

CONTENTS

- I. Whitewashing/Racism
- II. Transphobia
- III. Bi/Homophobia
- IV. Ableism
- V. Incest
- VI. Guilt-Tripping
- VII. “Apology”
- VIII. Vaguening
- IX. Harassment
- X. Faking identity

URLS: atuaism, aristxcrxt, luminesis, infatuis, omniscitus, kuraiousjo, nxkudan, akumaha, (inactive urls) hopebearing, lucidiious

ALIAS: Vakaiya / Keya

INTRODUCTION.

Hello there, Vakaiya. We are all going to have a chat with you, so get comfortable. Before we get started, you are probably already thinking that this is a document made by a small group of friends who want to bully you; you would be incorrect in that assumption. This is a massive group effort with caps and writing from 20+ collective people who contributed to calling out your behavior. We know what you must be thinking since you tend to do this a lot: “I’M NOT EVEN GOING TO READ THIS!” Well, this time you should. We know it’s a lot, but it can’t be helped.

This is a collection of evidence pulled together by two groups of people; a group whose had past encounters with Vakaiya and a group who has only recently encountered her through newer offenses. For three of the contributors, it has been a little under a year since they first encountered you, for the rest, it is as new as this week. Both sides of the story have been made relevant by you. We are all tired of this, Vakaiya, so we are going to finish what you started.

Now you are likely thinking, “What have I done wrong? You’re all just targeting me because you all have a personal vendetta towards me.” Sorry to say this, Vakaiya, but this is not the case. Your childish and harmful behavior has put many of us in a position where we are uncomfortable with you and since you seem eager to push blame onto everyone BUT yourself, we are all speaking up against you.

We want to set one thing straight about the people involved who already knew you. You say they alone started this because you were staying away from them (we will get to that particular conversation later), but in actuality, they did not. YOU ARE the one who could not let the past go. You clearly followed the very people you claimed to have avoided after your past transgressions. You sought them out prior to getting called out for whitewashing; you attempted to make contact with THEM, who have not made a single post towards you nor acknowledged you until this happened despite your vaguing and instigating arguments with some of them.

Here's some proof, all recent:

atuaism is now following you October 8, 2017 at 10:44 PM

5 notes

 posted this

 aristxcrxt

Not only that, but you tried to re-follow one of the people you claimed you were trying to avoid after they had SOFT BLOCKED you. You then proceeded to send them an ask, even though their rules stated that they do not accept asks from non mutuals. And you would have been more than familiar with their alias at this point in time.

In addition, you have VAGUED the three people you have had past arguments with, but that will receive its own section. For now, you clearly do not want or plan to leave any of them alone, instead choosing to blame them for YOUR recent mistakes, which is why we all had to resort to this. You've recently instigated arguments, exhibited racist behavior amongst other things, and deflected responsibility from yourself by placing it on the people around you instead of listening to what other people were saying.

You brought this upon yourself.

“Why haven’t you discussed this privately?”

Simply put, we have. Numerous times by a multitude of people, in fact, both in the past and present. Frequently your responses, Vakaiya, were guilt-tripping in nature. These are the latest in an attempt to ease the tension, and an attempt to get you to acknowledge your problematic behavior.

As you STATED YOURSELF, you refused to read anything we sent you. Explain, please, how this is 'civil'? Only stating your own side of the argument is selfish/stubborn, and yet you complain of others not being 'civil' to you. From what it sounds like, YOUR definition of 'civil' is when things go your way. Well, Vakaiya, in order to try to make amends, you have to be willing to listen to the other side. You are willingly staying ignorant, you are willingly ignoring the truth of your behavior, and you are willingly avoiding the blame by victimizing yourself and demonizing people who have done nothing wrong.

And with that, we would like to move forward.

I. WHITEWASHING AND RACISM

This is the big one that sparked this entire thing, isn't it? So let's dive right into it head-first.

For reference, here is your muse; unedited.

You received an anonymous message informing you they believed that your psd whitewashed your poc muse. This message was worded politely, not at all attacking you for what they believed. They calmly pointed out an observation in an attempt to bring this to your attention.

Archived from: atuaism

Anonymous asked:

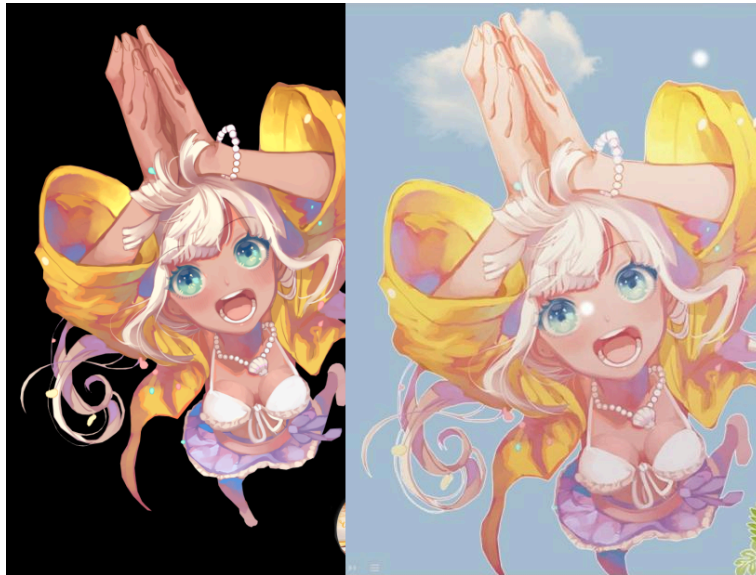

I don't intend to be rude or attack you but don't you think your theme and icons are sort of light in comparison to Angie's actual skin tone on her sprites?

for her theme, that drawing has not been altered. that was just how the artist drew angie. as for my icons, the reason why it looks different is because i put a yellow gradient effect on them to give them a more "island" look to go along with my theme and PSD for her icons. if you're implying that I am not okay with her skin color, then please unfollow me. i may be white, but i'll tell you right now that skin color does not matter to me. personally, i hate being white because i'm a ghost that can never get a tan and my skin just burns off. i understand your concern, but it really wasn't necessary considering the PSD for my icons has a gradient that gives a yellow tint and as for the artist, that's just how they did their work. but if you need proof take a look below the "read more"

The first thing we would like to point out, immediately, is that in this post, you say, "I may be white / I hate being white," and we would like you to keep that statement of yours in mind.

Now then, let's break this down. We will start with your theme. You say the image of Angie you are using has not been altered. We have put your edit (right) side-by-side to the original (left) to prove that you did, in fact, lighten her skin tone. Was the image already too light BEFORE you edited it? Yes. Using whitewashed art for your edits is inexcusable and not only did you use it, you made it even lighter.

Art source.

We would like to point out that nowhere in that message did the sender indicate you were not okay with Angie's original skin color. As we already stated, they were polite about their observation and in no way phrased it rudely or in a hateful way.

You saying that you implemented a yellow tint to give your muse a more "island look" is racist. You brushing over someone's concern that you are whitewashing a poc muse when you, yourself, are white, is racist. You say that skin tone does not matter to you, but you, who is white, are turning away someone who is pointing out that you are engaging in whitewashing.

We would like to share the thoughts of this anon, who later reached out to us to explain their side of the story and allowed us to share their thought process publicly.

Friday at 9:20 AM

I was the first person to send that anon to atuaisms, and I did so not because I wanted to attack her which I personally believed that I got across in my message? That she reacted the way she did -- ̸ : defensively, and then proceeding to attack trans people in her next post, of which I am, when that had nothing to do with what had occurred at all (and knowing her history with trans people is ... uncomfortable) -- made me uncomfortable?

It was brought to my attention by my friends that her icons were whitewashed; we compared the sprites and her icons and they are much lighter than Angie's actual skin tone, and as someone who does know photoshop to some degree ... it isn't possible to lighten the skin tone to such a degree as that with a simple gradient. And even if it were lightened by the psd, the use of the gradient could still be done, you just need to apply the burn tool to your icons.

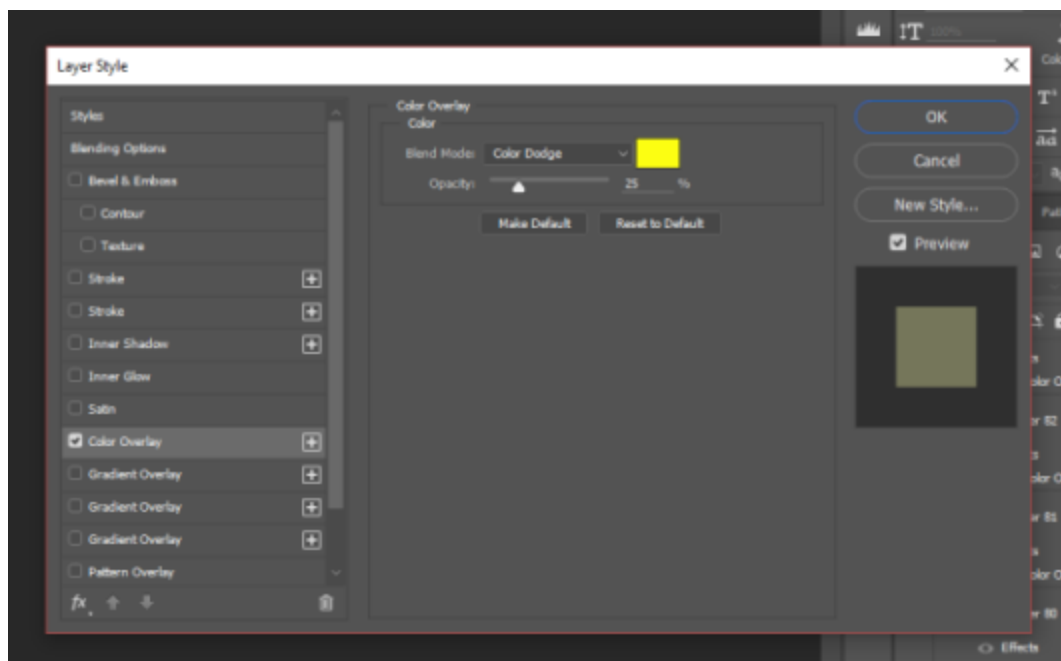

But she didn't do that, and instead of apologizing and resolving the issue (or considering there was something else she could do, rather than inflaming the dash and then mocking the idea of whitewashing by ... further washing her icons) or even asking for advice on how to resolve the issue, she decided and proceeded to take it further, acting as though she were being attacked when the question I sent was worded as politely as possible?

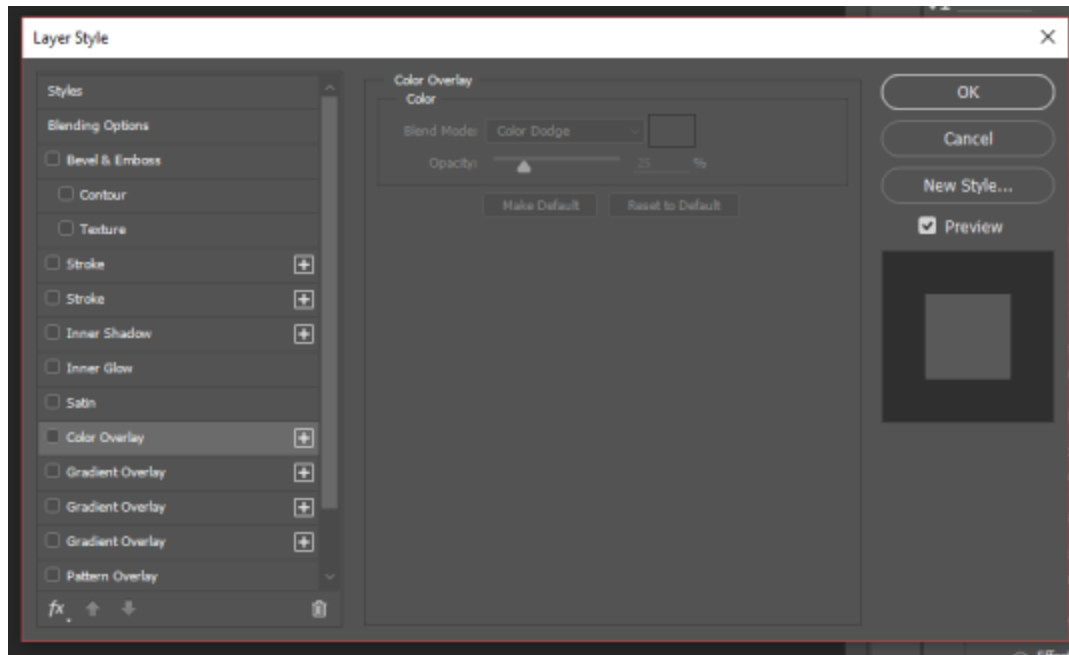

I want to definitely state that I only sent the first anon, and while I'm a bit regretful that it's come to this, I find the fact that someone who proceed to bully and attack poc roleplayers on top of someone gently nudging her to consider how her icons might be whitewashed to be despicable -- no one attacked her, no one said she was an awful person for whitewashing angie; I pointed it out, and she made it into an attack on her own person.

Link for larger image.

Looking over what this person had to say, this ask was not rude at all, Vakaiya, and yet you still claim this to be some sort of “personal attack”. The people you want to pin all of this on did not get involved until after the fact. So why is it that you keep claiming that? Instead of handling this one ask cordially, you decided to lash out, and claim this person was accusing you of a false accusation, when really all someone would have to do is look at your blog, your icons, your promo, etc, to see they were not ‘false’ at all. The person who sent this message was going about it as politely as someone could.

You shared your psd as evidence that you were not whitewashing Angie underneath that read more, pictured below.

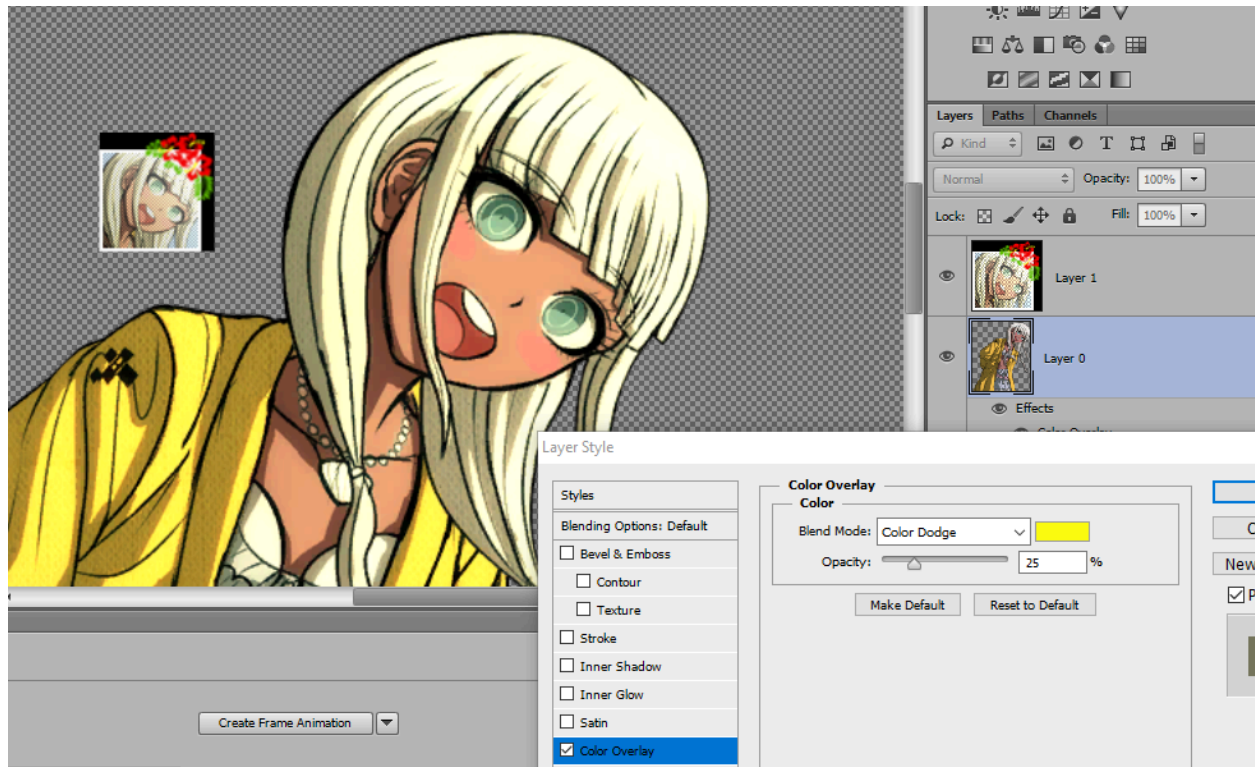

Unfortunately for you, several members of this team also know how to use photoshop and we recreated your psd exactly as shown here. And guess what?

Without your overlay:

With your overlay:

But that is still not quite right, is it? You clearly have something else on that psd, a white-ish gradient that is visible. So, we added that:

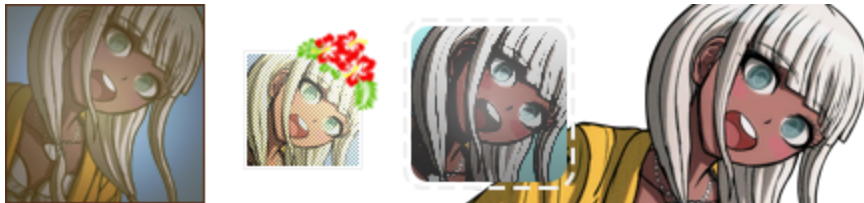

There we go, now they match.

In case it is hard to see the difference between your icons and Angie's original sprites, we will show you a series of side-by-side comparisons here.

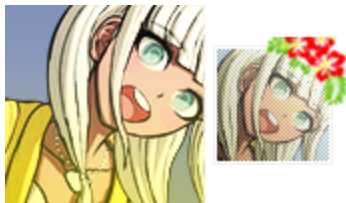

Example one, simply: Angie's sprite vs. your icon.

Example two: two psds that do not whitewash Angie (one of which was made by a contributor from scratch in about five minutes), your icon, and Angie's sprite.

Example three: our whitewashed example using your method above, plus an additional whitewashed example using a brightening tool.

There is no difference here, Vakaiya.

As an added bonus, here is your promo.

Art source.

anonymous asked:

I looked up the art you used for your theme and noticed not only is the original art pretty whitewashed but you happen to make her look WHITER than she actually is. It's not that hard to make a poc friendly psd you know, or even LOOK ONE UP.

actually, there's a HEAVY difference between "whitewashing" and saturation. the original picture was SATURATED and even then that was how i got it. go to google and type "angie yonaga png" because that's where i got it, so if you want someone to blame about the saturation, blame that person. a poc friendly psd? why does that sentence even exist? are you guys that butt hurt over a psd that you're seriously making issues that aren't even issues to begin with?! like seriously, if you want me to whitewash i could do WAY WORSE than adding a soft yellow tint to my psd. if you don't like it then buzz off. i don't have time to cater to every single person on tumblr who literally has issues with just about every single thing they find. like you literally look for that one flaw and just nag nag nag about it because you have nothing better to do with your time or because something about it makes you insecure. you think it's rude that i added a yellow tint to a dark skinned character, but you know what's really rude? accusing people of being racist/whitewashing and what you're doing is 10x worse because accusing someone of THAT is HUGE. you have no idea how many people can get seriously hurt both physically and mentally from a false accusation that you are doing right now. I highly suggest you leave it alone and leave ME alone because I am not going to tolerate you labeling me as some racist whitewasher FOR NO REASON. I LOVE ANGIE, I love her skin, I love her voice, her eyes, everything about her. why would i chose to roleplay angie if i DIDNT.

#Anonymous #👁️ • YOU WHOSE FACE IS AS GREY AS CLAY™ (ANON)

#it's no wonder you're on anon

#if people knew who you were making false accusations #you'd get shat all over

#drama

Anything you do to lighten a character's skin tone is whitewashing. It does not matter whether it is saturated, brightened, slapping a filter over it, etc. IF IT LIGHTENS THEIR SKIN TONE, IT IS WHITEWASHING. POINT BLANK. END OF STORY. There is NO excuse for this, with so many readily available resources at your disposal. And recreating your psd on the sprites above proved that in order for Angie's skin tone to reach what hers is across your blog, it HAD to be brightened significantly.

You keep bringing up the art you used already being whitewashed. THIS DOES NOT MAKE IT OKAY. This does not excuse YOU using that whitewashed art and it doesn't excuse you lightening Angie's skin tone further. You cannot push the blame onto the artists. You took a whitewashed image and made it WORSE.

"POC friendly psds" exist because much like you, there are many roleplayers in the roleplay community who are racist and whitewash their muses for the "aesthetic," the "island look," if you will. Whitewashing is a serious issue both online and offline. Racism is a very serious, very relevant PROBLEM in current times and you and those like you who whitewash their poc muses are displaying racist behavior. For you to say you do not understand the need for poc friendly psds and that it is not an issue is EXTREMELY ignorant of you, Vakaiya. It doesn't matter what you used on your psd; YOU WHITEWASHED A PERSON OF COLOR.

The point is that we want you to stop whitewashing or else we wouldn't be here. The problem isn't us. It's you. To say we're "looking for that one flaw" is entirely incorrect; this was the breaking point. You had many chances to redeem yourself, but chose not to. "You think it's rude I added a yellow tint to a dark skinned character," we think it's RACIST you whitewashed a beautiful person of color. We're accusing you of doing something that you are, in fact, DOING and shamelessly so.

"You have no idea how many people can get seriously hurt both physically and mentally from a false accusation." Do you know how many poc get seriously physically and mentally hurt by the whitewashing mentality and racism? Whitewashing indicates that poc aren't beautiful and acceptable as they are, with darker skin tones. Whitewashing indicates that in order for poc to achieve this standard, they should have lighter skin. By whitewashing a poc, you're participating in harming poc. We will not leave it alone, because racism is unacceptable.

We're labeling you as a racist whitewasher because you're being racist and whitewashing. There is not "no reason" for it. "I love her skin," then don't whitewash it. "I love her voice, her eyes, everything about her," THEN DON'T WHITEWASH HER. People who pick up poc muses and love them make psds that don't whitewash them. Because whitewashing is racist behavior. That is why poc psds exist.

Let's discuss more of the messages you said were "hate," starting with the person who sent the second anon about your whitewashed theme, who came forward to address you.

