I. INTRODUCTION

The introduction describes the overall background of the article being discussed. It should be written clearly and concisely, consisting of 3-5 paragraphs or not exceeding 1,500 words, covering: (a) an adequate background and the significance of your paper; (b) a brief summary of previous studies related to the issue discussed in the manuscript; (c) the main limitations of previous studies and your expectations for addressing them in this manuscript; (d) the scientific contribution or novelty of your paper; (e) the aim(s) of the study; and (f) the structure of the article or research questions.

All writing must be formatted in paragraphs; this journal discourages the use of numbered or bullet-point formats. The manuscript must use Garamond (15 pt) font, 1.15 pt spacing, with a length of 4,000–7,000 words (including footnotes) and a minimum of 30 references (75% of which must be from journal articles). Footnotes must follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 17th Edition (Full Note). Authors are encouraged to use Zotero or Mendeley software.

II. METHODOLOGY

This part should provide a statement about the research methodology. It includes the approaches used in the research and how the author obtained the data. This methodology should give an idea to the reader through the techniques used.

III. FIRST HEADING OF THE DISCUSSION

A. Second-Level Heading in Italics (Sub-discussion)

It is an important section of your manuscript. The analysis should be clear and concise. Heading in the discussion section should be consistently written with the structure of the article or the research statement, as mentioned in the introduction. Headings in this discussion use Roman letters (I., II., III., etc.; you can add more than one part of the discussion, it depends on the structure of the discussion you want to write).

IV. SECOND HEADING OF THE DISCUSSION

A. Second-Level Heading in Italics (Sub-discussion)

It is an important section of your manuscript. The analysis should be clear and concise. Heading in the discussion section should be consistently written with the structure of the article or the research statement, as mentioned in the introduction. Headings in this discussion use Roman letters (I., II., III., etc.; you can add more than one part of the discussion, it depends on the structure of the discussion you want to write).

V. CONCLUSION

The conclusion should concisely answer the research aims as previously mentioned in the abstract and the introduction. The authors should highlight the importance of research findings and to what extent this research will result in further implications. Please do not repeat the abstract or describe the results of the research. Also, in this part, the authors are not allowed to discuss a new issue. The authors are suggested to write the conclusion between 1-2 paragraphs only.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The authors may recognize those who helped in the research, especially funding supporters of research. The acknowledgment can include individuals who have assisted you in your study: Advisors, Financial supporters, or other supporters, i.e., Proofreaders, Typists, and Suppliers who may have given materials.

COMPETING INTEREST

The authors will be asked to sign this statement once the submission has been accepted.

REFERENCES

1. It is recommended to use 75% references from journals, and 25% from books.
2. References must use the Chicago Manual of Style 17th Edition (Full Note).
3. It is strongly recommended to use software such as Mendeley or Zotero.
4. All reference styles are automatically arranged based on alphabetical order.
