

APA Format

We have crunched some numbers and now need to write up a narrative. This is an exercise in formal writing using APA formatting specifically text, tables, and references citations.

Pay attention: you must pick any two (2) research questions and report their findings. It would probably be easier to have 1 table for so 1 DV i.e browser, teaching/not teaching, gender
I have emailed you a document that contains formatting to help you.

Create a document in APA format that summarizes your recent activity which are equivalent to the “Methodology” and “Results” Discussion sections of a research paper based upon your data analysis.

Your Methodology section will parallel the example in that you must

Describe the research questions

Describe the data collection, sample, and survey.

Describe the data analysis

Sample Methodology section <http://bit.ly/vAixlv>

Clearly using this as a guide you will not include the Measures section because you have no information about the survey.

Your Findings section will include text answers to your question. You must also create a table to display your findings, specifically the means and standard deviations for your study.

Your Reference section should include any references you have. You MUST have at least 2 references

1) <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>

and

2) your podcast. (add a podcast is the outcome no logic - 1) will show you how to do it.

You have probably used online references to determine APA formatting (Chart, Tables, Numeration, Format).

Outcomes APA formatting for t-test results, text, numbers, tables, citations.
