pointing approximately east. I did not see any object in the sky. The camera was a Hewlett Packard Photo Smart R 967, 10 megapixels, in auto mode. Shutter speed for ambient lighting conditions varied somewhat for different scenes, but it was hovering around 1/400 second. Several hours later, looking at the image on a computer screen, I noticed a dark oval object just above the trees. Here is the close up of the object.

Colorado Light

Northglenn -- I was working the graveyard shift out on the oil fields at 5 AM, on Wednesday morning December 13, 2006. Three employees get a ride to work by our boss and ten miles out of town, Mark noticed a light in the western sky. Our boss Larry pulled over and we got out and observed a flashing blue and purple light in the sky. Larry stated that he thought it was a satellite, until ten minutes went by and the "light" changed to a reddish maroon color and moved east at a decent speed, and stopped flashing and disappeared. Two minutes later we located it and this time it was moving in an awkward curving motion and then vanished. Thanks to Peter Davenport Director www.ufocenter.com

Colorado Springs Airport -- The witness states, "I was driving in blizzard conditions on December 20, 2006 at 8 AM and took this digital picture to show how bad it was. I noticed later an object in the picture that was not visible to me at the time. Winds were strong and were blowing straight at my truck. The object is under a streetlight, but looks more distant. It is not a spot on my windshield.

I just snapped digital cam to capture driving conditions and did not notice the object untill later. The airport and all air traffic was shut down. The winds were at 35-45 mph. I was taking a picture of the truck ahead of me, there were three trucks with trailers. Due to conditions we were driving 15-20 mph. The road we are driving is parallel to the airport which is two miles south of our position.

Investigator's Notes: I originally thought that the object in the photo was a light airplane or helicopter. However, the witness stated the Colorado Springs Airport was closed because of the storm. (Most other airports in Colorado on the Front Range of Rockies were likely also closed due to the severe winter.) It is doubtful that any aircraft would be flying under the severe weather conditions noted at the time of the photo. (See weather observation above.) Therefore this makes it quite unlikely that the object was a helicopter or airplane. Another possible explanation is that the object could be a spot on the windshield. This is also unlikely because the witness checked his windshield and found no debris. Also the object is in focus. A spot on the windshield would likely be more out of focus. So what was the object? At this time I consider this photo as unidentified. Thanks to Will Puckett UFOs Northwest http://ufosnw.com/sighting_reports.htm

Florida Light

Hollywood – On December 27, 2006, I returned from picking up dinner immediately after sunset and noticed low in the west an illuminated object which I initially suspected was a planet or a satellite reflecting light from the sun. To the naked eye the object was as bright as Venus and no other stars were visible yet, and that the object was slightly to the south of where the sun had set in the WSW). I thought it was odd that it would reflect light toward me if it were between me and the sun. I went and got my camera, a Panasonic FZ5. I shot some shots with a normal exposure:

<http://205.244.202.158/P1090293.jpg>
thru <http://205.244.202.158/P1090300.jpg>

I hit the right exposure (F.32, 1/40 sec. exposure) and shot some shots in burst mode. Some are clear, some are blurred:

<http://205.244.202.158/P1090309.jpg> thru
<http://205.244.202.158/P1090317.jpg>

I realize that this could be a combination of a satellite and atmospheric effects. The object did seem to follow the rotation of the Earth. Barry Stock MUFON CMS

Illinois Airline Employees Say They Saw UFO

CHICAGO – The Chicago Tribune reports on January 1, 2007, that many pilots and workers at the airport saw a UFO hovering over Concourse C, that shot up into the clouds on November 7. The Federal Aviation Administration acknowledged that a United supervisor had called the control tower at O'Hare, asking if anyone had spotted a spinning disc-shaped object. But the controllers didn't see anything, and a preliminary check of radar found nothing out of the ordinary. The FAA has chosen not to investigate, because they feel it was probably just some weird weather phenomenon. United Airlines employees swear they saw a saucer-shaped craft hovering over O'Hare Airport in Monday's Chicago Tribune. Details can be found at www.nationalufocenter.com

Michigan Airport UFOs

DETROIT -- Dr. Harry Willnus writes he has been following the UFO scene for more than fifty years and is the past MUFON Michigan Director and presently a MUFON consultant. Regarding Filer's Files recent mention of UFO's near airports, I must share that I spent 36 years in education teaching in the Romulus Community School District that contains within its borders the Detroit Metro Airport. The airport ranks as one of the top ten busiest airports in the nation. Northwest Airlines uses Metro as a hub. Over my years of teaching I had classroom contact with thousands of students and their parents who resided in the township. My intense interest in UFO's became known in the community and was told of hundreds of stories that were UFO related. The reports were sometimes dramatic, with close-in sightings of strange crafts over roof tops or trees. All of this occurred in a little community of 36 square miles with a major airport nearly in the middle of it. Detroit had a major UFO flap in February and March 1978 .