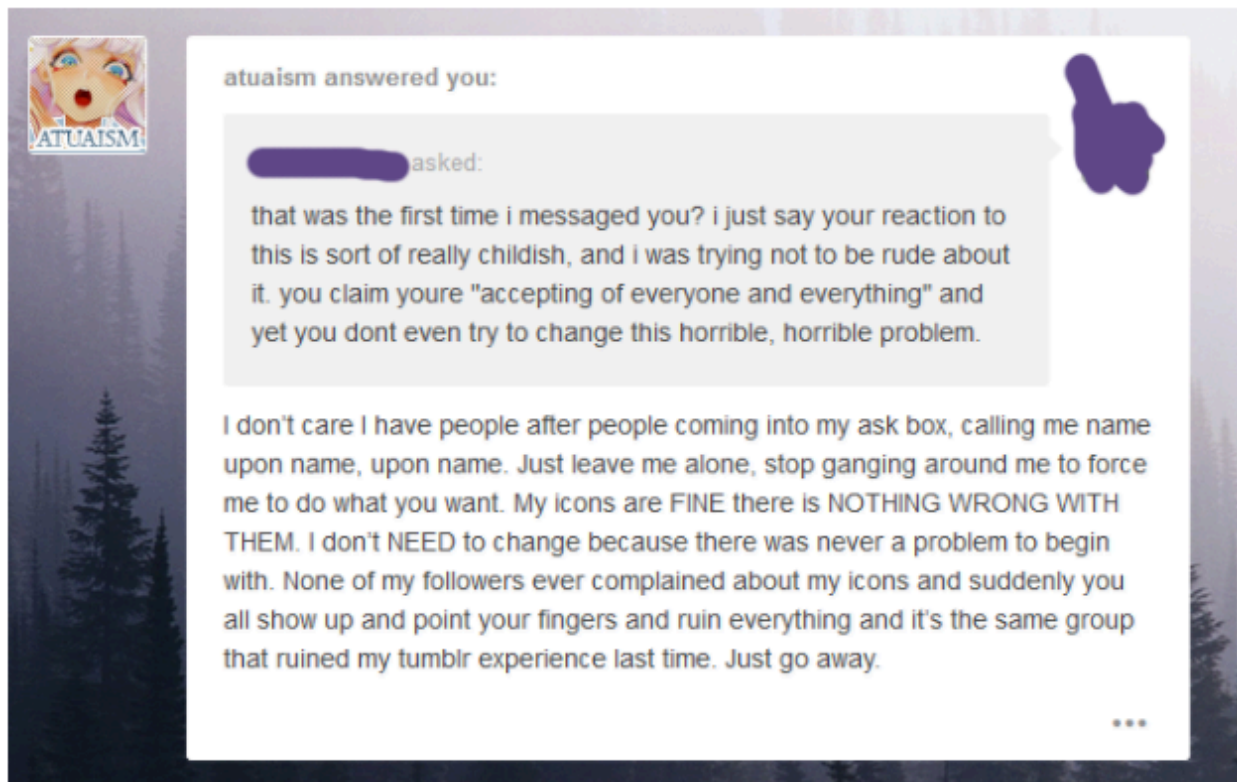

You make it impossible to talk about these issues calmly; you guilt trip anyone who approaches you with an opinion that isn't your own. You refuse to admit that you're participating in whitewashing despite having several people bring it to your attention now, and accuse them of sending you hate when they're simply pointing out facts. Which, we will reiterate; you're whitewashing. It doesn't matter if you whitewashed Angie on purpose or not. You whitewashed her. It doesn't matter if you got to that point by saturating, brightening, etc. Whitewashing is whitewashing, Vakaiya. If you do it accidentally, own up to it and fix it.

“You used your views and reasoning to justify your hate and actions against someone who didn’t purposefully do anything wrong.” We shouldn’t have to explain to you that whitewashing and racism are unethical. Racism is not just a matter of opposing views that can be brushed aside. This is not a matter of personal views, but of morals. It’s not hate; these are facts.

All of us who worked together on this document have any relevant information containing what was sent to you by members of our team by their own accord on display here, so once again, no one ganged up on you. Please explain to us how pointing out you being a racist and whitewashing is aiming to ruin your life and experience. It’s only goal was to make you understand what you were doing. You made this worse than it needed to be.

Again, polite. This isn’t hate; you are choosing to ignore your own racism.

Guilt tripping.

You are victimizing yourself. You completely ignored what was sent you, but not only that; you also admitted to not reading our messages, and pushed the blame on us. As you can clearly see, we were trying to be as civil and calm about the situation as we possibly could, yet you assumed we were being harsh and vulgar the moment you saw we sent you something. Why do you keep saying we send you hate when you DON'T READ WHAT WE SEND YOU.

We have already addressed the issue, and we have already told you what you did wrong, yet you refuse to accept the consequences. You're too stubborn to admit your own wrong-doings. "No one deserves what you guys are doing." What exactly are we doing? Delivering facts? Calling out a person who deserves to be called out?

We've already stated multiple times that none of us who approached you were rude. We're sharing the proof that was openly shared with us by those who approached you, to show you that they weren't. The only names any of us called you were "racist" and "ignorant," which you are most definitely being.

You continue to state there's nothing wrong with your icons when a MULTITUDE OF PEOPLE are informing you that there is. You DO need to change your psd and if you don't, you are PURPOSEFULLY WHITEWASHING. There was always a problem with them. We aren't willing to out everyone involved and show you proof that these accusations came from a wider range of people, but regardless of whether you believe the accusations came from the same group of people or spread out doesn't MATTER. You're whitewashing. Plain and simple. Informing you that you're partaking in racist behavior and calmly asking you to consider changing your psd is not simply "pointing fingers" or trying to run you off tumblr.

It's letting you know you're being RACIST.

In case we need more evidence that you don't see whitewashing and racism as a serious issue, not only do you refuse to admit you're doing it, YOU GO ON TO MOCK WHITEWASHING ENTIRELY by posting an icon of Angie even FURTHER whitewashed than what you originally had her.

atuaism

is this better? hope you like it. anon's getting turned off since the children wish to flood my inbox with all their salty tears. good bye, please get yourself some help with your insecurities and i'll pray to god you don't ruin anymore lives with your false accusations.

You are immature and ignorant. This is not a joke and whitewashing / racism is NOT something you get a free pass to make fun of. You are a white woman whitewashing a person of color. It has nothing to do with "insecurities" or, again, wanting to ruin your life.

THESE ARE NOT FALSE ACCUSATIONS BEING MADE.

YOU ARE WHITEWASHING.

YOU ARE RACIST.

To reiterate, we did try to talk this out in private. One of the people who had issues with you in the past commented on your whitewashing after this was brought to the public by your anonymous asks and reblogged one of your posts, unblocked you, and left their IM open for discussion.

You made no effort to avoid the three individuals you're referring to specifically, or their friends who you are supposedly wary of. You approached these people, tried to re-follow them on multiple blogs, and vagued them; you didn't let the past die.

"I know you hate me, I know you never want to talk to me. I tried talking to you and trying to connect again when we were good friends in the past. I know that's not going to happen. I've already been through a lot since then." This is guilt tripping. Keep that in mind for later, Vakaiya, because we're going to talk about that quite a bit.

Also, the person who sent you the original anon and the person who responded to the post you're talking about:

Archived from: atuaism

i am kind of peeved that i literally just got accused of whitewashing. seriously? i add a yellow tint to my icons to make them more sunny and cute and i get accused of whitewashing? gtfo my blog if you think i'm doing that shit. i'm sorry, but i am sick of dealing with people who get offended by literally nothing. society today gets offended just if you look at them wrong. or if you get their preferred gender wrong once it's like you're the abomination of the devil. like holy shit, we make mistakes people, if you're that insecure about everything go see a therapist.

atuaism:

Keep reading

Read More Now!

Read More Now!

maybe if you weren't a white racist manipulative white-washing trump supporting bi/transphobic #fakewoke "my white cis feelings are hurt.(" pillsbury dough boy looking bitch people wouldn't say shit like this! but thats just me!

seriously don't even lie about not whitewashing because here are links to some oh so sweet comparisons between angies actual dark skin tone vs your white-washed to hell ugly content. (one) (two) also note you used WHITE-WASHED art that you white-washed EVEN MORE for your promo. again, heres the comparison (three)

also here's a nice little screenshot of you using the r slur in the tags. don't even waste my time with the "but i can reclaim it" bullshit. (four)

AND THIS GOLDEN ASK, the "i white washed her with a yellow tint to make it have a more island feel" answer. (five) THAT'S FUCKING RACIST. island feel MY ASS.

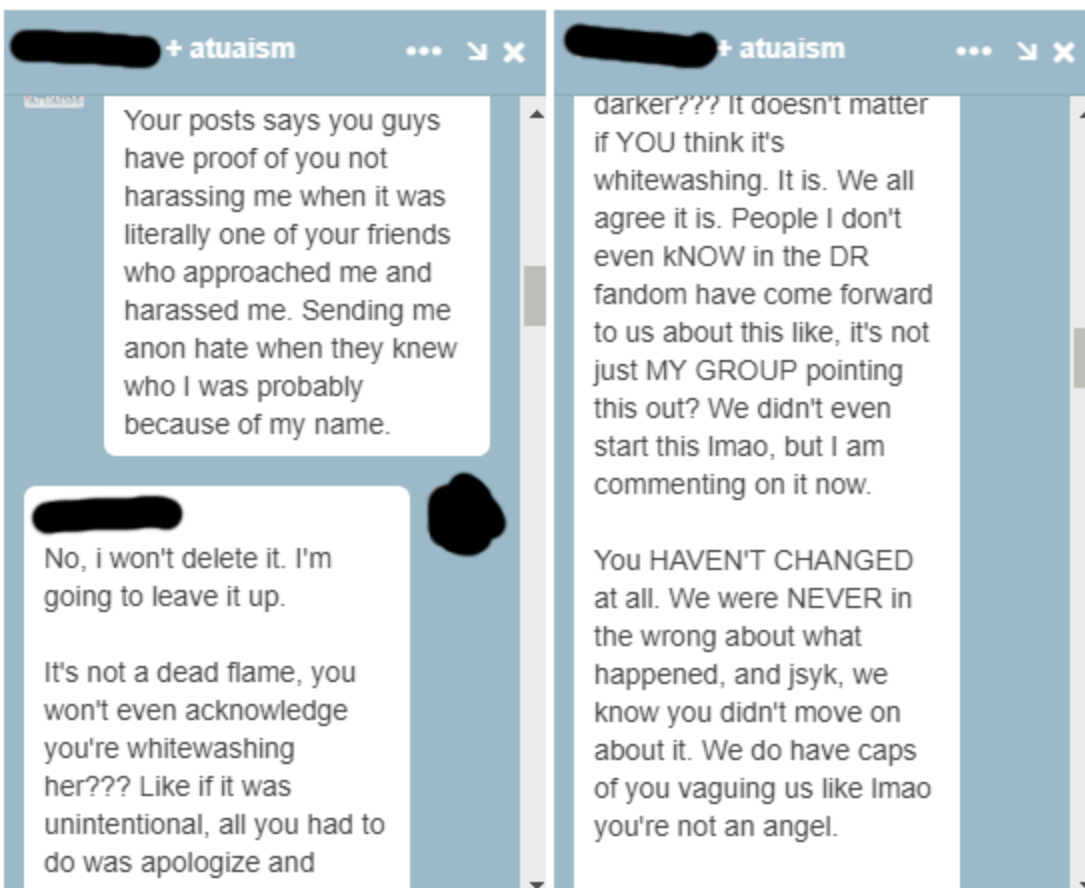

if that doesn't convince you i can pull up at least a literal hundred more receipts, but i'll spare you the temporary humiliation unless you pull this shit again.

thanks so much, really. you out yourself so easily it saves me a ton of work.

try me if you can! xo are two different people. You're blaming a group of people who didn't initiate this and assuming it was them who sent you the anon to instigate an argument. The original post of this mentioned two people from your past by name (asked to be deleted from the original post by one of the contributors) who just so happened to be friends with someone who knew how you'd treated them and you were looking for a reason to start an argument. As a side note, we are aware this response is harshly put, but they were the first to respond of their own accord because they were offended. While we, as a whole, would like to remain cool headed, these points did need to be brought up.

(Note: all links in that post showcase examples of icons / theme art / etc used previously to showcase whitewashing.)

Cut off sentence: and keep her skin tone darker.

As is necessary to keep restating for you to understand: we have all the messages of people involved in this and we know of who sent messages and everyone was cordial. Any messages you received not shown in this document were not sent by the team of people who worked to compile all of this. We do not condone sending anyone hate, for any reason. We've stated facts to you; you ignored them and you were hateful. You refused to hear what we had to say. You weren't civil. Everyone who tried to approach you was met with these responses, thus making communicating with you useless, fruitless, and frustrating.

And why do you want that post deleted anyways, Vakaiya? If you're so confident you're not doing anything wrong, why are you so worried how people will perceive you? It's because that post presented facts about you whitewashing. You want it gone so you don't have to admit you did anything wrong.

Cut off sentence: But did I leave you alone? Yes.

It's doesn't matter if you think it's whitewashing. It is. Say it with me, Vakaiya: IT DOESN'T MATTER IF YOU THINK IT'S WHITEWASHING, IT IS. For you to say that this statement is hypocritical and that it could be rightfully used in the context, "it doesn't matter if you think it's whitewashing, it isn't" is bafling. A number of our team members and those we asked personally were beyond offended by this statement. Whitewashing isn't something that can be determined by an individual. WHITEWASHING IS WHITEWASHING. We will repeat this: if you lighten a character's skin tone, it is whitewashing. "But..." THERE ARE NO EXCUSES. You are white. Multiple poc have pitched in to this, both in asks sent to you and providing input with us, to confirm this is whitewashing. When you are white, straight, cis, etc, and someone who is poc, LGBTQ+, etc, tells you that you are doing something racist/homophobic/transphobic/etc, YOU DO NOT HAVE THE RIGHT TO TELL THEM THAT THEY ARE THE ONES IN THE WRONG.

AGAIN, we know you don't have any receipts on anyone involved in this callout or the group you're trying to pin this on because they all shared their caps. If you got anything cruel, we're sorry; it was NOT from us.

To reiterate an earlier point: you openly admit to not reading what people send you when trying to discuss these matters, thus what's the point of continuing to try? You can't claim no one tried to discuss this with you calmly. They did.

So let's address your biggest argument.

"But it's not whitewashing!"

In regards to an ask that was sent on anon to one of the involved parties who spoke out against you:

off and leave the communities alone. You aren't the fucking police, you have no right to determine what is considered whitewash or not. So fuck off and keep

While the receipts should be evidence enough, let's look at input from other POC as well, how about that? What do they have to say?

as a poc, yes, its fucking
whitewashing
KJSDNFJKNSFKSD

whitewashing is a term that can mean a lot of different things, but its most commonly known in the form of racism as to replace the fact that someone is poc. examples being casting someone white for a role where the character is actually poc.
lightening a dark persons skin to make themselves lighter is in fact whitewashing

both the art used in her theme and the psd she used is whitewashing angie, who if you even looked at a CANON ART SPRITE of is extremely dark. in the art and icons
she looks a lot lighter

this wasnt a mistake. this isnt an accident. she is aware of what shes done.
she can fuck off

hey it's me Lawrence a poc and MAAAAAN oh man its definetly whitewashing.
holy shit its whitewashing.
oh holy fuck its whitewashing.

2

lighting the skin of a dark skinned person is so white washing even thinking of it makes me sick. if the only way you could find an acceptable way for a poc to be on your blog was by lighting their skin well then honey the year is 2017 not the 1800s ive got some

the 1800s ive got some NEWS FOR YOU.

2

Anyways yeah its gross its whitewashing. can confirm.

as a poc, yeah it's WHITEWASHING also considering i also rp a poc character and have made over 4 psds for him, IT'S NOT HARD TO MAKE A PSD FOR POC THAT DOESN'T WHITEWASH THEM.

3

yup! i'm black and even if your muse isn't all that dark-skinned, like a medium brown like angie,
it's still considered whitewashing to lighten her skin! use a different psd!
it's just that easy! like .. how hard is it to make another one .. seeing situations like this just makes me sad, ppl are rude for no reason..

4

As a poc [Trinidadian] yes lightening the skin on purpose is whitewashing. Its like you're saying melanin is dirty and um, excuse me? White people tan to get close to my tone so obviously its gorgeous. Whitewashing sends a negative message saying my skin would be better if it was lighter and that's not right.

5

Today at 5:53 PM

i am a white passing poc and that is def whitewashing

Today at 5:56 PM

technically speaking even though I'm pale as a ghost I'm also white passing & she can kiss my ass

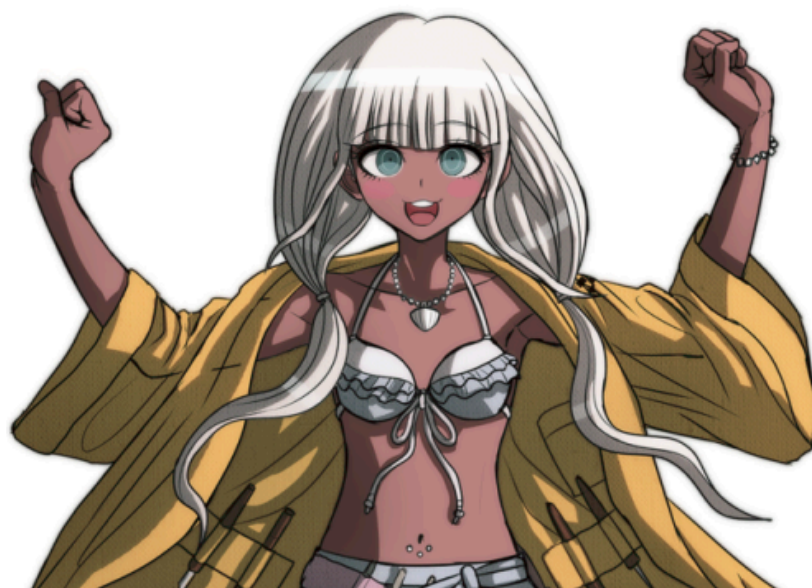

Wow! Would you look at that? Not just one, not two, but multiple people have reaffirmed the receipts--what you're doing is whitewashing. Simple as that.

You may try to argue again that you DIDN'T whitewash her on purpose. And while that may have been true at first, you not only came out and ADMITTED to knowing she was whitewashed, but celebrated the fact you were going to continue to do it! Since you ARE now purposefully whitewashing her, we can stop treating this as an accident.

Here's your next argument; "But the game whitewashes Angie, too!"

You're right, it does.

atuaism

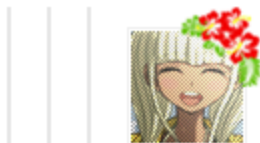

#🐦 . IN THE END ANGIE GOT BOARD™ (ooc) #WHAT'S FUNNY IS #EVEN THE GAME #WHITEWASHED ANGIE
#time to send the dev's of the game hate yo #drama? #PFF

Here's where you admit Angie is whitewashed and that you're aware of it. Here's the thing, Vakaiya. Have a seat, listen up. JUST BECAUSE THE GAME DEVELOPERS WHITEWASHED ANGIE, IT DOESN'T MAKE IT OKAY OR EXCUSE YOU FOR DOING IT TOO. THE GAME DEVELOPERS SHOULDN'T HAVE DONE IT EITHER. ALL OF YOU ARE IN THE WRONG. WHITE WASHING IS NOT EXCUSABLE, EVER.

By YOUR OWN ACCOUNT, this is whitewashing. By YOUR OWN ACCOUNT, this is a racist action. It's NOT "funny." Whitewashing is not a joke, you are not funny, and your excuses are empty. You are racist.

atuaism

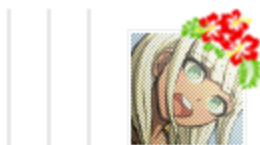

so I took a nap and woke up and I have some wonderful news ~ I feel so much better and so much more happier now that I have no worries. now I know there's no real reason to post this, but it is just such lovely news I have to post it, especially since i know there are some creepy stalkers that are actually stalking my blog ~ anyways, it's is very early in the morning and i waited for my boyfriend, ian, to come home from work. he worked all day and i felt bad to bother him, but i did it anyways. when he came home from work i asked him if he could help me determine something.

now, my boyfriend ian, has a darker skin tone. so i decided to show him two pictures. first i showed him this.

after that i showed him the following icon.

i then proceeded to ask, "does the second one seemed whitewashed to you?" and the exact words from his mouth were, "no? the fuck? it just looks sunnier, if anything, she just seems more blond." i then told him the story about my day and he is very angry and had some choice words that i won't repeat here.

anyways, i know there are going to be some fools who will doubt me and call me a liar so i decided i will gladly send you the link to our discord where you can jump into a call with both me and him and he can tell you, to your face, all the wonderful things he told me about the situation! i feel so much better now that i have confirmed this with him. and my blog will continue as it has from here on out!!! <3

#🐦. IN THE END ANGIE GOT BOARD™ (ooc) #byeonara #drama
#for now it is time for bed ~ #nighty night!

Now, let's address THIS post. We'll start with the quickest point:

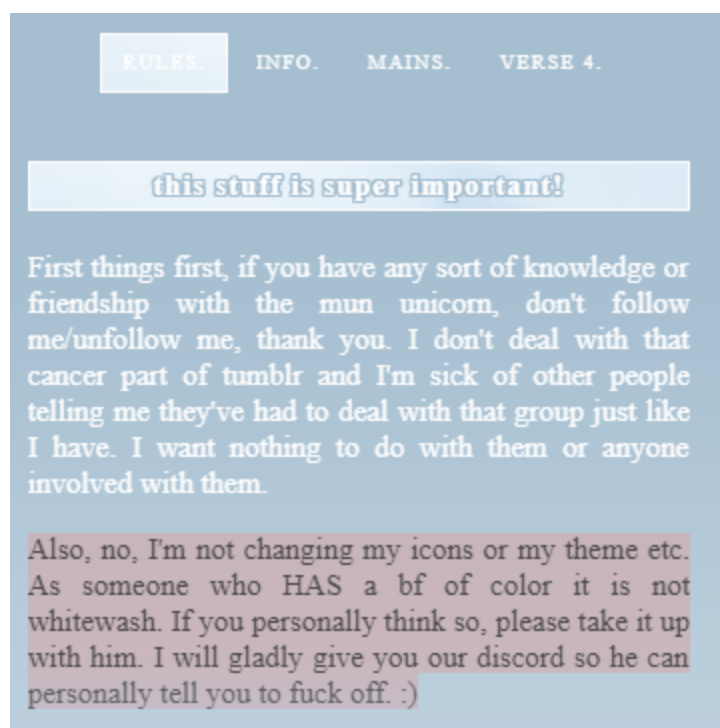

- Considering your history lying and faking your own friends, which we'll get to, those of us involved who knew you before have serious doubts your "boyfriend" exists and some reputable input on the fact that he doesn't. That being said, no one is comfortable getting into a discord chat with you for any reason, so we'll add this,

If he DOES exist, we'd like to teach you something; one person does not dictate the opinion of an entire community. Just because your boyfriend says it's not racist / whitewashing doesn't mean it ISN'T. Because it is. No matter what defense you pull out or what you get your boyfriend to say on your behalf, it's whitewashing.

It doesn't matter whether the two of you think it's whitewashing or not. IT IS. And there's ample proof of it.

Also, YOU'VE JUST GIVEN US DIRECT PROOF THAT YOU ARE WILLINGLY WHITEWASHING YOUR MUSE. If the first psd had been your psd to begin with, NONE of this would have ever happened or gotten to this point. You know why? Because THAT psd ISN'T whitewashed. Angie is dark skinned and not lightened to look whiter.

By posting this, you're showing you not only are aware of how to better your psd and make it NOT whitewash your muse, but that you INTENTIONALLY did it and will continue to do it.

This speaks for itself.