While some of the sightings made the local papers and TV stations, little information appeared out state. The flap had major airport implications. Some of the sightings occurred inside airport fence lines on or near ground level. A few of the sightings were during the day, but most came at night. I called the FAA tower control people on a daily basis, but never did receive any confirmation of any UFOs during the specific times sightings were reported. There were dozens of other cases in nearby communities, some multiple witness affairs. My guess is that some UFO's use airports as "hiding places". Since there are multiple sets of lights around busy airports at night, it becomes easier for these strange crafts to go about their business without attracting a lot of attention. My gut feeling is that major US airports have numerous UFO sightings by people who reside in the immediate airport area. Generally these sightings are seldom reported. Thanks to Dr. Harry Willnus.

Editor's Note: Some of our best cases are in sight of Philadelphia Airport and McGuire Air Force Base. A vice president of a major company claimed the UFOs would hover near his home ten miles from the airport. When helicopters or planes flew near the disc shaped UFO, it would hide in the trees. There were sightings at Chicago's O'Hare Airport, Colorado Springs, Cleveland, and Columbus', Georgia Airport.

Clinton County -- This is a follow-up to the incident I reported on December 2, 2006. On this date, some object followed my daughters and me for over an hour, before a triangle appeared. This is our 4th triangle since Feb 14, 2006. I have a video of the triangle as well as photos.

This report has pictures of an object that I took pictures of earlier in the SAME day as the previously reported event. In this follow-up report, I will show that the object morphed/changed...from a tiny dot/speck...into a large object. Thanks to Patty Donahue Michigan MUFON FI

Missouri Object With a Blue Light Under It

Nixa --I was outside watching the Geminid Meteor Shower on December 12, 2006, when all of a sudden I saw a grayish sphere with an orange stripe down the middle slowly move over my house at 10:54 PM. It made a loud buzzing noise. Later, I saw a star that just stayed in the same spot the whole night. When the Earth rotates the stars move, but not this one. It also changed colors every few seconds. Thanks to Peter Davenport Director www.ufocenter.com

Ashgrove -- At 10:56 PM, I stepped outside to check on the puppies and noticed an object in the sky about 1000 feet high on December 12, 2006. It was headed on a straight course and suddenly just stopped, and reversed course for 1/4 mile then a blue light came on under the object. It flew east again to the point it stopped the first time, and the large blue light went off. It flew on at a slow speed, stopped again, backed up and again the blue light came on. I watched for twenty minutes and repeated these movements twenty times till it flew to the eastern horizon. It was about the size of my thumb nail with my arm fully extended. It had a small orange light on the front and a blue green light on the back and was traveling at about the same speed a passenger plane travels coming in for a landing. Thanks to Peter Davenport Director www.ufocenter.com

Deming -- We were traveling west on I-10 coming out of El Paso, Texas when I noticed the object about ten minutes before I told my wife. It seemed strange to me, because it was a fairly large hovering metallic object. I thought it was a helicopter or blimp and asked my wife. She thought it was a circular shape and seemed heavy and made of metal. After driving about 20 miles and fearing losing sight of the object, I pulled off in the center dividing strip and took 4 photos and a short video with my Fuji f20 digital camera.

It is strange but looking on the photos, the object seems smaller than I remember it and on the video I cannot see it at all. After snapping the photos we left losing it behind some hills. I regret not driving towards it to find out what it really was but we had a long drive ahead of us. If you could please let me know any information you have on this, I would appreciate you letting me know. Look in the center of photo and zoom in as I don't know how to make objects bigger.

New York Flying Triangle

Owego -- Monarca Merrifield writes, "At 12:15 AM Friday December 22, 2006, my sister awakened me to tell me she had just spotted a self-luminous ,white light, round object hovering above a cornfield on Waits Road. It hovered in one spot for 10 minutes. As it started to move, its light turned to blue and red lights. Then it flew over her home and the lights turned off but the shape was visible against the stars. All of a sudden, it sped up and made a sound like a big "Swoosh" sound then a sonic boom. She took a picture of it with her camera phone." Thanks to Monarca Merrifield

Ohio Flying Triangle

Mentor -- "On December 26, 2006, about 8 PM, I thought it was a low-flying plane, but the closer it got to my car, the more I realized that it wasn't moving at all. It was triangularly shaped, with flashing white, and a couple of red lights. It was way too low and large to be a plane. There is no tower anywhere nearby.