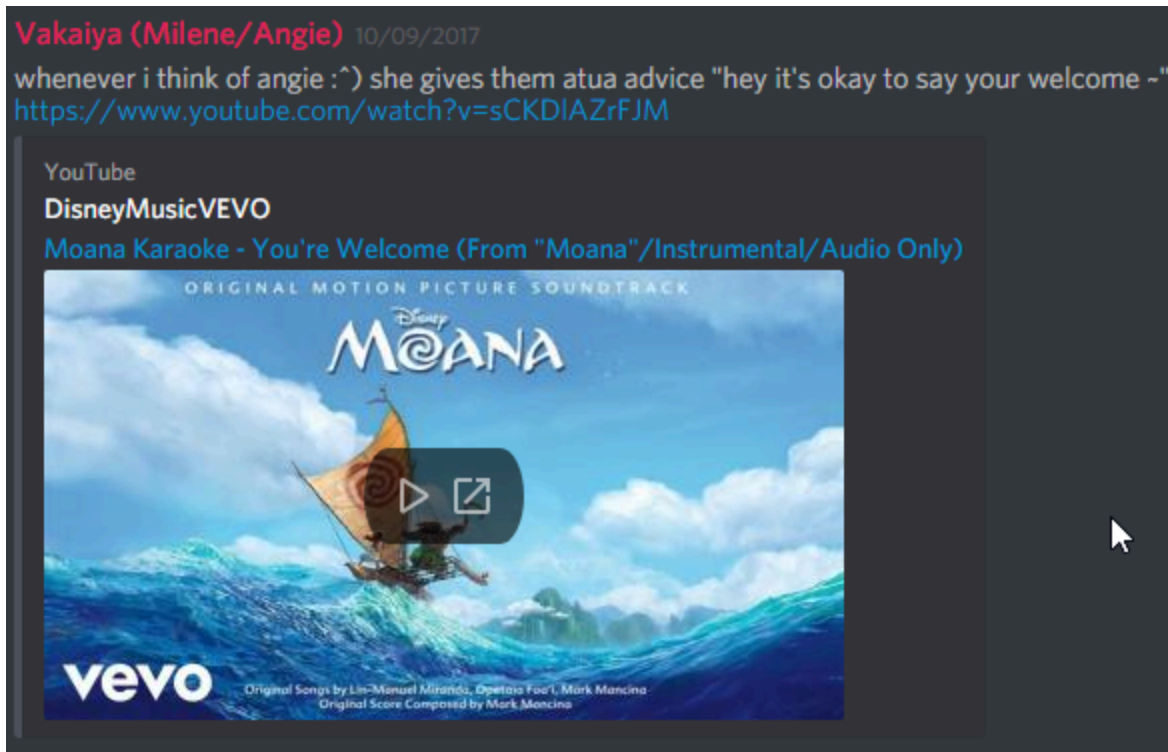

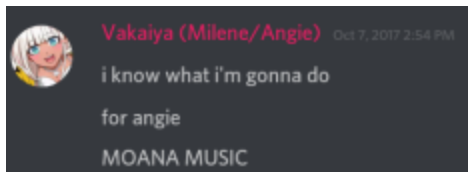

Furthermore, Angie's character alone is, regrettably, a racist stereotype on her own. Kodaka has a trend of putting troubling/controversial themes into his work, and Angie herself is a victim of it. It's even stated in the character's information itself, "The locals also have lots of unusual customs, some of them quite unsettling. Notably, they give non-fatal blood sacrifices for their god using human blood, with a sacrifice truck coming around on Mondays and Wednesdays." As a whole, she's meant to encompass the 'uncivilized islander/uncivilized poc' archetype thanks to these customs and unusual mannerisms.

Through a few posts, it's mentioned her religion is akin to that of the Polynesian peoples, for 'Atua' specifically--they are primarily located in Hawaii and New Zealand--though in particular her 'religion' isn't one that's easy to label.

It should be noted too, that the original translation was only "God of the Island" or "Kamisama", further making this indistinguishable from any particular religion. Whether the localization intended to be racist or not is debatable, but it does not brush away the fact she IS a stereotype, and guess what, Vakaiya? Perpetuating racist stereotypes on top of whitewashing is, well, racist. A few examples:

playlist

• exotic

“But if you’re calling me out on this, you need to call out every OTHER Angie roleplayer on the site who follows the characterization of the translation!” You’ve shown harmful racist ideologies beyond the problems already presented to Angie’s character in the game itself. That makes YOUR portrayal particularly concerning.

We’d say that about sums up the most recent of your transgressions and the most relevant section of this post. However, Vakaiya, if you’re still not convinced on how childish and inappropriate your behavior is--let’s look at some more of your offenses. Some still recent enough, some dating back to little under a year ago. Have you made any attempts to change at all? From the looks of it, it doesn’t seem like you have. And you’ve had plenty of opportunities now haven’t you?

Bonus:

Vakaiya (Milene/Angie) Last Saturday at 12:06 PM
lmfao why would i rp a character to whitewash them?

Vakaiya (Milene/Angie) Last Saturday at 12:07 PM

I hate society

holy shit

you add a gradient to a character for your PSD and you get accused of whitewashing?!

the fuck?!

it is so annoying to not be able to do something without people getting offended for no actual reason

if I wanted to whitewash I would have made her pixel lighter too

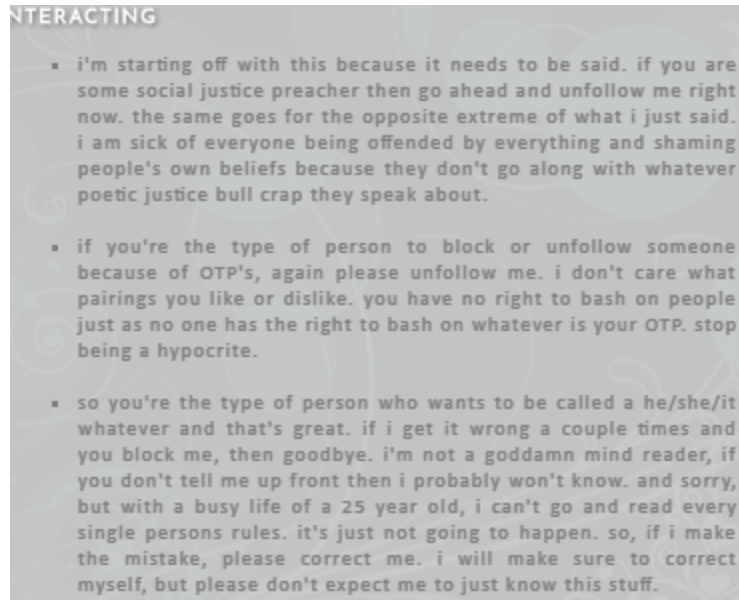

Funny you should mention the pixel on your blog.

Because that's a very, very, very drastic difference in skin color, Vakaiya. Whitewashed, even.

II. TRANSPHOBIA.

The following cap is pulled from the rules on one of your blogs. With input from multiple people who identify with multiple genders, we're going to break down what the problem here is.

What's the point of following someone if you refuse to read their rules? It doesn't take long to check someone's blog and find out what pronouns they prefer. It actually takes a few seconds, a minute at most. For you to use the "I'm not a mind reader" defense is disrespectful to the partners you risk misgendering because of your attitude, at best. We know it's hard to remember rules for every blog under the sun, but is it really necessary for you to ignore someone's pronouns just because you refuse to take even a few seconds to go in and check what they prefer? It doesn't matter if you're busy, we expect you to be a decent person and put the effort into not misgendering your partners. Being angry about this is not a matter of being a "social justice preacher," it's because you're avoiding doing something very simple and being transphobic about it.

"So you're the type of person that wants to be called a he/she/it whatever and that's great." The NEUTRAL PRONOUN you're looking for is 'they'. Secondly, the added on 'a' speaks volumes --- a person isn't 'a' he, 'a' she, or 'an it' as YOU so kindly put it. Gender as a whole is a spectrum, this is scientific fact and if you so desire to learn about that, there's plenty of resources for you! (In fact, here's one just for you so you don't have to spend the extra time! How kind of us, huh? LINK.) The binary stretches beyond just 'male' or 'female', and to call people an 'it' is more than dehumanizing. Objects, you call 'it'. Subject matters, maybe. Not people, not real human lives. It's not difficult to look on someone's page to see if they have their preferred pronouns listed, and it's certainly not difficult to address them that way! It's part of being a decent human being. And since we've all been informed you have a habit of dragging your political stance into arguments--don't bother calling this 'liberal' or 'left-wing'. It's called RESPECT.

Elaborating on that point--"I'm not a goddamn mind reader." Well, we sure hope you aren't, because if you are you've been doing a poor job at knowing what people expect of you. That, or as we've already proven, you're flat out ignoring us and pushing the guilt onto others. If you don't know, read the above paragraph again, or, and this is the EASY part--just ASK! If you don't know something, it's a safe bet to just drop an ask in someone's inbox, maybe send an IM asking what they prefer if you plan to talk OOC.

No one's asking you to fully read their rules pages--honestly, lately everyone KNOWS all of their followers aren't going to read every last detail. That's why there's bullet points, italics, bolded words or segments--so it's easier for people like you to find out what's relevant or important to that blog/person. If you have time to, as you so delicately put it, nag nag nag at us and others for calling you out on these things, you have time to read someone's rules or mun page to know what pronouns they prefer.

III. BIPHOBIA AND HOMOPHOBIA.

Let's go over this. A conversation held on a public server, surrounded by multiple people, about sexuality. Normally a topic that should be understanding and sharing experiences, perhaps. This is a scenario that you turned uncomfortable. Before we take a look at the actual receipts, let's preface this by saying that although you claim to be bisexual, and even if that's true, that in no way excuses you from being prejudiced against your own or other people's sexualities. The point of this isn't to argue whether you're lying about your sexuality or not. That's not our place. The point of bringing this up is to indicate how truly off-putting it is to read the thing you said considering what you claim.

Here, we are moving into experiences people have had with you in the past being brought to light now.

4 BLOCKED MESSAGES

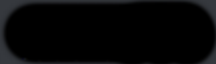

Vakaiya 10/29/2016

hahaha

I'm bi

but not in a creepy way

I'm low key about it

10/29/2016

Why would there be a creepy way

4 BLOCKED MESSAGES

10/29/2016

Why would there be a creepy way

2 BLOCKED MESSAGES

Vakaiya 10/29/2016

idk some people are really creepy about it

lol

10/29/2016

How tho

  10/29/2016
How tho

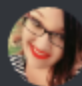

3 BLOCKED MESSAGES

 Vakaiya 10/29/2016
like guys who are like asking questions about girl on girl or whenever I run into another person who's bi they just. .always talk about it LIKE CONSTANTLY
LIKE CHILL

  10/29/2016
I don't think I understand

  10/29/2016
I don't think I understand

2 BLOCKED MESSAGES

 Vakaiya 10/29/2016
it's hard to explain ;;
like people think weird stuff about you when you're bi or get weirded out because "omg you're bi, you don't have a crush on me do you? gross!"

  10/29/2016
Well... but that's homophobic
There's no creepy bi

1 BLOCKED MESSAGE

Vakaiya 10/29/2016

I had one creepy bi person find out I was bi and was trying to plan things with me, but not. . . just with me. like talking about doing this and that and that creeped me out a bit.

10/29/2016

Well but that's not about their sexuality but them as a person

1 BLOCKED MESSAGE

10/29/2016

:///// I really don't agree with what you're saying but lmao I don't wanna argue on a public forum with lots of other people

1 BLOCKED MESSAGE

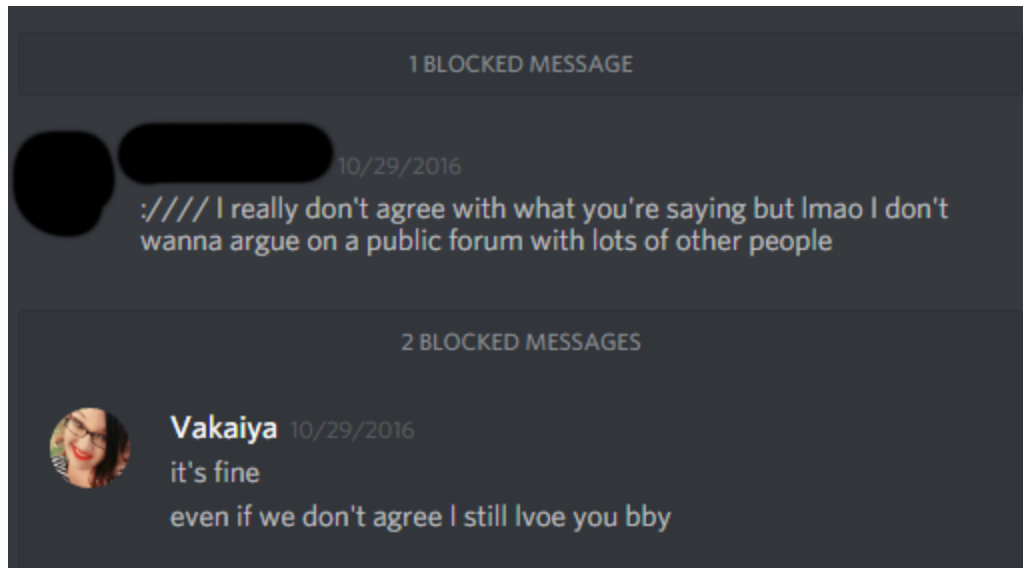

Vakaiya 10/29/2016

well not completely since it was this and that with both genders. like being bi is great, you get best of both worlds, I get it but they seemed to just take it a little too far for my taste anyways.

10/29/2016

:///// I really don't agree with what you're saying but lmao I don't wanna argue on a public forum with lots of other people

2 BLOCKED MESSAGES

Where to start, Vakaiya. You were given the opportunity to clarify your statement in case you worded it wrong the first time. You were told that bisexual people are NOT inherently creepy, as is nobody of any particular sexual orientation, but you were very adamant to argue you were right. This is hurtful and it is biphobic. You cannot, under any circumstance, label an entire group of people like this, a group of people YOU claim to be part of, even. As mentioned before, poc can still be racist and people of varying sexualities can still be biphobic / homophobic / etc.

From caps in our guilt-tripping section, you speak of your sexuality as well, talking about how difficult it was for you to come out and to then be scorned by others, but it seems you still don't understand what it's like. Do you have any idea of the type of judgement that's already imparted on bisexual people? "You're just confused?" Everything you just mentioned, which are common stereotypes used to insult bisexual people? These are more harmful stereotypes you perpetuate yourself. It's not something that generates a simple disagreement. It's unforgivable that you wouldn't realize how awful it is to say these things even after prompted against it.

On top of that, "being bi is great, I get it, you get the best of both worlds?" Honestly, it's hard not to question where you're coming from. How can you talk about your own sexuality like it's some sort of dessert with chocolate and vanilla rather than an important part of people's lives? It's not a choice, it's not a fun little game; it's something you're judged harshly over, just like you did here. To regard so many people under distinctive negative traits like that is honestly discouraging, but on top of that also to also fetishize it?

██████ #★ 11 — — VAK IS BACK WITH THOSE SHENANIGANS. (OOC)
 #DOES IT COUNT IF I'M HALF GAY?! #i need friends
 #imma hermit crab living in a closet of ramen

Going off what was said earlier, this is a more recent addition: not 2016, but middle of 2017, in case you were willing to argue you've changed on this topic. "Half gay," that's not something you say. Did you know "gay" is an umbrella term that doesn't only represent homosexuality? What even are you claiming here? That you're half-gay, half-straight? You're not a living puzzle with two battling sides, you're literally perpetuating stereotypes again through that phrase alone whether you realize it or not. The thought that you choose one or the other and you "get the best of both worlds." It's tiresome you'd respond with this after someone said they were a lesbian. No, that doesn't count.

There is continued evidence of your homophobia in the guilt tripping section.

Bonus:

 Vakaiya (Milene/Angie) Last Tuesday at 6:48 PM
 yes and no? while i know you ship yaoi you still interact with everyone else. that's like asking me "are you here for the hetero?" like yes and no lol

IV. ABLEISM.

#🦋 . TO BECOME A VESSEL FOR ATUA'S CREATIVITY™ (MEME)
 #so imma tard and my ask box was for the wrong blog #FEELSAMAZINGMAN

So, Vakaiya. Do you know where we're going to go with this? It's pretty straightforward, so this section should be pretty quick. Using slurs is ableist! Using a shortened version of "retard" is ableist! This is a slur you use often in casual conversation to refer to yourself and you have been using since those involved with you in the past knew you. It's not okay to call yourself a "retard" or a "tard"! Don't do that!

Now, we're going to address a post from earlier.

Archived from: atuaism

HOOPLA! asked:

I don't intend to be rude or attack you but don't you think your theme and icons are sort of light in comparison to Angie's actual skin tone on her sprites?

for her theme, that drawing has not been altered. that was just how the artist drew angie. as for my icons, the reason why it looks different is because i put a yellow gradient effect on them to give them a more "island" look to go along with my theme and PSD for her icons. if you're implying that I am not okay with her skin color, then please unfollow me. i may be white, but i'll tell you right now that skin color does not matter to me. personally, i hate being white because i'm a ghost that can never get a tan and my skin just burns off. i understand your concern, but it really wasn't necessary considering the PSD for my icons has a gradient that gives a yellow tint and as for the artist, that's just how they did their work. but if you need proof take a look below the "read more"

More specifically, we're going to look at the tags that were on that ask.

#Anonymous #👁️. YOU WHOSE FACE IS AS GREY AS CLAY™ (ANON) #like what?
#if you're gonna accuse me of whitewashing like holy shit dude
#you need a reality check or some heavy therapy
#WHY DOES EVERYONE TAKE EVERYTHING OFFENSIVELY?!

"You need a reality or some heavy therapy." Do you really think that's something that's okay to say? You said it in a way that's CLEARLY meant as an insult. Therapy is not something you get to use in a negative connotation. Indicating someone needs therapy or that having any form of disorder is something that can be used as an insult is ableist. Don't do that!

This sort of behavior is NOT ACCEPTABLE.

V. INCEST.

This part really does speak for itself, Vakaiya.

omniscitus:

Why, I could just pinch your cheeks ~

^ Why, please do ~ ♡ ^

Which cheeks though, I wonder ~

WHEN YOU'RE LOW KEY FLIRTY WITH YOUR ANCESTOR; CLASSY; KEK; I ADORE HER TOO SADLY I ONLY KNOW SO MUCH;

Since we both rped muses from the same canon family line, Vakaiya was closest to me from that group so she used 2 write me starters and/or talk to me about them daily in a fandom group we used to have and somehow the incestuous stuff was randomly inserted in our threads at one point?? We didn't plot it (or any of our other threads since she was always the one to come up w the

| Say something

any of our other threads since she was always the one to come up w the "ideas") so based on my experience Vakaiya prolly thinks incest is Nice™ sajfgds

Then she started talking abt how her muse is flirting with mine as if I didn't alrd see that so I'm guessing that was her subtle way of telling me she wants to ship w/o getting the consequences? At one point I thought she might be consequences? At one point I thought she might be joking or smth (which is why I went along with it for like 2-4 replies) but then she dropped the bomb w "is this crack? i doubt it" like... AKAJFK st op

| Say something

We've had like ? 1 thread I think, which didn't involve smth incestuous in it like her muse talking abt pinching my muse's cheeks (then going "which cheeks i

Say something

"is this crack? i doubt it" like... AKAJFK st op

We've had like ? 1 thread I think, which didn't involve smth incestuous in it like her muse talking abt pinching my muse's cheeks (then going "which cheeks i wonder") or some threads in which she shoved my muse's head between her muse's breasts etc

Say something

Not only are you shipping someone with their ancestor, you are also trying to force that ship on someone who wants nothing to do with it. "But it's an ancestor! Why are you making it a big deal!" Well, Vakaiya, you see,

an·ces·tor

/ˈan,sestər/ 🔊

noun

a person, typically one more remote than a grandparent, from whom one is descended.

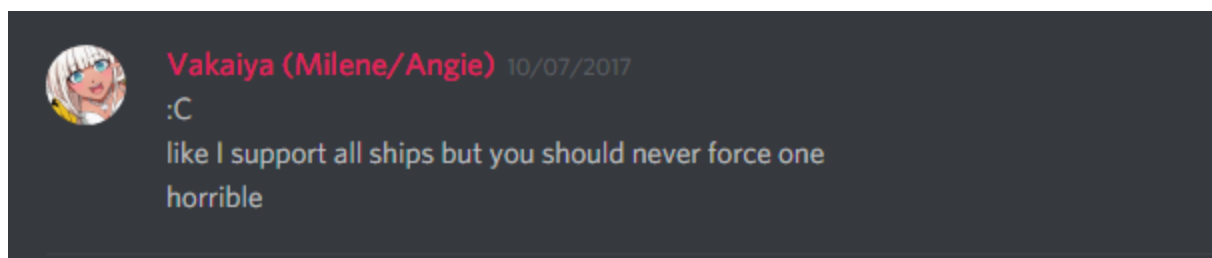

"my ancestor Admiral Anson circumnavigated the globe 250 years ago"

synonyms: forebear, forefather, predecessor, antecedent, progenitor, primogenitor

"he could trace his ancestors back to colonial Boston"

It would seem that ancestors and their descendents are related. "But incest is legally defined as a relationship between a parent, child, sibling, or grandchild! Relatives 'too close to be legally married'!" That doesn't erase the incestuous tones of the relationship or the fact you tried to force that relationship onto someone who was uncomfortable with it. Either way, it's still gross.

Bonus:

VI. GUILT-TRIPPING.

Now, let's get to your favorite topic on this list: why it's impossible to talk to you in private about these matters, using examples from BOTH past encounters and recent encounters, from people who have known you for almost a year and people who met you this week. Not only are the discussions themselves almost exactly the same, but you know what else hasn't changed? Your guilt-tripping attitude. Your stance on things is that you're NEVER in the wrong and if people aren't willing to see eye-to-eye with you, it's their fault and not yours.

With permission from every party these next multitude of screencaps involve, we're going to share conversations you had IN THEIR ENTIRETY, some much longer than others, trying to resolve issues with them.

The first two of which were in response to people you supposedly considered to be "friends" of yours despite how poorly you go on to treat them in these examples. Please note that these conversations took place almost a year ago because we're going to compare them to your recent behavior!

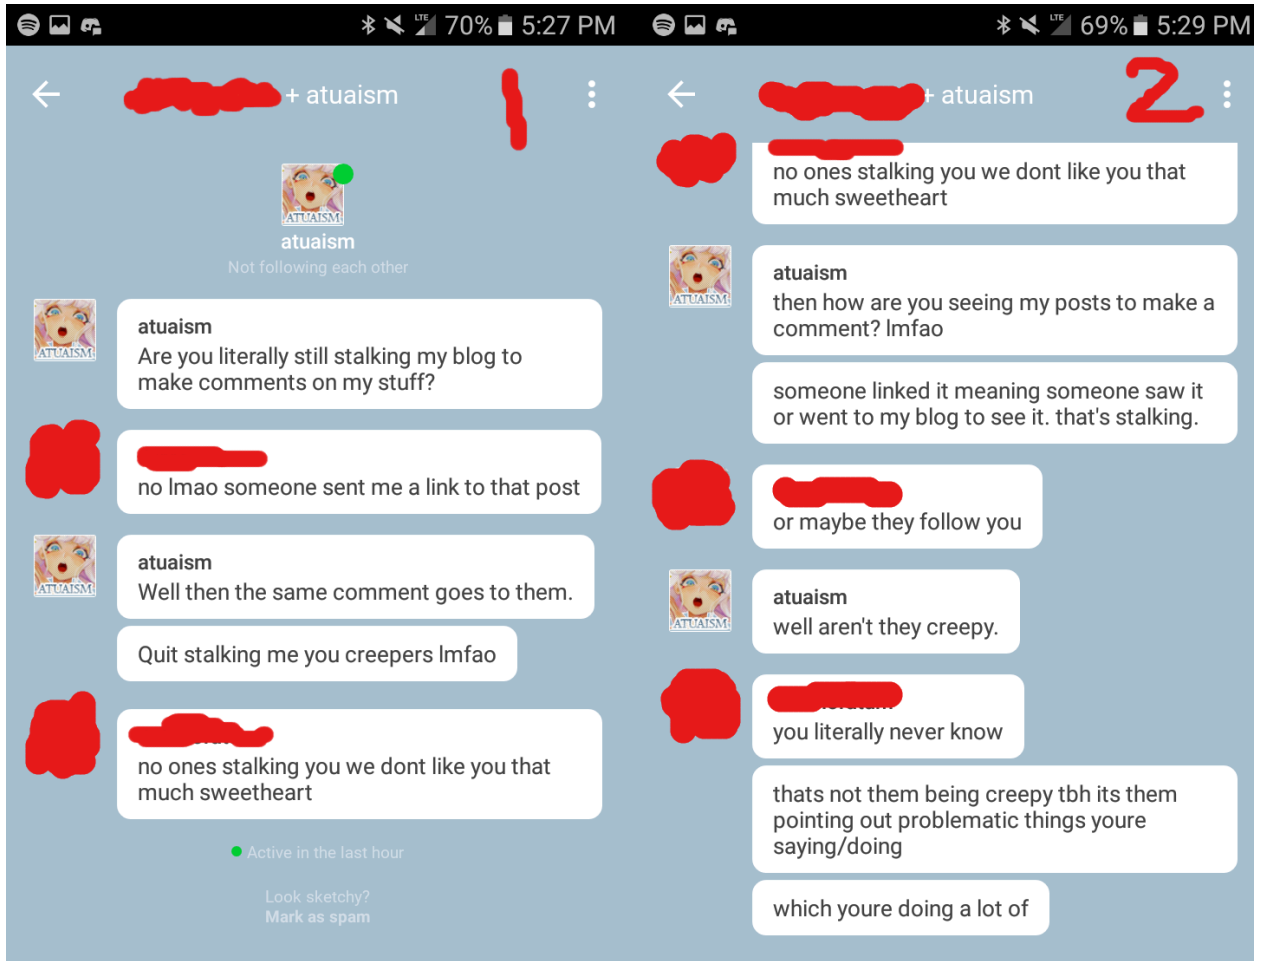

"But I apologized for that one!" Yes, you did, and we'll explain what's wrong with your apology after we've given all the context.

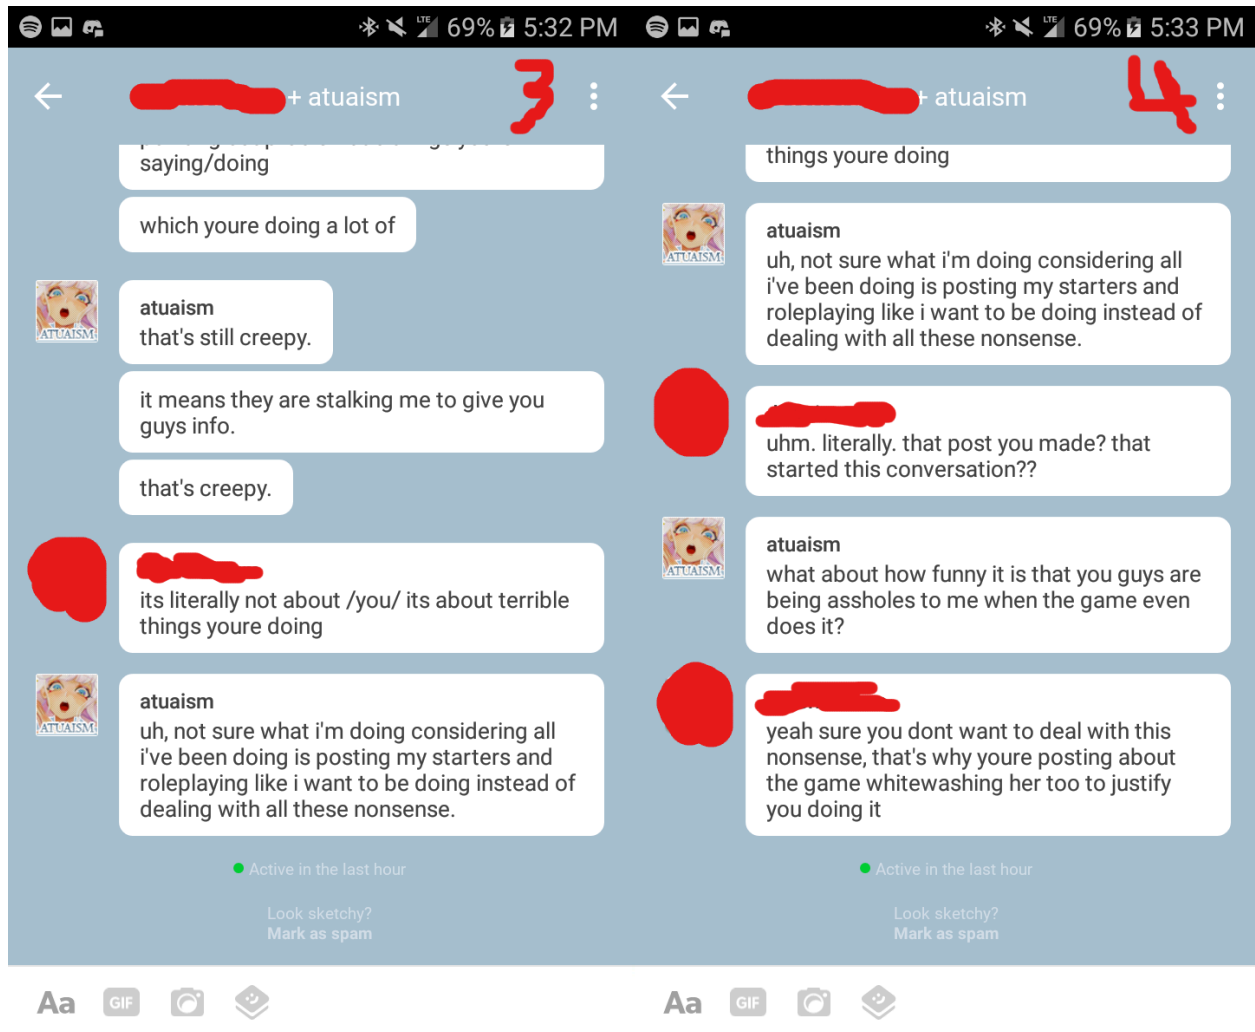

Now, then. Despite your claims that there's never been any effort to properly talk things through with you, there's proof there have in fact been SEVERAL.

In the interest of making it impossible for you to say we left ANYTHING out of context, we've decided to show the ENTIRE length of every conversation, one of which is very long. Nothing is taken out of context, nothing is edited.

This is a long one, Vakaiya. We hope you enjoy reading.

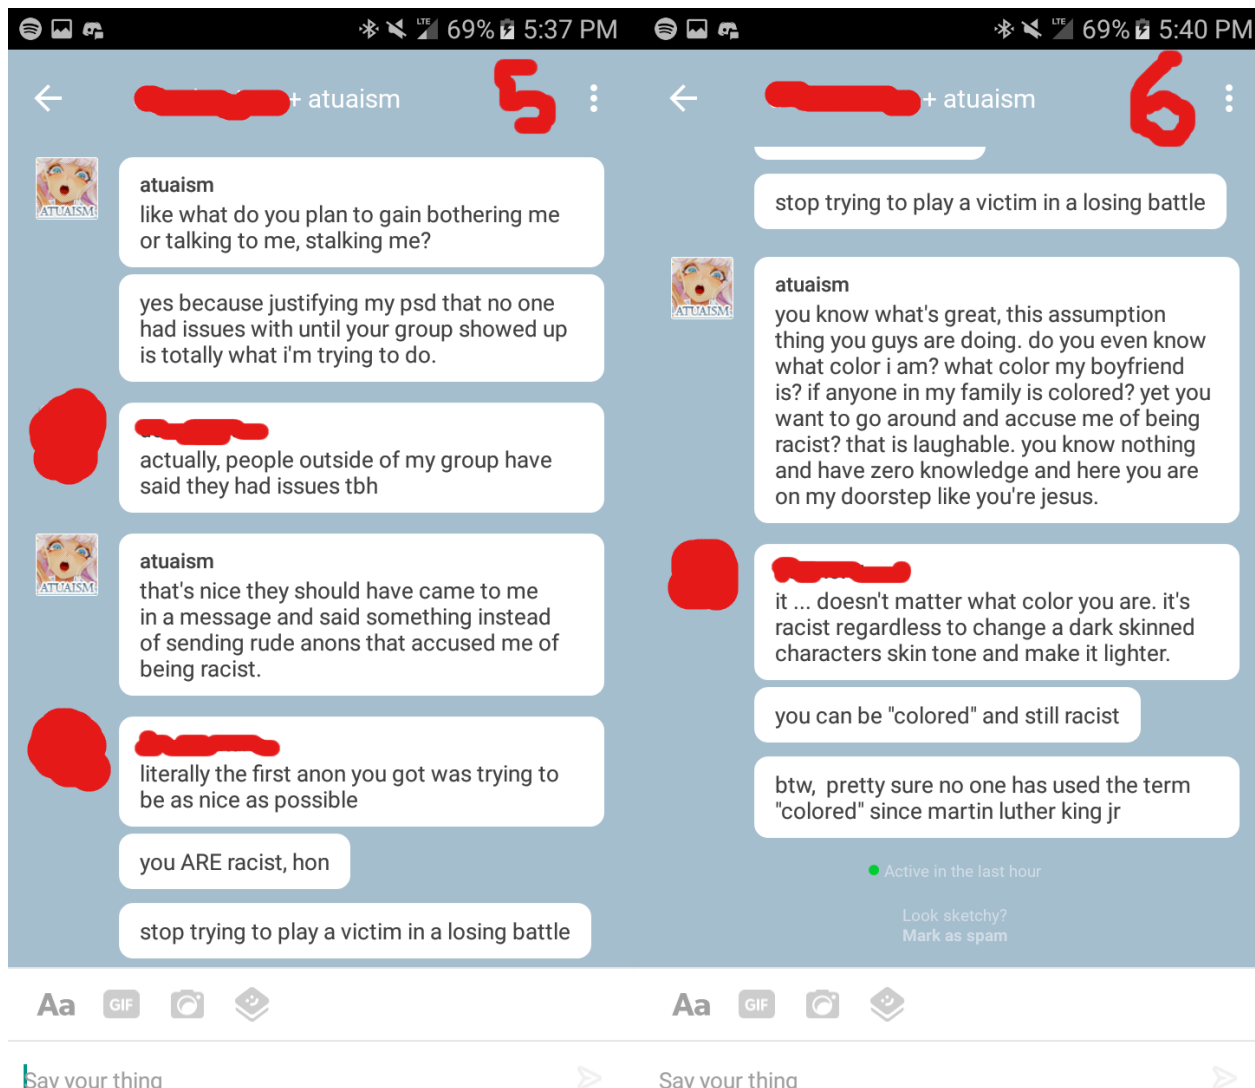

Let's start out with another recent and relevant private discussion you had with someone regarding whitewashing Angie.

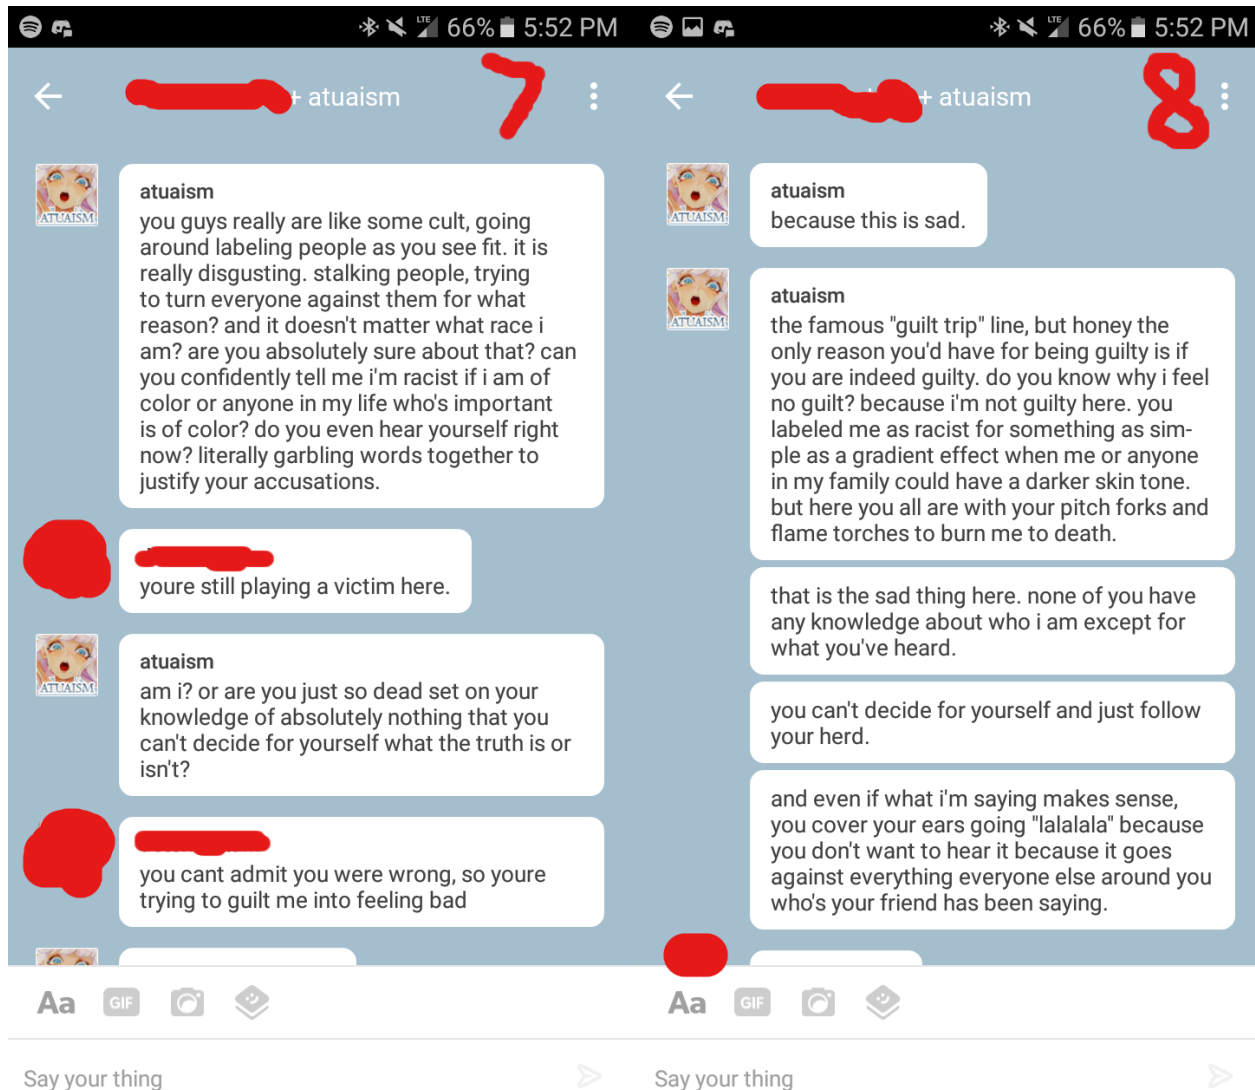

Immediately, you accused this person of stalking you: they told you the truth, that THEY were linked the post and simply replied to it (post in question: the post shown at the top of this document which you put up showing Angie being whitewashed by the game art.) You immediately tried to say that you didn't know what you were doing wrong, that you were just roleplaying and ignoring the drama, despite making a post that was further trying to justify your own whitewashing by using canon whitewashed art. Furthermore, you keep saying no one aside from their "group" has had issues with your blog, yet the original anon that was sent to you was kind and not someone affiliated with the people who were involved with you in the past, Vakaiya. The person you're speaking to in this message has never been affiliated with the "group."

Your past "friends" are not the only people who noticed you whitewashing, Vakaiya. This team is a testament to that.

"If anyone in my family is colored." Colored. You, fighting against being called out as a racist, just used the word... colored. Vakaiya, this isn't the 1940s. Care to join us in the modern age?

"Zero knowledge." Everyone is currently trying to educate you from what we can see.

You just tried to play the “I’m a poc/someone I know is poc so it’s not racist to whitewash” card. We’ve stated this several times: there’s no “rules” to being a racist. Anyone can be a racist. It doesn’t matter what your skin color is: changing someone’s skin tone and making it lighter is whitewashing and it’s racist. The person in this conversation didn’t see you out yourself on trying to lie to them, but we did, Vakaiya. Remember when we all told you to take note of you saying you’re white in a previous screenshot? You tried to lie your way out of this by saying “you don’t know if I’m a poc!!” when you are, in fact, white. In fact, it was posted in the original anon message that STARTED this.

“Are you so dead set on your knowledge of absolutely nothing that you can’t decide what isn’t the truth or not?” Again. Everyone who reached out to you stated the facts. There are no ifs, ands, or buts about it. You. Are. Whitewashing. You keep saying that WE'RE the ones who don't know anything, but we, the majority, are telling you, over and over again: YOU ARE WHITEWASHING.

Anyways, this comes up later too, but you really like ignoring one of the definitions of guilt tripping, so let us help you out with that.

verb

verb: guilt-trip; 3rd person present: guilt-trips; past tense: guilt-tripped; past participle: guilt-tripped; gerund or present participle: guilt-tripping

1. make (someone) feel guilty, especially in order to induce them to do something.
"a pay increase will not guilt-trip them into improvements"

MAKE SOMEONE FEEL GUILT, ESPECIALLY IN ORDER TO INDUCE THEM TO DO SOMETHING. Did you catch that? Do you have the knowledge you need now? Alright, then we can move on with the understanding that you're twisting one of the definitions of guilt tripping to make yourself seem like the victim in a situation where that is all you do.

"You just cover your ears saying 'lalalala,' because you don't want to hear it." You do realize, Vakaiya, that you've stated multiple times you didn't even read what we sent you?

You ignored the fact you're acting racist and skipped over those accusations of whitewashing for the sake of telling someone they're "following the herd." You refuse to admit you'd ever do any wrong and here we continue to see why private conversations fail with you. You're also still accusing someone you'd never met before up until now of stalking your blog.

“Slight yellow tint.” Refer to the top of this document where we prove multiple times the skin tone in your icons couldn’t have been achieved unless there was some form of brightening added to lighten the skin tone.

Turning it around to make YOU look like the victim is exactly what YOU do and what we have entire conversations proving, so read a little further for that.

You didn’t have to approach someone you didn’t know and instigate more drama out of this if you didn’t want to. But you did.

Refer to the definition of guilt tripping that we kindly provided for you. Also refer to any of the number of times we explained that intention has nothing to do with whitewashing.

At no point did we make you out to be “like some member of the KKK,” but throwing that statement in there didn't do you any favors, Vakaiya. Pointing out racism is not problematic. You are the one who is behaving in a way warranting of scrutiny, not those in the community or even the “group” you keep trying to pin everything on who pointed out your racism.

As a note, you had fun idling on some of our blogs as well, but we'll get to that.

“Not everyone has the same outlook on what’s good and what’s bad.” You’re right. People who think whitewashing are okay are racist, though.

Repeat: the people you keep pointing the finger at... didn’t start this! More people than just those in the DR community are lending a hand. More people than the “group” you have such a personal vendetta against are helping them call you out on your racism. Being a racist isn’t a small feud. It’s a problematic issue.

Also, YOU THREATENED TO SPREAD RUMORS ABOUT A MINOR SAYING THEY WERE A PEDOPHILE. This does not equate to that. We aren’t spreading rumors. These are FACTS.

See above.

This second set of ims starts out with someone attempting to reach out to you in good faith; explain what the situation is on their end during a fight you had with two of the people who you have been attacking recently and who have allowed all of us to comment on their conversations with you, as well as add their own input. This was around the time of the American election, when emotions were high, and you had an opposing viewpoint to the people you got into an argument with. You supported Trump, which you did, in fact, willingly admit yourself, and that offended them. They had every right to be offended due to the deeper meaning behind those opposing views, but you turned this into a guilt trip about YOUR feelings and getting YOUR way.

You know who these people are in these caps, they know you're well acquainted with them, but we, as a team, decided to censor everyone on this document, regardless of that.

We're going to attempt to do something you never gave the chance to do because of your guilt-tripping; EXPLAIN THE FLAW IN YOUR REASONINGS.

as an attempt to reach out and mend a bridge, i wanted to express that although our political standings are at odds and that has obviously caused some friction here, i think i can shine some light on this situation. ofc, i can't speak for [REDACTED] entirely, but i think, in her emotional state these past couple days, a few of your posts (not just yours; MANY peoples' btw) not so much about the	candidates themselves but about how people affected [REDACTED] 2 were handling trump's win likely rubbed her the wrong way and hurt her i, myself, have calmed down quite a bit, but at risk of exposing a look into our personal situation on my end, i spent an entire day yesterday searching for [REDACTED] out of fear she would seriously harm herself. and aside from me, who was also in a very, very bad emotional state in
--	--

3 in no way a position to help others, we didn't really have anyone to talk to bc our family was at odds with us for reasons unrelated to who they voted for and our roommates were in just as bad a condition as uni was. so we turned to expressing ourselves online with ppl we knew felt the same way & it helped us. my head is as clear as i'm going to get it in this situation so i've gotten to the point where i'm	4 breathing & willing to settle differences with people so long as they don't dismiss the valid fears & upset we minorities are feeling now that a man who is inevitably going to increase violence towards us (and, in fact, already has since election day) is in office among whatever reasons someone else may have ; the same way i do, in fact, recognize that hillary definitely wasn't a good choice either. both option sucked, but now many peoples' safety is
--	---

undeniably at risk. 5

the reason i put it that way is an attempt to mend understanding where [REDACTED] especially, as a member of the lgbt community, is concerned. she's the most affected in my circle and worried sick as i am, i also know it'll take some time for her to reach any sort of clarity. she's extremely emotional right now and she's running / acting off of / speaking from those emotions and even those emotions and even 6

i'm trying not to step on a land mine around her rn

i can mend bridges, but if she's acting exceptionally harsh with some of her posts, i offer the advice of just giving her time. she's a very nice person. far kinder than i am. she's just upset and terrified. so am i, but i bounce back quicker. neither of us want to run anyone out of the community, but neither of us are in a very good place community, but neither of 7 us are in a very good place right now, either. i'm admittedly very bitter and unicorn is obviously (understandably) losing it a little. not to mention she follows 3k ppl -- if either of us think election night was crazy here, i can only imagine what she saw with all the suicide baiting going on.

this is just my attempt at Insight and Advice(TM).

upset as i am at all of this, 8
i'm far more upset with people dismissing those of us terrified of what trump is inevitably going to do to damage minorities than i am with people who actually voted. and [REDACTED] is just all over the place bc her safety and happiness is now one of the main ones that will also inevitably be targeted. i'm sure if you just give her a couple days or a week or so, she'll be calm enough to work it out. but i know she wouldn't explain any of this to anyone bc i can tell she's still very out of it.