Investigator's Notes: This case would at first seem to be a sighting of a conventional aircraft, however, the witness should have seen red, green, and white lights. The sighting was close to Cleveland Burkelake Airport and people can mistake moving aircraft as hovering because of distance, but given that the aircraft appeared large to the witness, this is an unlikely scenario. Given available information I am not sure what the witness saw 25 miles northeast of Cleveland. Thanks to Will Puckett UFOs Northwest http://ufosnw.com/sighting_reports.htm

Oshawa -- Paul Shishis writes, " On Saturday, December 23, 2006, we had great clear skies here. The temperature was well above normal, as it brought out the insects and I took a moment to skywatch about 12:30 PM and took photos over Lake Ontario.

While watching with the naked eye, I noticed pulses of white light-like a camera flash. There was also these white things moving across the sky at quite a distance. I had blocked the direct sunlight, in order to have a clean visual. So I took some pictures and found this one photo quite interesting. The photo illustrates two different shaped unknowns, with the brilliant white image of colour. In the top of the photo appears a disk shaped object. Near the bottom a capsule shaped object that is more brilliant white. I was using my new Casio camera that has 7.2 mega pixels with a 3x optical zoom.

Thanks to Paul Shishis

Arva, Ontario -- The witness states, "On December 10, 2006, I drove past Arva and took some photos on a nice sunny morning. I took several pictures, and when I downloaded the photos this strange object was in the picture, I didn't use light, in my camera. I am not exactly sure of the date. Please tell me what it is?"

Investigator's Notes: I am not sure what the witness photographed. The anomaly could be an unusual cloud formation, but that is doubtful. The photo does show a faint line (like a contrail) that goes through the photo. Perhaps a cloud formation occurred as the result of a contrail. I do not believe that the photo is a hoax because the camera model and date/time stamp was in the file properties. Files that are edited generally lose this property information. There is some doubt about the exact date of the photo. Thanks to Will Puckett UFOs Northwest

Greece Blue Light

HALKIDIKI -- The witness took these photos in August 2004 of an object that looked like a blue dot under the Moon. The photos are shot with full Zoom with the camera on a table (to get a steady shot). The camera was a digital Olympus C-350. The witness and his wife were on the balcony watching the full Moon and he was playing with his new digital camera, when he saw something blue over the village, which was moving to the right. The first photo was blurry, the 2nd was taken with a flash and nothing could be discerned, 3rd photo was taken with camera profile for night without flash but due to zoom and motion was also blurry. Finally he put the camera on the table and took the attached photo.

He couldn't discern features with the naked eye, but it seemed to change inclination. The conditions were not ideal due to full moon and garden lights. The seacoast is at 200 meters and the object seemed to be over the sea. The odd thing was that while everything else was lit with white light due to full moon, this was blue and it seemed to have some 'exhaust' below.. MUFON CMS

Mexico: Airline Crew Sees UFO

According to a report received from researcher Alfonso Salazar, on December 23, 2006 the crew of a Magnicharter flight between Los Cabos and Mexico City witnessed the maneuvers of an unidentified flying object (UFO) at 8:30 p.m., as reported by flight engineer Angel Torres Arenas.

The witness described a luminous UFO giving off orange, green and blue lights, flying at an altitude greater than the aircraft's cruising altitude, placing it at 22,000 feet. He added that the probable UFO accompanied the aircraft through its entire route and that the crew was fully aware that it was an identified craft. As an additional item of information, he noted that the airliner was a Boeing 737-200, registration XA-MAE. *Thanks to Journal of Hispanic Ufology, (translation (c) 2006. Kielce -- On 15th December 2006 at about 15:20 Mr. J.B. took photos of a plane passing over Kielce - Uroczysko from a balcony of his flat.

He used a Canon Eos 350D camera. After downloading the photos onto his PC he noticed a strange object resembling a bright dot in the airplane area. "On the following photos the spot remained in its place while the craft and clouds were moving quickly" - he admitted. After an analysis of the photo with graphic programs, the man noticed an anomalous nature of the object. The case is under investigation. UK/England Egg

Birmingham -- I saw a bright blue white egg shaped object flying above houses on December 11, 2006, at 10:50 PM, with no sound, no trail, traveling at speed faster than a helicopter, slower than a shooting star. The last time I saw something flying almost as fast was a Harrier Jet (their base was not far away from my brother's house and it was nothing out of the ordinary for him) flying at night above a small village. The sighting of whatever I saw happened when I was coming home from dancing lessons. I had just turned off the Birmingham Road and was traveling at about twenty miles per hour up a very steep hill. The weather was cold with a completely clear sky with no moon. I do not know the direction it was going but it appeared in my sight line at about 1 o'clock and disappeared at about 10 o'clock, or right to left. (it is hard to tell the height but it was low). The size was about three times bigger than the stars in the plow. Thanks to Peter Davenport Director