9

don't feel pressured to respond to this and even if you do, certainly don't feel pressured to give me something long and drawn out like this is. i figured i'd just throw something out there after thinking it over for a while.

11/10/2016

infatuis

infatuis

I didn't see this until now, but I know it's not easy, it's not easy for anyone. However, I don't think blaming the violence on one man is very fair. He hasn't even done anything yet. It's not him, it's the people and the people are meshing into him making people angry at him and it really upsets me. People aren't even giving him a chance. He literally hasn't done anything and yet

10

We won't get into political debates on this, but it is a fact that violence rose at the time due to Trump's election win. You have no right to tell someone it's "not fair" to place blame on someone that is DETRIMENTAL to their community's or loved one's safety, especially considering you are in an entitled position. It doesn't matter what you believe in terms of whether or not people 'aren't giving him a chance', that he hasn't done anything (an ironic statement now), etc, because you have no right to dismiss people's FEARS.

people are upset by how other people are acting that he's a terrible person and a monster.

11

however, I'm not going to say much else about that since i know i'm stepping on eggshells as it is since i noticed that even you unfollowed me before i even saw this and it was probably in regards to the lgbt thing i put on my heroine blog. but i really want to give him a chance. i just can't dismiss him because people around the US want to be fucking stupid and cruel to people that don't deserve it.

12

i don't blame either of you if you want nothing to do with me. i'm just upset and angry that i'm being thrown out because of a choice i made. it just feels hypocritical. everyone else gets to make a choice, weather it's their orientation or a choice of what to do in their life in general and just because i made one choice everyone hates me.

The “LGBT thing” you posted, which we unfortunately don’t have the caps for, but considering everything else we’ve discussed against you, we’ll still put out there for people to make their own decisions on. You posted a news article that explained why Trump is a supporter of LGBT+ people and @’d someone who is a lesbian as proof for why she shouldn’t feel offended by your political views. They had every right to unfollow you for that and you have no right to guilt trip them for it.

“Cruel to people who don’t deserve it,” we won’t get into it, but have you ever considering utilizing Google to check out some of the things Trump has said, done and supported to the minorities you’re claiming are being “stupid and cruel” when they’re fearing for their lives? Consider it?

“I don’t blame either of you,” you clearly blame these people for wanting nothing to do with you.

But you know what the most insidious comment is of this entire exchange, Vakaiya? “Everyone gets to make a choice, whether it’s their orientation or a choice of what to do in their life in general and just because I made one choice, everyone hates me.” Vakaiya. Vakaiya, listen. You’ve sworn up, down, and sideways that every time THIS particular cap gets shared, it’s out of context and we’re twisting your words. Well, here’s all the context, the whole conversation and you’re STILL saying the same thing. It gets put into perspective in ANOTHER instance where you share your homophobia with us later, but we’ll stay here for now.

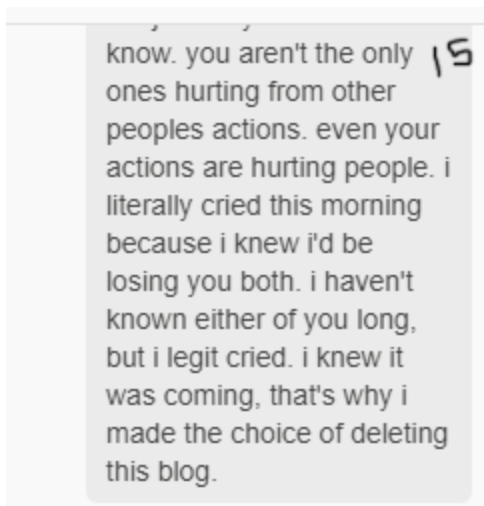

Your sexual orientation is not a choice. You do not wake up one morning, search up recent news on sexuality, and decide that you’re bisexual or homosexual or asexual (or...) You are BORN as you are. Your sexuality is not a political choice you make. For you, a bisexual by your own claim, to say something like this is despicable. This is HOMOPHOBIC.

There is NO CONTEXT that makes this statement okay. There is no way to reword or explain this statement in a way that takes away what you said.

Through your own, unedited, in context words, you stated: “CHOOSING” TO BE (INSERT SEXUALITY HERE) IS THE SAME AS CHOOSING YOUR POLITICAL CANDIDATE.

Guilt-tripping.

You are BLATANTLY GUILT-TRIPPING SOMEONE who approached you politely in hopes of working out an issue they were NOT required to work out with you considering your opposing ideas. They were not the one in the wrong here, Vakaiya. They had every right to break off contact with you after you met their message the way they did. And after asking them personally why they decided not to respond to you and attempt to talk things over further:

Today at 12:33 AM

Would you be willing to explain why you didn't reply at that point?

Today at 12:33 AM

Oh, yeah, so like.

The reason I didn't try talking it out after that point was because I'd just gone through everything with Prince Ruffles when all of that happened, so I was really keen to guilt-tripping? Like the moment she replied I got REALLY uncomfortable because it reminded me of having conversations with him and I was just oh here we are again lmao. I suspected that if I went on it would get worse, so instead of continuing, I decided to just... quietly block her.

I mean it wasn't JUST that though?? That was the bulk of it but out of everything she said, Vakaiya made one comment that I was SUPER SUPER not okay with ^(edited) and that was when she compared sexual orientation to making a choice.

Like I was already uncomfortable with all the political disagreements. Even though it was a very emotional thing at the time, I still stand by being uncomfortable around people who don't share my views, which while some may disagree with, is still my right?? ^(edited)

If I want to unfollow anyone for my comfort for any reason, I shouldn't be made to feel guilty over it. And I DID approach to kind of work things out and I thought I went about it in a really cordial way but her response REALLY squicked me out.

Then I got to that point where she was like yada yada me making a political decision is the same as x making a choice to be homosexual or whatever and I was just NEVER MIND

Literally I blocked her right after that and didn't acknowledge her again until she started claiming we were really rude to her and called her racist and etc and a lot of other stuff we NEVER DID and I posted a thing regarding that but all the links are broken so it's kinda useless

Still, though, that's why I didn't try to talk it out further. I was uncomfortable and I saw no chance of us working things out, so I removed myself from the situation.

Link for easier reading.

And there you have it, instance one. But this wasn't the only person you did this to during that time. No, you got much more involved with guilt-tripping someone else who was your "friend" during that time. This is a very, very long exchange. But since every time someone has an issue with you, you like to say things are taken out of context: again, we're going to share all of it.

Even in this next round of conversations, you tried to act like you were the innocent one despite vaguing and putting false accusations towards what was said to you on your blog about those involved. If you can't take ANY fault for your actions and meet halfway, and you truly believe you're the ONLY ONE worth listening to, then there's not much that can be talked over. They tried to talk to you in private through every transgression you've had with them, no matter how upsetting or unresponsive you were to feedback.

The most damning case of this is your conversation with another past friend. This delves into politics; we will not comment on the majority of the heavy politics.

Every time there was an attempt to salvage this, you'd claim this was some convoluted plot against you. While, in the same breath, you claimed to continuing loving those involved. If you were being honest, you'd have ended the conversation, but you had to say that you were "getting your back turned on by your fandom."

You have a right to feel how you feel just like I have a right to feel how I feel.

Listen, you literally didn't have to say anything about the election and I'm not even from the US, I don't care as much as everyone else does and for the love of Jesus I don't wanna talk about it. I just wished you hadn't involved me directly in all this mess honestly 'cuz I didn't even read what u put under read mores. If everyone else blocked you is because what you said affects them directly for the love of Jesus I don't wanna talk about it. I just wished you hadn't involved me directly in all this mess honestly 'cuz I didn't even read what u put under read mores. If everyone else blocked you is because what you said affects them directly on a personal level, I have my own reasons too, but you need to understand that making it like this is all about you is wrong too. Saying we "backstabbed you" as if we planned on doing something just to screw you over is simply wrong planned on doing something just to screw you over is simply wrong

infatuis

Listen, I tagged you because I wanted you to know I was leaving, not because I wanted you to get involved and if you had asked me why I tagged you I would have told you that. I wanted the fandom to know this. And I am NOT making this about myself and the fact you'd say that really hurts.

making this about myself and the fact you'd say that really hurts.

I'm sorry, but that's what comes through in the way you're phrasing things. This whole thing could've been handled better

infatuis

And what I said shouldn't effect anyone. I never stated anything along the lines of "right and wrong" I only told everyone who I voted for and that I was sorry that my choice

infatuis

And what I said shouldn't effect anyone. I never stated anything along the lines of "right and wrong" I only told everyone who I voted for and that I was sorry that my choice made them so upset. I didn't tell anyone they were wrong and I didn't insult anyone, but just because I admitted my wrong and admitted who I voted for everyone just hated me.

infatuis

I didn't go to anyone because I didn't have the right too, not

infatuis

I didn't go to anyone because I didn't have the right too, not when I was on the opposite side of them. I didn't want any fighting so I didn't talk to anyone, but while everyone else was comforting each other I've sat here by myself. That hurts. I think of fandoms like family and I've literally felt like I've been outcasted. But I'm not blaming you or anyone else. I only blame this whole election junk and that's it. I don't hate you, I don't hate anyone, even now I don't want to cause a fight with you., like I've been outcasted. But I'm not blaming you or anyone else. I only blame this whole election junk and that's it. I don't hate you, I don't hate anyone, even now I don't want to cause a fight with you.,

I understand what you're saying and I can see why it'd make you upset for you to see people reacting that way, but you have to take into consideration that just the fact of voting for that person is very upsetting to others, myself included. It doesn't make you upset for you to see people reacting that way, but you have to take into consideration that just the fact of voting for that person is very upsetting to others, myself included. It doesn't matter what you believe in or not, it's just that fact. I'm sorry it has to be this way, but tensions are super high and not everyone can have a discussion over this. I, for one, wouldn't be if this had happened in my country and that's what makes me sick. just because i came

infatuis

infatuis

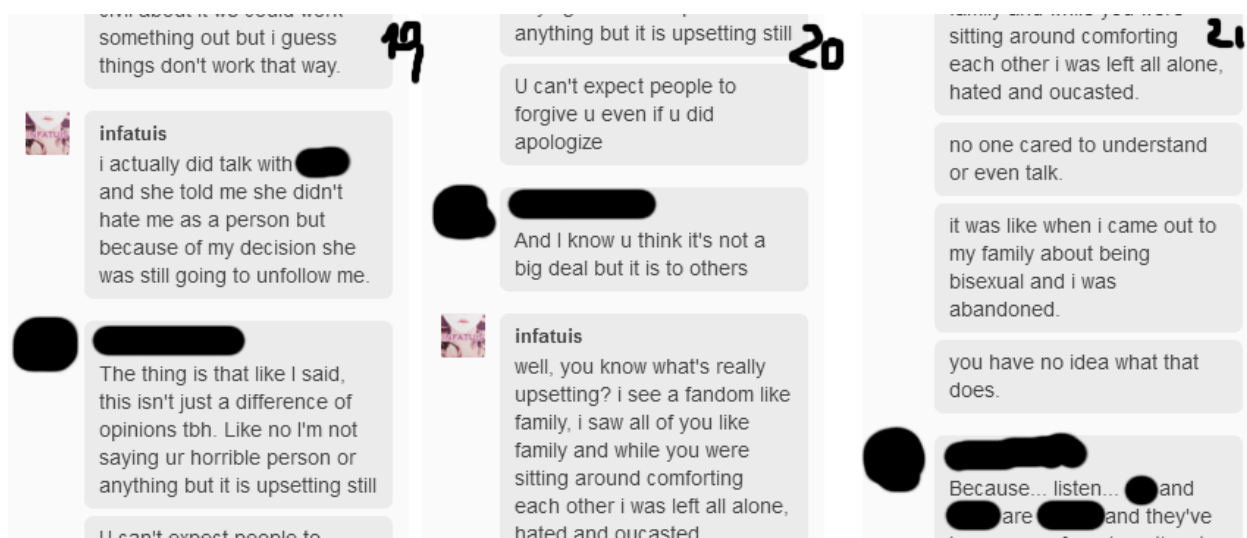

and that's what makes me sick. just because i came clean and admitted who i WOULD have voted for, seeing as i didn't even vote because i've never voted and was an idiot and didn't register, suddenly i'm the bad guy. that's what's upsetting. everyone thinks i'm such a wonderful person, but oh you voted for trump? well fck you then.

but it's that thing: why did you have to come clean about it?

And you know what? The posts that were reblogged about “unfollow/block me if you voted Trump?” Why didn't you? What was the need to cause conflict when you knew where continuing to complain about it would go? It was clear there wouldn't be any agreement between everyone when you refused to respect their comfort. When you claimed that instead of this being a product of your constant pushing on the topic, it was their fault for “betraying” you.

It's clear that you weren't able to realize that the problem wasn't based off solely on whom you supported, but rather how you did it. You weren't open to a conversation because you never once attempted to understand the other side, despite what you said every single time that was pointed out to you.

There were multiple attempts to talk to you, that's what all of this is proving so we can move on to connecting it to more recent events.

"It was like when I came out to my family and being bisexual(...), you have no idea what that does." Is an incredibly alarming thing for you to say after you knowingly antagonized someone who is gay.

22

Because... listen... and are and they've known for a long time too so it makes sense there

Dont compare that like that Honestly?? U are guilt tripping rn

infatuis

I am not guilt tripping that is literally what happened.

I'm trying to understand you, can't you try to do that too?

23

I'm trying to understand you, can't you try to do that too? I'm begging you

infatuis

I am understanding, but you haven't given me proper reasoning.

I haven't had anyone give me a reason other than "because I can't"

I have told you!!! People are afraid for their lives by the 24

I have told you!!! People are afraid for their lives by the election's results and the fact that u support the very thing that causes such fear is incredibly upsetting! How is that not enough of a reason?

infatuis

Because that's not fair to us at all! If it was the other way around I would be fearing for MY life because I believe Hillary would have sent us to a war we would have been destroyed by.

So it would MATTER if YOU were in fear for your life, but it doesn't matter because everyone else is in fear of theirs?

25

a war we would have been destroyed by.

infatuis

We are all afraid, everyone. No one liked either side and yet we had to chose.

But people are different and this is how they decided to handle it

infatuis

Like "push this button you die" or "push this button you die" no matter what you chose you still lose

26

infatuis

Like "push this button you die" or "push this button you die" no matter what you chose you still lose.

You need to accept that

infatuis

I did and like I said I apologized and was willing to talk it out but no one wants to accept our beliefs, our fears. One side doesn't matter more than the other.

27

accept our beliefs, our fears. One side doesn't matter more than the other.

I know Hillary was also a shitass choice but what Trump represented was much bigger

infatuis

We have feelings too, we're scared too. We don't know what's going to happen.

No, because a lot of people don't know what was behind Hillary.

scared too. We don't know what's going to happen.

No, because a lot of people don't know what was behind Hillary.

People don't know what the Rothschild's can do.

infatuis
If Hillary had won I know for sure we would have went to war with North Korea and what sucks is because of what Obama did we might still. But all I know if that if we had went to war with them it was not

infatuis
I know what I'm saying may not make sense, but this was my fear.

infatuis
It's fine, I didn't expect understanding of my side even if I understand the other. I won't contact you anymore but I won't delete either. If you want to delete feel free.

infatuis
and no, once again i'm not guilt tripping you. i completely understand why people are scared right now. you think i don't but i do and i've stated it so many times. i sit and listen to everyone but as soon as i explain my side people sigh. i have such a headache so i'm

infatuis
see, that's my point. you think i don't just because i'm not on that side and experiencing it myself.

infatuis
what?

28

infatuis
If Hillary had won I know for sure we would have went to war with North Korea and what sucks is because of what Obama did we might still. But all I know if that if we had went to war with them it was not going to be good or pretty.

infatuis
I know what I'm saying may not make sense, but this was my fear.

infatuis
It's fine, I didn't expect understanding of my side even if I understand the other. I won't contact you anymore but I won't delete either. If you want to delete feel free.

infatuis
and no, once again i'm not guilt tripping you. i completely understand why people are scared right now. you think i don't but i do and i've stated it so many times. i sit and listen to everyone but as soon as i explain my side people sigh. i have such a headache so i'm

infatuis
what?

29

infatuis
I'm not looking at individual people, I look at our entire country. Another war with a poor military against North Korea could cause much more damage than conversion therapy.

infatuis
Wtf?

infatuis
This whole time I said I didn't blame anyone and you're telling me I'm putting it on them or you?

30

I know what Hilary was about but Trump threatened conversion therapy... people don't take kindly to that

infatuis
I'm not looking at individual people, I look at our entire country. Another war with a poor military against North Korea could cause much more damage than conversion therapy.

That scares me.

infatuis

31

Korea could cause much more damage than conversion therapy.

That scares me.

//sighs I'm gonna go have dinner

infatuis
It's fine, I didn't expect understanding of my side even if I understand the other. I won't contact you anymore but I won't delete either. If you want to delete feel free.

32

infatuis
It's fine, I didn't expect understanding of my side even if I understand the other. I won't contact you anymore but I won't delete either. If you want to delete feel free.

infatuis
and no, once again i'm not guilt tripping you. i completely understand why people are scared right now. you think i don't but i do and i've stated it so many times. i sit and listen to everyone but as soon as i explain my side people sigh. i have such a headache so i'm

33

and no, once again i'm not guilt tripping you. i completely understand why people are scared right now. you think i don't but i do and i've stated it so many times. i sit and listen to everyone but as soon as i explain my side people sigh. i have such a headache so i'm done. i still respect and love you, please take care of yourself.

I don't think you do... I seriously went to have dinner, it's not all a conflict

infatuis

34 seriously went to have dinner, it's not all a conflict

infatuis
see, that's my point. you think i don't just because i'm not on that side and experiencing it myself.

No that's now why I'm saying it

It's because you think exactly that about me

infatuis
what?

35

No that's now why I'm saying it

It's because you think exactly that about me

infatuis
what?

And u won't understand when I say people take things differently. So yes maybe u wouldn't block people off if things had happened the other way around

But this is how they're handling it

36

things had happened the other way around

But this is how they're handling it

You can't put this on them or me

infatuis
Wtf?

infatuis
This whole time I said I didn't blame anyone and you're telling me I'm putting it on them or you?

Putting it on them is exactly what you did this entire conversation. They're not the ones who made making amends possible, Vakaiya. Your attitude is guilt-trippy: you blame everyone else for everything and you only acknowledge them if they agree with you. When they don't, you guilt them into it.

infatuis

This whole time I said I didn't blame anyone and you're telling me I'm putting it on them or you?

You said you didn't expect me to understand even though you do

That's not nice

To put it mildly

infatuis

I never once put blame on

To put it mildly

infatuis

I never once put blame on anyone, all I stated was that I sat and listened to understand the feelings of those who are scared. Yet I tell people about my side and they sigh or don't want to hear it.

Instead they continue to try and push their own feelings on me instead of understanding my feelings.

Instead they continue to try and push their own feelings on me instead of understanding my feelings.

But you're not listening! People react differently, okay? You may have the capacity of talking it out but they don't

infatuis

But then why do I get blamed for something they don't have the capacity for.

infatuis

But then why do I get blamed for something they don't have the capacity for.

That's a terrible way to put it. The thing is that to them it's not a thing they can discuss, it's something about them yes but they wouldn't feel this way if this whole issue hadn't taken place first

infatuis

Yes because that doesn't give a right to just blow people off if this whole issue hadn't taken place first

infatuis

Yes because that doesn't give a right to just blow people off and kick them to the curb.

infatuis

And if by issue you mean what I posted then you are blaming me.

Oh my god. It's their choice. They decided to do this. Is it unfair? Does it hurt? Yes, but

Oh my god. It's their choice. They decided to do this. Is it unfair? Does it hurt? Yes, but they did it with their own well-beings in mind. They're prioritizing themselves over you

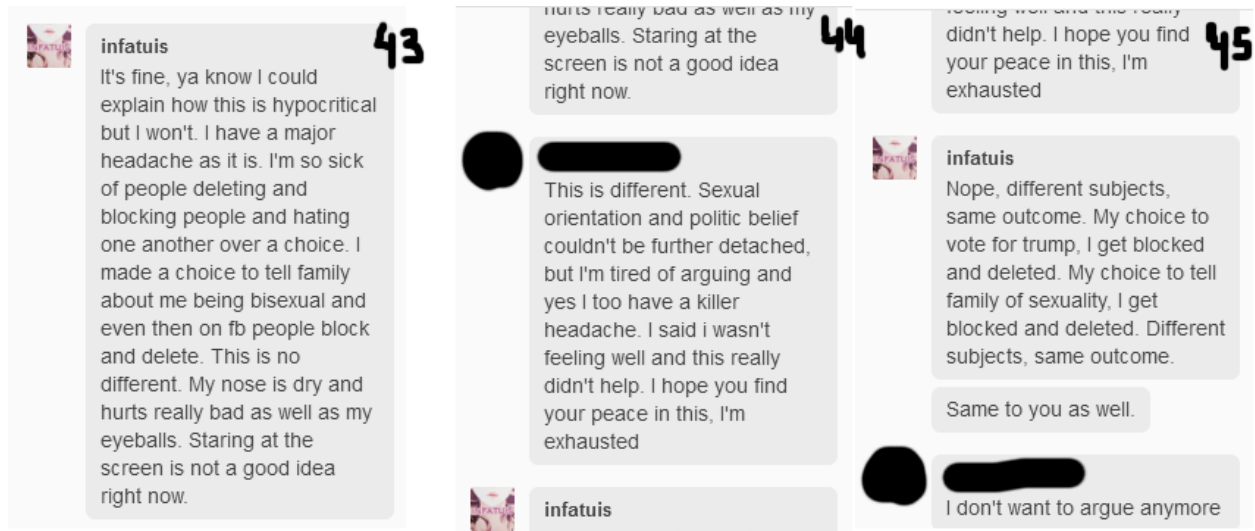

infatuis

Unless you mean the election.

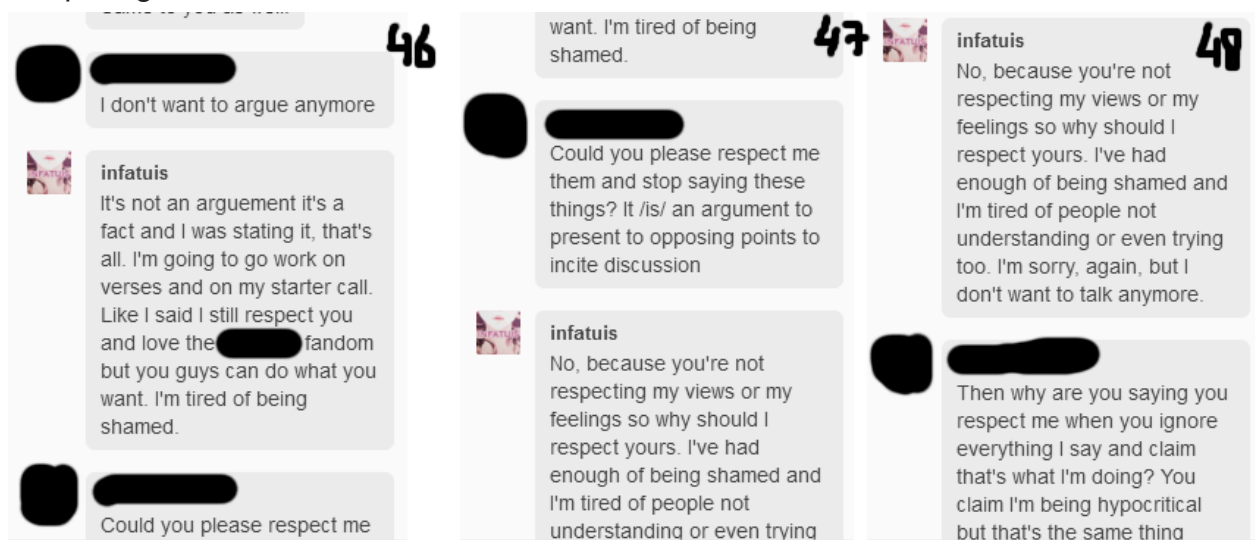

I mean the election

infatuis

It's fine. ya know I could

“I made a choice to tell (my) family about me being bisexual and even then on fb people block and delete. This is no different.” IT IS DIFFERENT. STOP COMPARING MAKING A DECISION IN POLITICS TO SOMEONE’S SEXUAL ORIENTATION. You are being homophobic! “Different subjects, same outcome.” THIS IS HOMOPHOBIC. Your choice in sexuality and/or to come out is nothing like your choice in political beliefs. Stop comparing them.

49

Then why are you saying you respect me when you ignore everything I say and claim that's what I'm doing? You claim I'm being hypocritical but that's the same thing you're doing. I say I don't wanna talk and agree to stop and yet u say more again

 infatuis
Because I respect your decision, I respect your views. Yet you claim I don't understand or respect anything. You're not being hypocritical everyone is.

50

 infatuis
Because I respect your decision, I respect your views. Yet you claim I don't understand or respect anything. You're not being hypocritical everyone is.

You're only focused on explaining one side.

As are you??? I'm telling you why this happened and all, but you're still saying everyone's against you. I'm explaining you my side and you're explaining yours.

51

As are you??? I'm telling you why this happened and all, but you're still saying everyone's against you. I'm explaining you my side and you're explaining yours. Respect doesn't mean agreement

 infatuis
That's everyone's problem they don't understand BOTH sides and they don't want to because of selfish reasons no matter their right or not and I'm sick of it all.

52

 That's everyone's problem they don't understand BOTH sides and they don't want to because of selfish reasons no matter their right or not and I'm sick of it all.

I've told you I understand why you feel that way but you don't believe me. What do you want me to say?

 infatuis
You understand, but you're still one sided as far as I've seen.

53

 infatuis
You understand, but you're still one sided as far as I've seen.

What does that mean????

Do you want me to defend you??

 infatuis
No.

You understand but you stated earlier that you don't 54

 infatuis
No.

You understand but you stated earlier that you don't feel comfortable writing with me anymore and may even unfollow me. Have you said this to any of the other fandom members?

Then what do you mean?

So that's what this is about?

 infatuis

55

So that's what this is about?

 infatuis
No, that shows that you're one sided.

So because of a feeling I have that means I'm onesided

 infatuis
You're okay with their decision, their feelings and choice, but not mine.

You think I can control that?

56

 infatuis
You're okay with their decision, their feelings and choice, but not mine.

You think I can control that?

 infatuis
Why is their side different than mine?

 infatuis
My fears or feelings don't count?

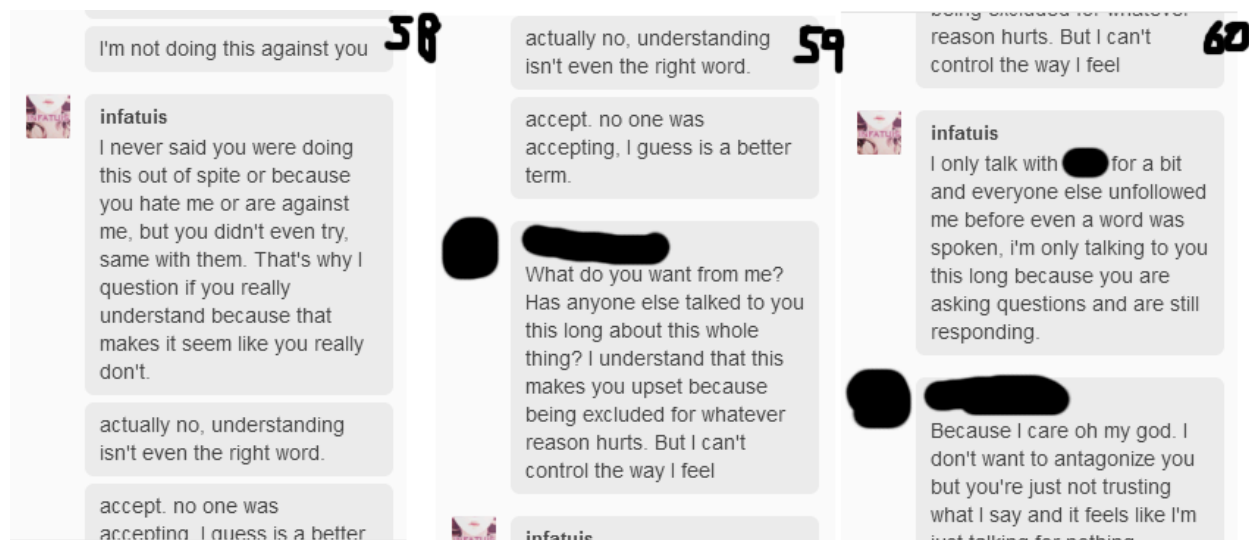

57

 infatuis
My fears or feelings don't count?

I'm talking about my feelings here. They align with theirs because of my social context. Its not something I can control. I'm not doing this out of spite

I'm not doing this against you

 infatuis
I never said you were doing this out of spite or because

Need we remind you that you were the one that mentioned those involved? You didn't approach them privately at first. You made public post upon public post on your now deleted blog (lucidiious) about your political opinion before you approached them.

In addition; you lied. You said you'd only been approached by one person before and that everyone else had instantly blocked you, but as you can see above this conversation; that is a lie. Someone did approach you.

You were approached to clear things out, but in every single instance, you chose to prioritize yourself over everyone else. To play victim and demonize all of them when all they were trying to do was peacefully go their separate ways. And, no, as you pointed out; this isn't hypocritical. Why? Because you were trying to force them to continue to interact with you when they were clearly uncomfortable. By stepping away, they were prioritizing themselves, yes, but that's not something that can be helped. You chose to speak up in a terrible situation, you chose to make matters public despite their best intentions and these were the consequences.

This interaction wasn't a way to "ask questions," as you put it, but rather a way to smooth things over. Sadly, you were convinced you had no blame, fact evidenced by the way you continued to claim later even after you were blocked by all of these people that you were "accepting of everyone."

61

Because I care oh my god. I don't want to antagonize you but you're just not trusting what I say and it feels like I'm just talking for nothing

infatuis
I'm just asking questions, I just don't understand what the difference is between how i feel and how others feel.

infatuis
why i make you uncomfortable but they don't. because of my choice?

62

infatuis
why i make you uncomfortable but they don't. because of my choice?

The difference is I feel like them

infatuis
Then that explains why you seem so one sided.

I'm a human being

63

I'm a human being

infatuis
You accept how they feel because you feel similar or can relate to how they feel.

I'm not objective

Forgive me for having an opinion

infatuis
I'm not judging your opinion.

64

I'm not objective

Forgive me for having an opinion

infatuis
I'm not judging your opinion.

But you're saying I'm one-sided like you wanted me to be above that

infatuis
No, I wanted you to be in between. I wanted you to accept both sides equally. Understand both sides and

65

infatuis
No, I wanted you to be in between. I wanted you to accept both sides equally. Understand both sides and understand why we are both afraid and why we made the choices we did. You are one sided because you don't accept my choice, you think it's wrong.

I understand that people are afraid and were afraid on both sides. But I also have my own opinion about both. I didn't see it as Trump vs Hillary but

66

I understand that people are afraid and were afraid on both sides. But I also have my own opinion about both. I didn't see it as Trump vs Hillary but Trump vs Not Trump

infatuis
Understanding and accepting are two different things though. Even though you understand the people on Trumps side, you don't accept them. They could be the nicest person you know but because they are on Trumps side you want nothing to do are two different things though. Even though you understand the people on Trumps side, you don't accept them. They could be the nicest person you know but because they are on Trumps side you want nothing to do with them.

67

battle

sorry wrong chat

I have very strong political opinions and this is exactly why politics and religion are forbidden topics. I'm sorry but

68

I have very strong political opinions and this is exactly why politics and religion are forbidden topics. I'm sorry but that's just how I feel and I can't help it, if it hurts you I seriously can't avoid it

infatuis
It's fine, you're not like me. You're not accepting of both sides. You wouldn't follow someone no matter who they picked. I understand, but that's what I was trying to get across. That everyone is one sided and that's what hurts

69

infatuis
It's fine, you're not like me. You're not accepting of both sides. You wouldn't follow someone no matter who they picked. I understand, but that's what I was trying to get across. That everyone is one sided and that's what hurts. The world was supposedly filled with compassion and understanding and acceptance, but it's not.

Well thank you for painting me like a monster

acceptance, but it's not. 70

Well thank you for painting me like a monster

And for u being such a wonderful understanding human

infatuis

No, but if you see yourself that way that's only your own fault not my own, don't guilt trip me into thinking I made you feel that way. It's just the truth of it.

infatuis 71

No, but if you see yourself that way that's only your own fault not my own, don't guilt trip me into thinking I made you feel that way. It's just the truth of it.

I'm not guiltling you into anything, I'm simply saying that you're claiming I'm a closed off thing that won't listen to any other and won't accept people when in reality I do. I didn't want to reach you yet 'cuz I still haven't chilled completely from the results either, but I'm not saying

72

do. I didn't want to reach you yet 'cuz I still haven't chilled completely from the results either, but I'm not saying you're a crap person for supporting trump, I'm saying I disagree full heartedly

the way you're saying things is manipulative

even if you want to paint it the other way around

"you're not accepting like me"

infatuis

"you're not accepting like me" 73

infatuis

You don't accept, otherwise you wouldn't feel so uncomfortable and want to unfollow me. If you accepted me fully you would move passed my choice and still be the same with me as before all this happened, but you're not.

I CAN'T HELP THE WAY I FEEL. IT MAKES ME UNCOMFORTABLE

74

I CAN'T HELP THE WAY I FEEL. IT MAKES ME UNCOMFORTABLE BECAUSE IT'S A FEELING. I DON'T KNOW HOW ELSE TO PUT THIS. Could you please stop painting yourself the innocent and me the devil

infatuis

I'm not you keep claiming I am and it's really annoying.

we had an argument before

75

infatuis

I'm not you keep claiming I am and it's really annoying.

we had an argument before, you know i don't agree with your point of view in other areas. I don't want to hate you yes you are! you say you're accepting and understanding and innocent I'm not making this up you literally said it.

i literally didn't want to argue anymore

76

i literally didn't want to argue anymore

I don't want this

we disagree

harshly

can we please move on

infatuis

it doesn't matter

what do you want me to do, sit around patiently while you all

77

infatuis

it doesn't matter

what do you want me to do, sit around patiently while you all get over it slow?

slowly*

I don't know

I don't rule your life

infatuis

it doesn't matter, everything's already broken and will never 78

infatuis

it doesn't matter, everything's already broken and will never be the same.

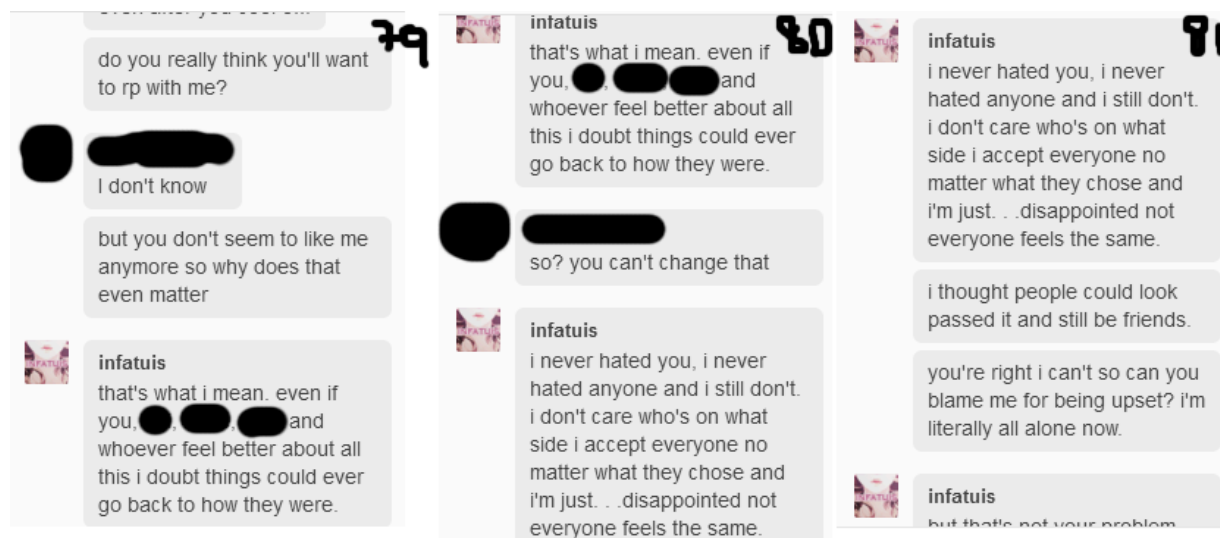

at least not for me.

okay

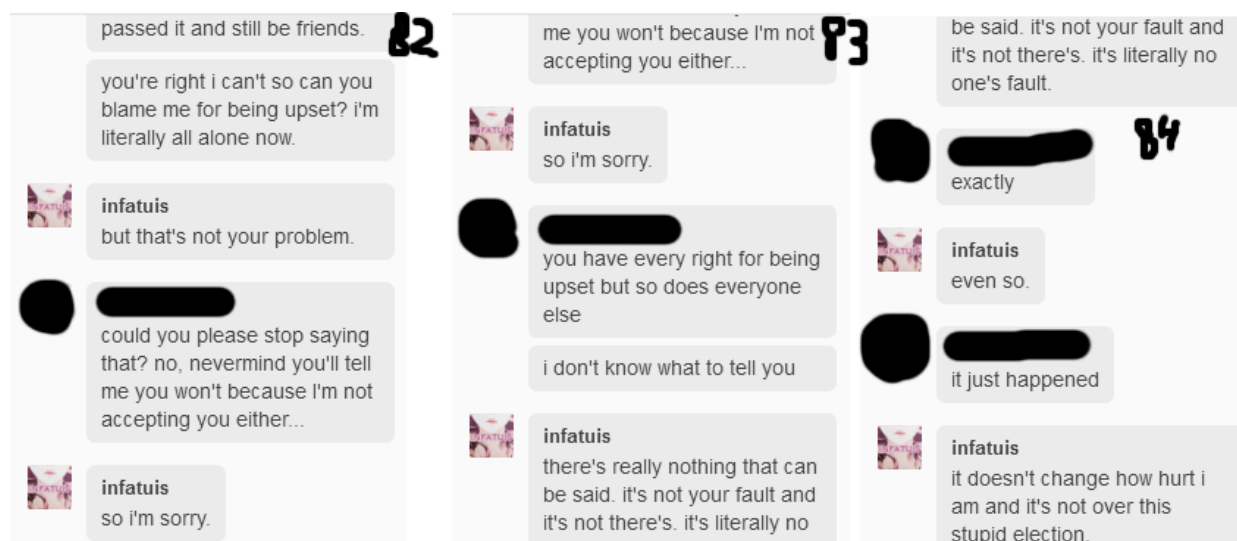

infatuis

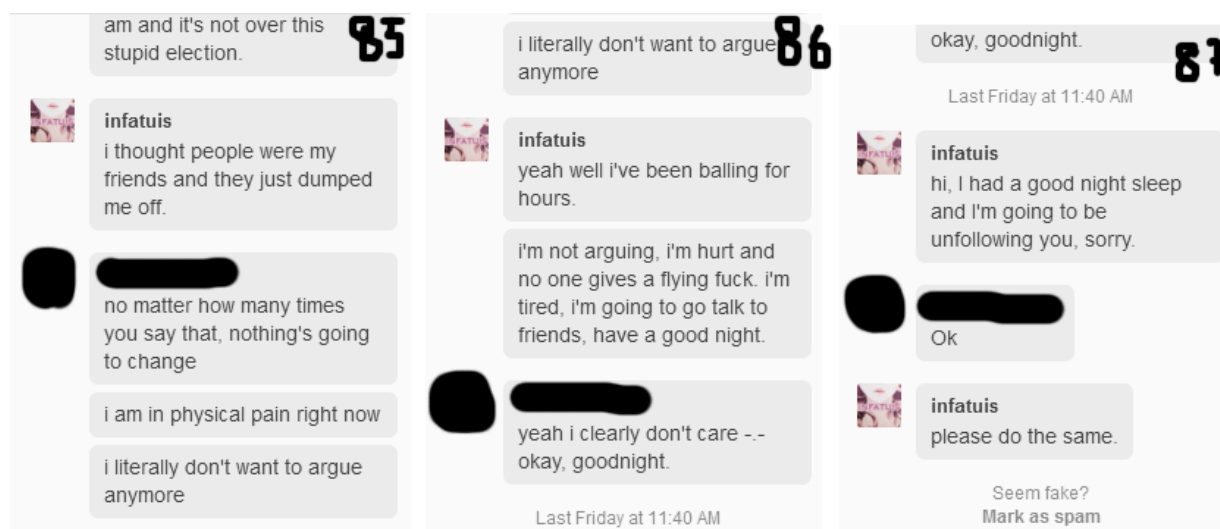

even after you cool off.

do you really think you'll want to rp with me?

You still tried to pressure them to roleplay with you again, even after all of this.

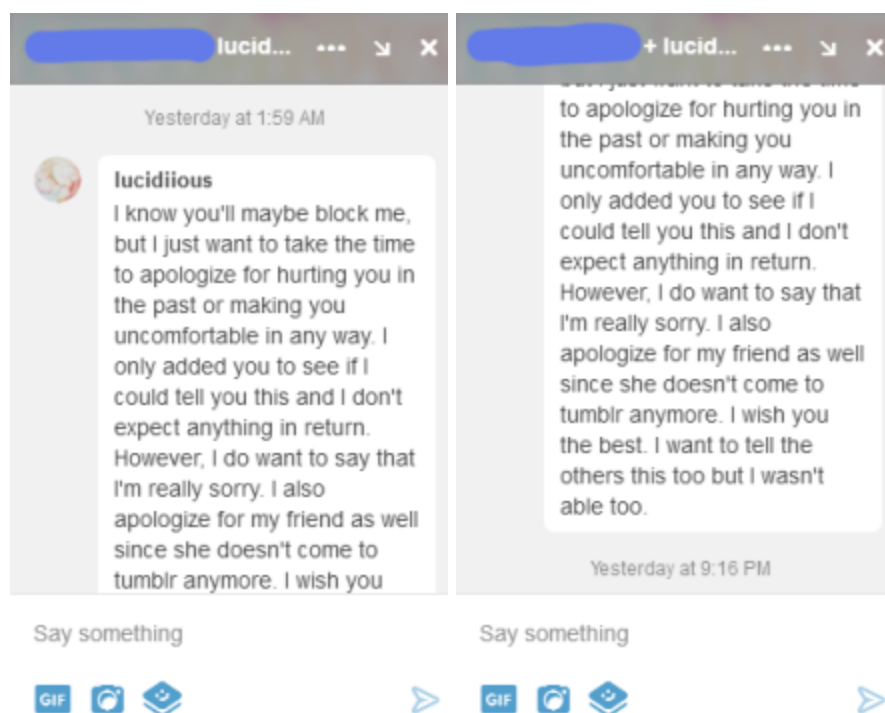

Look at this entire conversation and how you handled the issue, Vakaiya. From the moment you approached, despite knowing none of the people you were speaking to were in a good mental space and were told as much, you decided to keep pushing through even after being requested to speak later. Did it matter? No, because you were the victim, the one pushed aside from the group, left all alone. Of course, you were also the accepting one, the one that understood everything. That was why you never once considered the fact that they were having a rough time, too; it was all about you.

To reiterate, these caps contain the entire length of the conversation as a means of showcasing that none of it was edited nor overlooked, nothing taken out of context. This was what you said to these people and how you responded. This was you guilt-tripping people instead of calmly discussing your private issues, which you STILL claim to be the victim of.

VII. YOUR “APOLOGY.”

So here we are. You apologized to this group, right? Or, at least, one of them because the others did block you before you got the chance. Here's the thing, Vakaiya. When people give apologies and move forward after something like that transpires... they're supposed to change and stop the behavior that got them to the point of apologizing. You can't say that your apology wasn't accepted. Did these people reinstate contact with you or want anything to do with you? No. But did they leave you alone until they got dragged into all of this, along with the rest of us? They did.

So your apology is here because they acknowledge you sent it, but the apology now goes unaccepted because you didn't change, you're still doing exactly what you did at the time and even in between that time, you vagued and slandered them.

Also, in case you've forgotten that we know, the "friend" you're referring to is someone you pretended to be and harassed them from.

Once again, we can refer to the defamation and stalking codes back up in the intro. Really now Vakaiya, we're tired of repeating every single citation for each thing that you have done that wasn't just not right socially but COULD have been WRONG in terms of the law.

VIII. VAGUING.

While you may cry wolf about how people are stalking your blogs, the older receipts provided by the other parties were kept at the time, almost a year ago, because you were making DEROGATORY VAGUE POSTS towards them putting words in their mouth (referring to the previous three ims above) and saying that they were rude to you, that they called you racist, etc, when in fact, they were polite and YOU were rude and spent the entire conversation guilt tripping them.

And before you wonder; no, we don't have the receipts of those asks. We DO however have one of the involved party's response to them, time stamped, and we're going to break down some of the contents in that post that we do have evidence of before getting into the IMs themselves:

Almost 3 years on tumblr and I've never had to put up with drama before, I can't believe this.

I was honestly just going to let this be bc I honestly dgaf if people vague about me or w/e, I'm more mature than to let something this petty bother me in the long run, but at this point my SISTER is uncomfortable with the things that are being said & ¹your friend messaging her and asking her to block / unfollow multiple times instead of just doing it themselves quietly, so I'm honestly just. Going to. ²Dump literally the only IM conversation I've ever had with @lucidious / @infatuis here bc??? Apparently the [redacted] fandom was really horrible to you after the election stuff happened and drove you out of the fandom when, in reality, I reached out to you in hopes of mending things and simply wanted to explain that emotions were high and if time was given, things would probably calm down and we could work things out. You drove YOURSELF out of our circle like???

[redacted] has been extremely upset this week and rightfully so. A lot of her posts were written under those high emotions directly after the election results ended. She's STILL extremely upset and the only reason I'm even posting this (with her permission) & acknowledging it is because I want you to leave her alone. If you have a problem with the fandom, you can blame me for approaching you initially or whatever I did?? Idk whatever horrible thing it is I guess, but can you guys lay off [redacted] and everyone else, who literally did nothing wrong and have no part in this, thanks.

(Full disclosure, this all stemmed from both [redacted] and myself asking people who support / voted for *rump to unfollow & block us, which @infatuis saw as unfair despite it being for our own comfort. I was willing to make amends with @infatuis however, so I approached in hopes of calmly explaining our situation, as stated above. What I got back was guilt tripping && the ³highlighted portion in one of the caps, which is why I decided it wasn't worth my time to respond. Anyone who says that orientation is a choice is automatically dead to me. Further disclosure, the

ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX, SEVEN, EIGHT, NINE, TEN, ELEVEN, TWELVE, THIRTEEN ⁴

I'm sorry, I didn't want to post anything, but I'm literally just defending myself seeing as you've been SLAMMING ME/US to your friends & vague posting since it happened. Idk WHAT you've been saying to make your anons think we called you a racist or w/e other names, but clearly, that DIDN'T HAPPEN. Literally everyone EXCEPT FOR YOU handled this very maturely.⁵

I'm just putting this here as proof that at NO point did I bully you and aside from you taking offense from [REDACTED] telling *rump supporters to unfollow (for her own comfort, btw, which is more important than anything), neither did she. She hasn't even SPOKEN to you one-on-one so??? I'd @ you properly but I'm not going to unblock you for this lmao. Like I said, this is just proof I wasn't being an asshole. (And at no point did I call YOU a racist or anything.)

I'm sorry things turned out this way, but you know what? I tried. I'm under no obligation to continue interacting with someone who is at odds with everything I believe in and furthermore INSULTED MY FAMILY with the "orientation is a choice" bullcrap. OR someone who tried to guilt trip me!! Which is!! Blatantly!! What you were trying to do!!

We're not going to bother you anymore, so can you extend us the same courtesy so we can all move on??? Thanks. @ Anyone who sees this don't do something stupid and confront them or send anything mean. This is just in our defense. K? K.

♥ 19 NOTES - 11 MONTHS AGO* REBLOG
lucidious infatuis i don't have time for this you are supposedly older than me stop acting like a teenager [REDACTED] drama //

1. Again, "your friend" and some of her harassment gets mentioned here, aka Keya. We'll come back to that one.
2. All links on this post are broken, but we displayed the caps (the one where someone approached you and then didn't respond after you guilt tripped them) that were linked already in this document.

3.

Today at 7:03 PM
oh i remember the thing i highlighted in that post was where she said orientation is a choice tbh

We'll come back to this one too.

4. These links refer to the next set of images / first set of IMs.
5. This is what we don't have receipts for: your anons, which involved parties suspect you sent yourself in context of your "friend" fighting your battle for you. You posted vagues and answered asks about these people and put words in their mouth, victimizing yourself (as you often do, which we've seen) in order to paint them the villain whilst they were kind to you.

* That is the time stamp. Note this blog is archived, the owner hasn't been on it in months.

In addition, after taking a break and coming back months later, you STILL victimized yourself and refused to say you had done anything wrong. After everything you did in private and how horribly you treated the people who tried to reach out to you, you still made them out as the villains and made a guilt tripping post.

infatuis

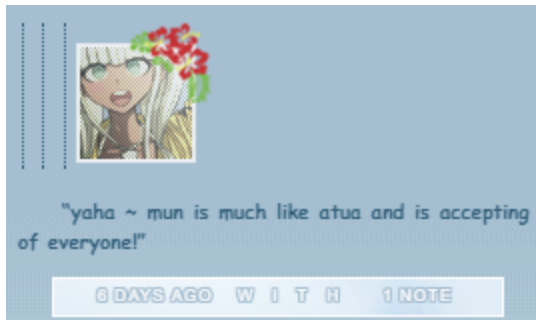

I tried making some amends today with people from months ago. didn't work out so well, but oh well. i can at least say i tried anyways. i've apologized and no longer have any reason to feel guilty or whatever about the situation. i really hope things go well for them either way and i will continue to be here. <3

#. 🏠 VAK IS BACK WITH THEM SHENANIGANS ; ooc. #made my attempts;
#nothing will change either way; #i need to do my fricken drafts lol;

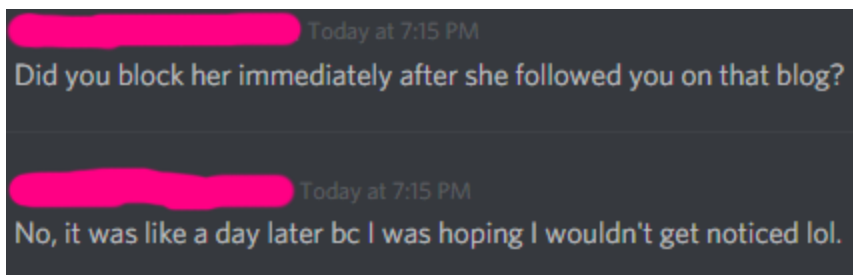

"Tried making amends." We covered the apology, though. To be fair to those people you tried to make amends with, because you aren't, again, they didn't say a word about you or try to approach you at all until the whitewashing happened.

But it didn't end there. While they didn't publicly acknowledge you on the dashboard, you made vague statements about them both on and off the dash. Let's take this post for example, made after one of the people from your past conversations blocked you after you tried to follow them.

atuaism started following you

10:01:44 pm · 7 days ago

That's the most recent offense. Although those involved weren't able to give us receipts for those vagues you posted when you and your "friend group" fell out, when you were throwing up political article after political article and comparing your fandom to throwing Simba off a cliff, it's worth noting you've made posts like this more than once and they aren't subtle.

Archived from: luminesis

- serenity is much like her mun. she is not one sided regardless of what people wish of her. she will always look at every situation fairly and will never judge people for their feelings. the world was already cruel enough at it was. serenity will always be an understanding shoulder to lean on. even the darkest and vilest people would be looked at with understanding. serenity believes all can be redeemed, maybe to a point of being naive and innocent to an extreme. she never looked at a situation with the thought of being 'wrong or right' but in a way to try and understand why people made the decision they had. were they in danger? someone they love? what purpose did they have behind their actions?
- serenity is aware that people can be selfish, but she knows that is just how humans are and should not be blamed for such. however, she also disagrees with those who cast others away just because they believe differently than they do. it brings her great sadness to see that happen. the best of friends could be torn apart from one simple disagreement. serenity wishes the world could be more understanding of one another, that people could look passed their own beliefs and respect the beliefs of others instead of turning away. it didn't mean she believed that they should agree with the beliefs others had that weren't their own, but to respect them and accept them.

~~~~~

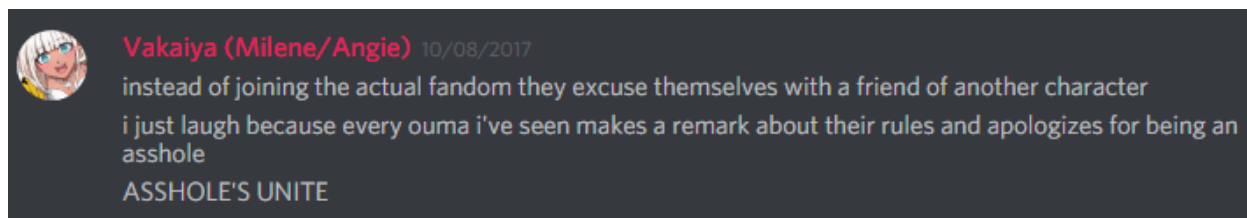

Funny how these posts have the exchange same message behind them. That you're accepting of ALL PEOPLE and how the mun is "not one sided," "looks at every situation fairly," etc. You could argue that these weren't vague posts, but considering the context and the fact they were posted either each time you became active or after one of these people blocked you, it's not very convincing.

"But they vagued me, too!" Well, for the "group" in question that you're hung up on:

They did make it clear they were talking to you and both of you did this. They've agreed not to delete any of their posts concerning this, so if you feel the need to refer to their blog, have at it.

Bonus:

IX. HARASSMENT.

Funny enough, this section of the callout didn't get added until after we were already writing it. This is recent. It started happening the night of all of your whitewashing getting outed. Some of us in this callout got anon hate as a response to our public involvement. Let's share some of that, along with the responses of people who answered.

HOOPLA! said:

Hey look, it's the same shitty clique of people supporting each other against someone who "did wrong". Just like I told your friend, your clique needs to fuck off and leave the communities alone. You aren't the fucking police, you have no right to determine what is considered whitewash or not. So fuck off and keep your cancer nazi clique away from everyone else.

Hi Vakaiya and/or Vakaiya's friend. Do you know how I know it's you? Because you sent an anon to "my friend" and responded privately, so the only way you know about it is if you're one of those two. I'm not weak like I was last time this all happened, so I'm. Rubs hands together. Fine, let's do this.

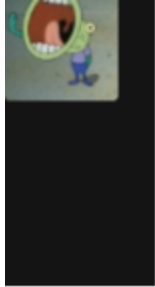

1. This is the only drama that's ever been on my blog in almost 3 years of being here lmao. I'm connecting this to the spat I had with Vak last year, of which I made like?? One post over. Yeah, we sure do police this community.

2. "Clique." Ah, you're one of THOSE people.

3. Damn I'm TRYING to leave the DR community alone by being majority friends only but you just keep dragging your bile across tumblr don't you !!! I've said this like 4 times m'guy, WE DIDN'T START THIS, but we sure did comment on it bc it's gross af.

4. "You have no right to determine what is considered whitewash or not" hey @ anyone on my dash who's a person of color, if someone lightens the skin tone of their dark-skinned muse, is that whitewashing? enlighten my white ass if i'm wrong and i'll apologize publicly : )

5. "Cancer nazi clique." M'guy, we're not the ones with problematic attitudes here LMAO.

HOOPLA! said:

Umm, i'm gon have to stay away from y'all. y'all seem like the type of people to have 2.6gigs of screenshots of everyone in the danganronpa fandom and what they've done wrong. honestly, your bled group has made the fandom worse, because when someone doesn't conform to your ideas, you screech and get your freinds to send hate on them. Just letting you know, your ruining a perfectly good fandom.

Man, ya'll are lining up for me to drag you, aren't you. It's cool, I'm glad ya'll are outing yourselves on anon so I can block you.

1. The ONLY reason I have screenshots of Vakaiya being a xphobic guilt trippy mess to us is because of shit that happened BEFORE this in a different fandom. No offense but I don't care about you guys enough to go around getting receipts on every pos in the D.anganR.onpa rpc lmao, I don't like you that much. I have one (1) whole folder with this stuff and it's dedicated to one (1) person bc things got really personal and she was gross to me, my sister and a close friend, but tbh IDRC what type of people you "think" we are because you're obvs a jerk.

2. "Your bled group has made the fandom worse" ew don't associate me & my friends with something people like you are part of. Ya'll are the ones sending people in our "cancer nazi clique" anon hate, either because we breathe & exist & are friends or when we go friends only to get away from you bC WE DON'T INTERACT WITH THE REST OF THE FANDOM. Make up your mind damn. We don't do anything to this fandom, you guys must be ecstatic you finally have something you can insult us over.

3. Literally show me one receipt outside of us CALLING SOMEONE OUT ON WHITEWASHING YESTERDAY where we've all ever approached anyone about anything or policed ppl in this fandom??? The only screeching that happened was from Vakaiya and my friends screen capped every single message they sent her as proof they weren't being rude as a necessary precaution since Vakaiya has a good nice history of putting words in people's mouth and saying people bullied her when everyone (at least myself and my friends) was p cordial to her so ㄟ(ˉ▽ˉ)ㄟ For the record, I didn't tell my friends to get involved even after I commented. They did it because whitewashing is scummy and had opinions. I don't control a huge ass "hivemind" (buzz buzz) but annarently I did surround myself with the right people huge ass "hivemind" (buzz buzz) but apparently I did surround myself with the right people.

4. For the 89475983749835th time, I didn't start this. None of US sent that first anon. We didn't instigate shit, we commented on it. Ya'll are pinning the entire thing on me because you've been looking for a reason to hate me for over 2 years when I've been nothing but nice to you. Surprise !!! Unicorn isn't nice to racist homophobic transphobic ableist jerks who pretend to be other people to harass me. Now you know my weakness.

5. PLEASE GOD STAY AWAY FROM ME I'M BEGGING YOU GO AWAY LMAO EJHRBGN I DON'T WANT YOU HERE !!! 🤔

Anyways, Vakaiya, I'm not the one sitting here telling people to send you anon hate, so that says more about you than it does me.

edit a good point has been made to me "perfectly good fandom" BINCH WHERE JHERBGJHERBGNJHB HAVE U MET THE DR FANDOM !!!!! W H AT

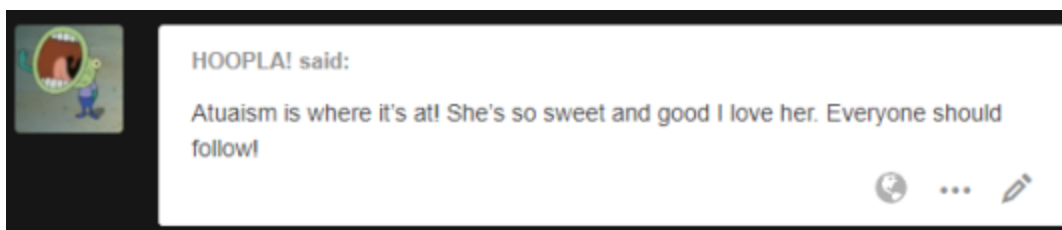

That's cute honey, but honestly we are not sending her anything bad. All my friends are simply explaining to her as calmly as they possibly can what she did wrong, we have evidence to prove that, and she has done nothing but make it worse and even going as far as to whitewash her further.

We are not a clique, we are a group of friends who lets anyone in as long as they're not an asshole, unis header on her blog can prove that. Also, calling us a group of nazis is actually pretty low. We have never demonstrated anything anti-semitic and please, if we have, give us proof of it.

Also, why are you approaching me? Because I'm friends with these people? Or is it because I messaged her, things she has answered to privately. How did you know that I called her asshole and said she was victimizing herself. If you really want to help your friend, why did you hide your face? I'm honestly kind of curious.

This one, particularly:

hey vakaiya @/atuaism did u know i can tell when u visit my blog too???

imagine trying to stir up more drama with me tonight lmao how nasty can you be, get your head out of your own ass

“You don’t have proof!”

|               |                      |                |                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------|----------------------|----------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Page Views:   | 31 (9 this visit)    | Total Visits:  | 6                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Exit Time:    | 15 Oct 2017 21:44:17 | Location:      |  United States                                                                                |
| Visit Length: | 38 mins 48 secs      | IP Address:    |   vakaiya |
| Resolution:   | 1920x1080            | Referring URL: | (No referring link)                                                                                                                                                            |
| System:       | Chrome 61.0Win10 | Entry Page:    | desbearer.tumblr.com/                                                                                                                                                          |
|               |                      | Exit Page:     | desbearer.tumblr.com/                                                                                                                                                          |

Furthermore, we’d like to note this anon was received the night of a tragedy in the roleplay community, which out of respect, we will not discuss here. Instigating arguments during this time was uncalled for.

X. FAKING IDENTITY.

Do you remember that time you pretended to be your own friend to defend yourself after your guilt tripping and ()phobia started to break off your friendship with that group of roleplayers from then? We do, Vakaiya, and unfortunately for you, we found all the evidence we needed using a cached webpage to pin you for it. Or should we call you Keya?

Your “friend” had a fun time vaguing everyone and going around to one specific person’s IM on every blog and harassing them to unfollow / block after everything that happened between you guys as opposed to doing it “themselves.”

But, you see, the thing is, Keya:

general

Vakaiya (Milene/Angie) 10/07/2017

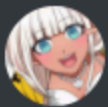

COUGHS

10/07/2017

is is that yours

Vakaiya (Milene/Angie) 10/07/2017

yes

HOPEBEARING
independant USAMI
or selective MONOMI

hopebearing:

we can MAKE it if we believe in EACH OTHER !!!

hopebearing:

we can MAKE it if we believe in EACH

G A G S

EW IT'S .... WHAT EVEN IS UR NAME AGAIN :

VIA ARISTXCRXT

 aristxcrxt Follow

October 7th 2016, 12:06:58 am · a year ago

2016-10-07 14:20 :: a year ago

aristxcrxt asked:

How come if I ever give you flowers you just eat them? D:

* Oooh, were those flowers from YOU?? I must've still been TIRED or something. I thought some annoying little garden gnome was handing me breakfast... My bad.*

Ask desbearer a question #hopebearing #and none for #squints at smudged writing on hand #monyame

001. This is an Independent Monomi/Usami blog for Danganronpa. She will interact with people in and out of her own universe. OC's will be limited and looked over before interacting with, so I apologize.

FOR IMPORTANT INFO, PLEASE GO TO:

002. Mun is 24 years old and is female in case people were wondering. I am old enough to decide what to do with my blog and I'm free to do anything nsfw. However, my character probably won't be very involved with nsfw. Since she's rather innocent.

001. This is an Independent blog of yonaga angie blog for Danganronpa. She will interact with people in and out of her own universe.

002. Mun is 25 years old and is female in case people were wondering. I am old enough to decide what to do with my blog and I'm free to do anything nsfw. That being said this blog was not made for pairing only, so don't worry.

003. Shipping is allowed, but I won't be auto shipping with anyone. There must be chemistry, if any. Also, there will probably only be shipping once relationships have a more down based with main.

Also, there will probably only be shipping once someone has a very deep bond with angie.

004. I will probably have mains. I'm not sure if I'm going to do exclusives or not, but I'll for sure being doing mains if we interact often. If you feel like you'd want to be a main down the road, please tell me.

005. Do NOT steal from this blog. All graphics were made by me and it took a long amount of time to get everything how I wanted it. Making themes and icons is exhausting so please just don't steal from me or others. If you do I will block you instantly.

Due to the lack of clarity on 'hopebearing' due to the use of the cache, here's a transcript:

001. This is an Independant Monomi/Usami blog for Danganronpa. She will interact with people in and out of her own universe. OC's will be limited and looked over before interacting with, so I apologize.

002. Mun is 24 years old and is female in case people were wondering. I am old enough to decide what to do with my blog and I'm free to do anything nsfw. However, my character probably won't be very involved with nsfw. Since she's rather innocent.

003. Shipping is allowed, but I won't be auto shipping with anyone. There must be chemistry, if any. Also, there will probably only be shipping with human!sami because you must be weird if you want a relationship with a stuffed, magical rabbit toy.

004. I will probably have mains. I'm not sure if I'm going to do exclusives or not, but I'll for sure being doing mains if we interact often. If you feel like you'd want to be a main down the road, please tell me.

005. Do NOT steal from this blog. All graphics were made by me and it took a long amount of time to get everything how I wanted it. Making themes and icons is exhausting so please just don't steal from me or others. If you do I will block you instantly.

Next time you may want to remember that when you alter a blog, everything updates with the new URL.

* SIDE NOTE.

Art source.

You edited this image and didn't credit the artist so we all decided to link it for you. You're welcome. "Hey, that image is whitewashed!" Yes, but at least we credit where it came from.

Which we also found through Google easy, by the way.

Archived from: atuaism

i want to apologize for not properly tagging it before, but all those garbage posts have been tagged as drama. i apologize for cluttering all you wonderful people with all that nonsense. i have drafts to do, so i will start on those soon, if you'd like a random angie in your inbox feel free to like this. i love you all and i appreciate the support from all of you, helping me deal with silly things like this. thank you, it means a lot.

Those “garbage posts” are you being a racist and that’s NOT silly.

* UNICORN RESPONSE.

I wasn’t going to do this originally, but I clearly contributed to this, so I may as well answer all your posts here for everyone to see. Anyways, hey, Vakaiya, it’s me, the person you’re trying to pin absolutely all of your mistakes on, and this part of the callout I’m writing all by myself. So let’s have a one-on-one where I break down the posts you made about me. Yes, this is Unicorn, and I’m adding my personal input on this, but this time, I’m going to keep the tone of the overall callout and be frank about it. First, I want to make it known that, yes, I was one of the three people who had the misfortune of knowing Vakaiya almost a year ago. No, I did not say a single word to her when all of that “drama” happened. You sure did harass me, though, huh. Let’s start, I’ll break this down one post at a time.

Okay, Vakaiya.

because i don't want to clutter your dashes, i am putting this under a read more because it is super long. i am done with this shit.

@desbearer i'm done tolerating this kind of BS. I come home from work, not touching tumblr for a while to let the drama settle and I come back to someone sending me some screens of people ACCUSING ME OF SENDING ANONS. for real?! the people accusing me i also have blocked and they have me blocked which means i can't send anything or even see their blog so like ??? why are you so fricken delusional?!

hey vakaiya @/atuaism did u know i can tell when u visit my blog too???

imagine trying to stir up more drama with me tonight lmao how nasty can you be, get your head out of your own ass

#y i k e s

#have u like??? looked at your dashboard and considered that maybe for one (1) whole night maybe it's not about you #and your first world tumblr uwuwuwuwuwu problems???

#goddamn show some respect and human DECENCY????

#imagine using a positivity meme as a means of instigating drama on tonight of all nights after everything that's happened

#are you 5 #drama -- # [REDACTED] " watch me whip, watch me neigh neigh " [:ooc]

#anyways this IS the last post i'm making about this for now

#and it's just so i can out you for being gross af tonight

#anything else i'll save for other uses tho so like. feel free to keep sending me this shit xoxo

#you're doing me a solid.

12 notes

like what kind of garbage is this? seriously blaming me? for those who don't know, this mun put some meme thing that said "please send me a blog and why you like them etc and i will tag them."

apparently, someone either was sincere or thought it to be hilarious to send my link to them even while knowing this drama was happening. which i bet it was probably one of her little groupies who purposely sent that anon just for a good laugh, considering several of them have tried to contact me through messages making some really stupid remarks.

these are the type of people who follow you. you want to call me out and make me look terrible when your followers are literally making fun of people who have autism and comparing it to my url because they think it's funny? dude it's gross. talking shit ever since a year ago. when i tried to talk to you guys like an adult you just auto blocked me and didn't even try to contact me or "talk in private" like you seem to claim. not once did you talk to me, all you did was accuse me of guilt tripping when i called out your crap. if someone has any kind of belief or opinion that's opposite of yours they apparently the devil.

i never in my life wanted to make a post for this because i don't think my followers should have to suffer from this bullshit drama on their dash, but you just keep posting it don't you? like a goddamn drama queen you literally drown yourself in it. i blocked you, never touched you, yet you assume every person who sends hate your way is me. have you ever stopped and thought "maybe there are people that have a problem with me?" because i even stated that i never had issues with you until you decided to make a call out post and be completely rude to me and also accuse me of literally everything.

that's all you do, you accuse. you accused me of being some homophobic trump supporting DEATH TO ALL TRANS person last time. now, you accuse me of being a racist person and not only that, every SINGLE time i tried talking to you like a human being and call you out on your BS you say "you're guilt tripping me." OVER AND OVER. you aren't the sheep who cried wolf, you're the sheep that cried guilt trip. that's the only phrase you ever know when you are confronted about this stupid shit you pull with not even just me. there are other people who have put up with your shit too, but i will not show their names to keep their identities safe.

Fucking, "I won't tag triggers"

---

I don't really have anything to link to them.

---

They probably have someone logged out doing recon or something petty...

I just know they're popular and will do whatever unicorn says...

which includes not caring about panic attacks caused by untagged content.

Ugh I'm looking at their post and gagging bc I use to be super close to [REDACTED] before his friends in Uni's clique probably changed his opinion on me. Not to mention [REDACTED] is here too and I fucking hate them???

and what the shit

you dont

do that

lol wow uni, thanks for admitting you and your friends are stalkers

" proving we were never mean to you, never instigated anything and never bullied you lmao."

Uhhhhhhh

what a fucking lie

so yes, just as a few examples, there are people who do have problems with you. there are people who would probably send you much more anon hate then i would. you aren't innocent, you never were. it would have been easier if your friend, [REDACTED] didn't mention you in their response to my response to an anon ask i got. because that person, literally mentioning you when you had no part in any of these racist accusations, is pretty fucking suspicious.

so seriously. stop tagging me, stop even saying my name. literally makes me vomit that you talk about me behind my back and what's sad is you do it when i can't even defend myself because the only way i know about you shit talking about me, behind my back, is from people who can still see your blog and are my friends that have informed me that you still won't leave me alone.

i'm done with you, stop mentioning me, stop torturing other people. i don't care if i lose every follower for this, i am going to be the voice that finally speaks up against your bullshit and literally making people afraid to be themselves because they are afraid you or any of your followers is going to attack them for how they want to enjoy their time on tumblr. you guys are sick and that's all there is too it.

#desbearer #like it's over #i'm done having you talk shit about me #at every turn #because you're some goddamn child who can't just block me and move on #you have to make jokes and even more accusations #wtf is your problem?
#your life must be pretty fucking miserable #drama
#you're talking about being petty when you're the goddamn queen

I have caps of your IP address on my blog before that anon was sent. If I'm wrong about you sending that anon, then I take back the post I made at you and I direct it at them. This person, whether it be you or someone else trying to be cheeky, came into my ask trying to instigate more drama between us on the night someone in the RPC was confirmed to have lost their life. Whether it was you or someone working alongside you, it doesn't matter, it was in bad taste. The person knew WELL what they were doing: we haven't exactly been private about this so you can stop playing the victim card with the "they were just sending positivity!!" For you to say it would be "hilarious" is disgusting, considering the circumstances. But, again, I have your IP address, which was capped above (of course, censored) showing you were on my blog.

03/16/2017

caNT BELIEVE YOURE
STILL ALIVE

HAHHHA HOW

YOU'RE THE ORIGINAL
TEDDY BEAR KUN

message here

I haven't talked to the person (who I blacked out because it's creepy to include urls of people who... aren't readily in the middle of this, no matter what they're sending) in your caps since March. I didn't instigate these people sending you anything. I made all my posts to you public and readily available to you and anyone else. Everything I had to say about it, I said to your face, as well as I could while keeping you blocked for most of it. Also, just so you know, I DIDN'T link that person to your post. Considering I've been honest so far, I'd tell you if I did. I didn't.

Hand me the receipts you have BEFORE this of me ever vaguing you on the dash or talking shit about you or? I hadn't said a word about you around tumblr since then. I have discussed it with people involved and confided my feelings on it with people I'm close to because I'm human, but that was in private, where it should be. And you're right, I did instantly block you instead of trying to talk things out with you back then or when you returned. You made homophobic remarks and @'d me in homophobic material. I didn't want to talk to you and I didn't have to. But you know who did try to talk to you? The other two people who were involved (guilt trip caps) and, honestly, I'm glad I didn't talk to you because I was in an awful state of mind at that time and you would've guilt tripped me into hell and back. My only regret is that we have to acknowledge each other now. I don't feel the need to address you saying that we lied about you guilt tripping or how anyone opposite of MY/our opinion made us upset. The rest of this did that for me. We've provided every piece of our conversations proving how you treated us as well as evidence regarding your behavior.

I didn't ever want to help with something like this, but here I am. Again, the callout pointed out that you did, in fact, come near our blogs; granted, not me, the closest people to me, aka the other two you guilt tripped, so no need for me to answer that. I know the hate is from you. I have your IP marked on statcounter for the sole purpose of checking to see that; which you use something similar, according to your own words, so. I also realized recently there were a few blogs of yours I didn't have blocked, so there's that. I'm sure there are people who have a problem with me, but I have a problem with you blaming me for literally everything you do wrong, so that's what we're here to discuss.

I don't have to acknowledge that entire paragraph, this document did it for me. All the evidence is there. Everything all over 20 of us gathered on you. You don't think you did anything wrong? We think you did. Here's the laundry list of it. Now everyone else can decide.

Just so you know, I know who sent you that IM testimony, and despite our differences, I hope they have a good day, because I'm not here to talk about them, I'm here to talk about you. But I will address this: I put in my rules I don't tag triggers on ic threads because my entire muse's character is built around triggering topics (murder, genocide, torture, manipulation, etc.) I have it in my rules, bolded, with a list, so anyone who's uncomfortable can just.... not follow. Because it's his... entire character arc, there's no avoiding it on my blog: it's more harmful for anyone with those triggers to follow me AT ALL, hence the warning. What other people do with their blogs isn't my decision. That's why I don't tag triggers (again, only the ones listed, in my ic threads: triggers not listed or outside of ic interactions, I DO in fact tag), that's how I handle it, but I do think most of my "cancer nazi clique," as you call them, have the same line of thinking for that. That's why I warn people that if they're uncomfortable, they shouldn't follow. You see, most people, Vakaiya... read other people's rules. That being said, I don't RP certain triggering topics at all, (noncon/dubcon, incest, etc, like? It's DanganRonpa? It's mostly murder & death??)

How do you like our 100+ receipts of "fucking lies"?

Let's see, new material to address since you repeat yourself a lot... You're right, my friend did mention me in the post he reblogged calling out your racism, but I wasn't the one who asked him to remove our names. I also didn't ask him to include them. He is my friend and I have confided in him everything that happened in the past. The person who DID ask him to remove our names after the fact did so because they admitted, publicly in fact, that recently we hadn't had any direct contact with you. He, however, reblogged that of his own free will. And I commented on the dash of my own free will. Neither of us sent any of those messages to your inbox.

Considering you shit talk us on the dash and behind our backs, that's hypocritical coming from you. I'm not worried about the stance I took on this. I did the right thing. But, don't worry, I promise, after this, I'm done with you, because this says the piece of so many people, there'll be nothing left for me to say. This is my closure.

But first, let me address these real quick:

atuaism

remember how you guys blocked me and never let me explain the mistakes in the wording i chose for some of the things i wrote and meant no harm by because you guys NEVER GIVE ANYONE THE CHANCE TOO? literally, you don't. as soon as something goes wrong, you don't speak up about it until after you block and shit all over someone. so before you start pulling all your screen caps out of your ass, you should at least let people know that i tried to make up for my mistakes before, but alas you guys got so fucking sore over it and didn't give me a SINGLE CHANCE to make up for it. none, zero. even when i tried to talk to you and explain it you just gave me the hand and wanted nothing to do/say.

also, i'm glad your little information bee was able to send you a link to my post about everything because i know you guys are creepy stalkers, which is HILARIOUS considering all your followers keep saying you "aren't a clique" or a "group" but you just keep going out of your way to prove me right by proving that there are people watching me and linking you my shit. so yes, you are just a big hive filled with children who accuse everyone and everything of "guilt tripping" especially if it's against your views or anything opposite of what you believe. you never give people chances to make up for their mistakes and that's what makes you a shit person.

We both know who you're talking about, but since it's me she's always been standing up for against you, I'm going to do it myself this time for her. No, I don't, because as far as I recall and what is shown, you were approached by two people. It wasn't a matter of wording, Vakaiya. You were told multiple times that you were guilt tripping and you ignored it, still focusing on yourself and only valuing your opinion. But there you go, we addressed everything, so you can't claim your side of the story isn't visible. If people disagree with us and think you handled it well, then, that's between you guys.

Frankly, in my opinion, you haven't changed, so judging by all of this, making up wouldn't have been possible anyways.

No, no one sent us the link to this stuff directly aimed at us, we're not under radar searching through your blog, lmao. We checked your blog on our own, which for some reason seems to be a weird idea to you. We're big girls, Vak, we know how to glance at your blog every now and again when we know you're posting about us, you do too. Don't be a hypocrite: you got all the posts off my blog one of two ways too -- someone linked you or you sought me out. Judging by stat, the latter.

You can call me and my friends what you want, doesn't change anything you did.

actually it is hard to @ someone who's a complete ass towards people for no good reason, but i guess that would make sense since you're related to someone who's the same way. yes, please get back to me later, i would love to hear of what accusations of the past you will bring up and continue to post your lovely screen caps to make everything look like i'm such a horrible person. and no, for your information, not once did I EVER state trump would be a good pres to your sister. what i stated was that BOTH SIDES WERE SCARED, not just yours. but your so one sided and so closed minded that if someone is even slightly different than you they're satan. you blow things so far out of the water it's no wonder you guys are paranoid and toxic towards literally anyone who calls you out on your shitty behavior.

#toxic #drama #zzzzz #your guilt trip excuse is getting seriously old
#like so old you could slap it and it's tits would fall off
#look at all the bees buzzing around my blog to watch over me #oh noes

We were never "asses" towards you until this got out of hand and even then, you outdid us at every turn, at least we were stating facts, harsh as you may think them. I hope you enjoyed her contribution to all of this. In fact, I hope you enjoyed both of their contributions because after the way you treated them and how much you hurt us, it's about time we got to say something and share all of it. And I may not have the screencaps proving you @'d me in that article about how great Trump would be for LGBT+ people, and all I can offer is my word, but I remember it because it's one of the nastiest things someone's ever done to me in the rpc. Simple in theory, but considering my emotional state at the time, yikes. I'll give you that you can deny it happened, but I counter you because I know it did. They were completely unrelated, btw. The scared discussion and the LGBT+ thing you posted. One's your opinion, the other is you being homophobic.

Again, I believe the rest of the call out covered your other comments.

So... I'm gonna finish this off. Let's get to the biggie. Which I'm actually gonna break down by shot this time.

atuaism

@desbearer actually, do me a really big solid and just don't even write anymore. i literally have to hold back vomit every time i see your posts/call outs. keep spinning the drama my queen. i know you seriously relish it considering you always have to have the last word every single time no matter what so that you don't look like a fool.

i've literally had to go around and apologize to my poor followers because i have to keep responding to your BS since many others are too afraid too. but i don't care, i'm not scared of you or any of the other little kids you're going to throw at me. and i can already predict most of what your post is going to be. mostly about me "guilt tripping" you, god that phrase alone makes me want to vomit from how over used you use it. also, about the words i spoke that you misunderstood because you failed to give me the chance to correct my mistake. i am a person that has a hard time putting thoughts into words so sometimes the words i say don't come out right. but you wouldn't know that because you never fucking tried to be my friend or actually learn any ACTUAL information about me at all. all you know is all the psychotic crap you've told yourself i am with all the crappy accusations on top.

honestly, i don't want to post anymore and do you know why? because it's tiring, but at least it is helping some people. the people in the shadows who were afraid to say anything about you because of you and your buzzing bees, stalking us, screening everything we write to use it against us. i just wish i didn't have to keep apologizing for having to deal with your unnecessary bullcrap.

you can add me to the list of people who can't stand Unicorn and their cult

i literally dismissed this the moment I saw Unicorn

like, maybe if it was anyone else, i would have listened, but them? the cult that thinks they don't need to tag triggers because things like "gore" and "sexual abuse" are on the same level? yeah no thanks

---

mhm, yeah you guys are real saints. literally caused people panic and anxiety attacks

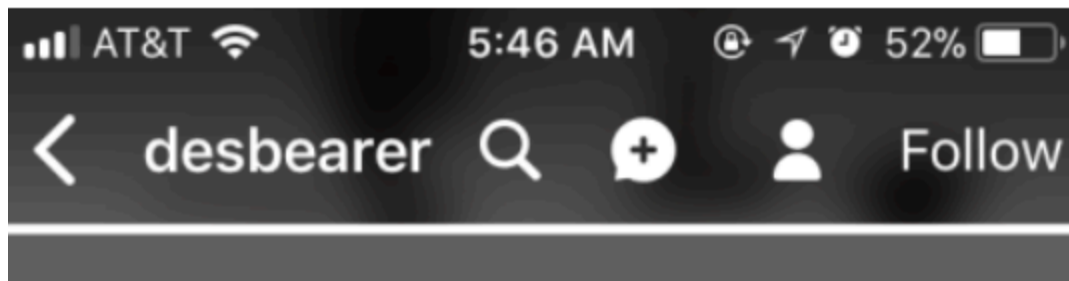

Man, you're gonna have fun reading this "last word" from all of us. I'm sorry to your followers and literally everyone who's on the outside of this, too. I'm even sorry to how many people helped put this together because this should have never been necessary. Funny enough, I'm not scared of you anymore, either. By the by, I'm going to make note of: "PSYCHOTIC CRAP." That's ableist of you. Again, most of this is already covered.

I said it before, but you're the only one we had a problem with. You're the only person I've ever kept any kind of caps on and while I can't prove that, me and the people who matter know it. You harassed us, guilted us, then you showed your racism / transphobia / homophobia / etc on tumblr and then used us as a crutch to point fingers. Well, you can't do that anymore.

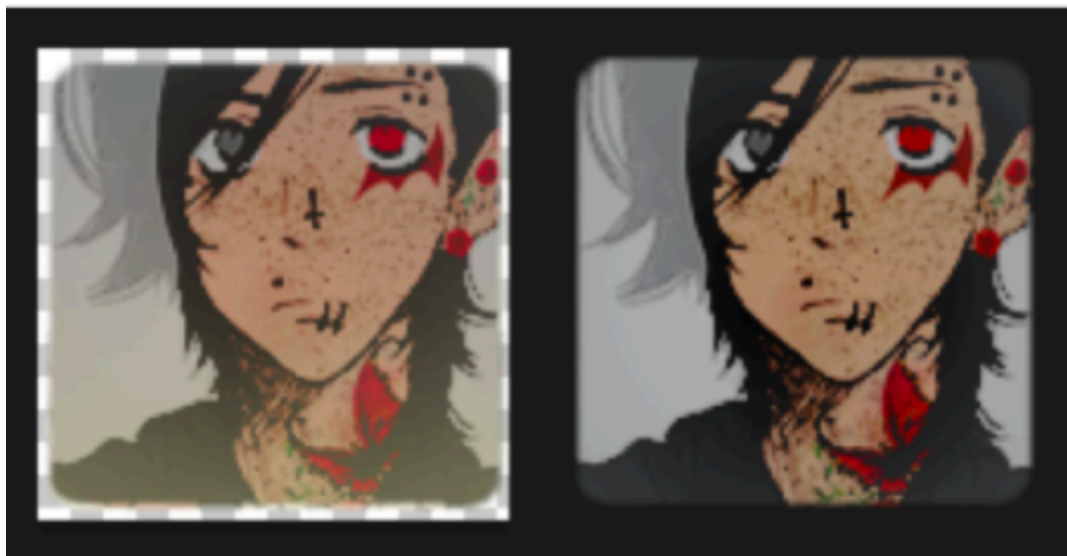

And I already addressed these issues. I don't care if there are some people who can't stand me. That's fine. Not everyone's going to like you in life. But what you can do is unfollow me if me not tagging murder / gore / etc (in threads) is a problem. Sorry it gave you issues. Read my rules. Maybe check out my preferred pronouns and stuff while you're there.

because of some of your decisions, but i bet no one ever called you out on that crap did they? probably because everyone and their mother defended the fact that you were LITERALLY HURTING PEOPLE and didn't give two shits. you do the same thing with all these shitty accusations. you hurt people, you drag them through the mud without a single fuck given and that's why i can't STAND people like you.

anyways if we're going to be petty bitches, before i jump to my drafts i'd like to show you guys what happened when i added a yellow tinted gradient to my icons

damn look at that whitewash

#L M A O #CAN YA'LL TELL FOR THE FIRST TIME IN ALMOST 3 YEARS I'M PISSED OFF #i'm going to work... See all

here let me fix this for you to properly show you what MY YELLOW TINT would have actually done to your icon.

hmmmmmm does this look WHITEWASHED to you? but wait, let me guess, you won't even ANSWER that question and instead you are going to post something along the lines of "OMG YOU ARE STEALING MY ICONS AND EDITING THEM HOW DARE YOU" and then something or another of me being a horrible person. but you know what, if i have to deal with a horrible person, then i am going to be A HORRIBLE PERSON.

So, anyways.

That psd whitewashes my dark skinned muse. It doesn't have to be paperwhite to be whitewashing, Vakaiya. And from one white girl to another... it takes 10 minutes, at most, if you're in a hurry, to make a psd that doesn't lighten skin tone, but I'm echoing a lot of people at this point and we know you're doing it purposefully.

but please, do yourself a favor and don't even bother writing a response and don't worry i won't delete my post, i'll make sure you can have every fricken screenshot you want to add to that folder you made JUST FOR ME. you're a creep, you have people stalking me and you have screencaps of me just to throw around and twist however you want. you literally make me sick. make sure to screencap that part about you guys not mentioning triggers etc. cause i bet you won't add that into whatever stupid post you'll spit out next. i bet you'll completely avoid that so that you don't look like the terrible person you are.

#desbearer [REDACTED] #since you wanted me to tag you too so badly
#🐦 . IN THE END ANGIE GOT BOARD™ ( ooc )
#sorry about this again everyone but i love you guys
#no matter what i will protect you #you won't have to pick sides or be scared etc
#drama

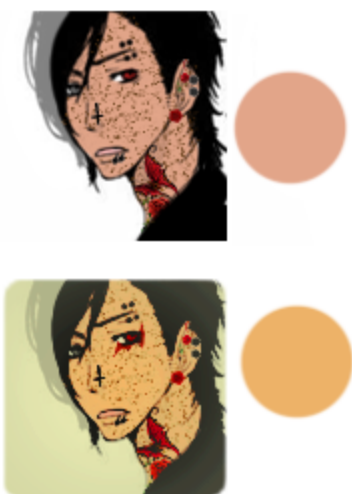

I don't have people "stalking you." Several people pulled these screenshots (some from your blog, some from their dash/inbox) and just came together to put them in here, I don't control who goes onto your blog. The only ones we had saved already were from when you guilted us in the past, everything else people just nabbed and shared as you posted.

Side note you made this post as I was finishing my points and I'm too tired to keep dealing with you, so I'm gonna make it super quick:

what's sad is you claiming your character is dark skinned when your icon to begin with already makes them dark from the lighting you chose that makes them darker than they should be. especially since that character is an edit YOU MADE, that was a really crappy thing to do to a character that already existed. you took a perfectly good character and slapped your own skin tone, tattoos etc on him and called him your own. you even changed his personality to that of a depressed asshole that cares about nothing and no one, but i guess at that point it'd just be a self insert. what is REALLY sad is the fact i've gone to friends who are a poc and even they stated my PSD wasn't an issue, proves that you are an immature child who doesn't get their facts straight in life about anything. instead you're the crybaby of tumblr, you're the extreme side of a story. in other words, you're an extremist and it's quite obvious.

Literally what are you saying. Are you comparing WHITEWASHING to darkening the skin tone of a poc in the same way you'd lighten someone with light skin for your icon aesthetics? You're right, my psd is a little darker than what I color it to be, but do you know why that is? Because I chose a color that would even out with the psd itself and KEEP the correct tone without being too light! Imagine that. Also, did you just... reverse racism mentality?

Anyways if you wanna go that route, I'll even pull out my stupid untweaked messy base.

It's still whitewashed even if we just consider my base colors before I add anything else LMAO. "It's the same shade!!" NO IT ISN'T! Skin tones are NOT interchangeable OH MY GOD. YOU STILL LIGHTENED HIS SKIN TONE. The only argument you have here is that you made him an orange jfc.

Anyways, I'm not addressing the rest of this because I don't really need to, it's just a receipt to keep here to showcase your personality. You've gotten to the point where you're throwing out petty insults because you have nothing left to argue, so.

and look, you did exactly what i said you would, ignored everything else and went straight to exactly what i stated. you really are a child, don't message me, don't tag me, don't write anymore BS about me because me and everyone else have had it with you. get your facts straight about what's considered ANYTHING before you go accusing people. i'm sick of people like you below the age of 20 playing victim 24/7 spitting accusations left and right about other people you know nothing about and claiming you know anything and everything under the sun when it comes to justice. when in fact, you don't know crap.

Did you read your own post. Also, how do you like my responses? I won't be contacting you again, don't worry. Keep screeching, Vakaiya, someone will hear you over your racism/xphobia/etc. Also, I'm 21. Just. For the record. I act my age better than you do.

you're a slanderer, a libeller, a fabricator. a person of defamatory and smear. like stated before, you're the sheep that cried wolf but instead of crying wolf you cry guilt trip like you're a victim when in fact you're not. you're a bully, you instigate with all your BS ooc posts and then wonder why you're in the middle of drama. but you love the drama, don't you? you love getting all this attention i bet because if you were really done with it you wouldn't have made posts like the following.

Gestures to this entire document. Yeah, tell us we're lying about how rude and awful you are, now.

making call out after call out, admitting that you both stalk me and even have an entire folder of my posts, what i've written, messages etc. and even in that last one you are, again, using a term and labeling me when you know nothing about me. "xphobic"? you know nothing about me or my family/life yet you have a nerve to accuse this kind of crap? people get beat up on the street for doing the crap you do and saying all this kind of stuff when it's untrue, you do know that right? even outright saying that you don't give a shit about the DR fandom, then why are you even in it? why do you play a character, who isn't even the character you chose, from the game we all enjoy and love? if anything you should have removed your oc from the DR fandom years ago. they have nothing to do with the fandom anyways. all your "remake" stuff isn't canon and never will be and even if canon divergent you take it to a bigger extreme then that.

"Call out after call out," surprise. Most of this is a personal attack on me and my muse, but I don't care about your opinion on either? I didn't ask lmao.

there is nothing wrong with crossovers, but Unicorn just needs to completely detached from the dr
community at this point

their "dr3 remake" is stupid af

to insist that it's canon is what makes it stupid

the sheep: i won't interact with anyone outside of this au
the sheep: [puts out "follow me if you wanna interact"
promos]

actually

they've called themselves a cult first

did they really? Imfao

yeah some in their rules were like "i will only interact with others in the bled cult"

I don't care about your opinion on my muse because we're never going to interact. I did leave the DanganRonpa community, though. IDK why that's a receipt, it's... uh...

PLEASE check out about tab for character info & heed warnings regarding blog content in rules!
This blog is not associated with the DR community. See rules.

on my blog. I'm happier outside of it and that's none of your business. I'll step back in to call you out on being racist, though. Anyways your friends can tell me to my face if they have problems with me, honestly, because last time someone defended you it was you behind your own keyboard, Keya.

literally can't believe anything about you guys anymore because you "claim" you aren't a clique or a group yet most of you are going around actually saying you are. you tell everyone you care about their safety and their feelings and then you don't tag your gore/sexual abuse trigger properly and literally hurt people giving them anxiety/panic attacks when YOU YOURSELF have had those things happen to you. so apparently, whenever you're having anxiety or panicking everyone needs to come to the rescue, but if you cause it directly yourself? you don't even fucking care. you are such a hypocrite it disgusts me. here's some more stuff for you to screen and stalk.

#desbearer #🐝 IN THE END ANGIE GOT BOARD™ ( OOC )
#@followers at this point just ignore anything that is read more cause it's gonna be this nonsense
#drama #keep mentioning my name #keep making your tiny posts
#keep needing to have the last word

You may notice I'm going through these fast right now and it's because I can't be bothered anymore. You are a nasty, hateful, bigoted, racist, homophobic, transphobic, biphobic, ableist, guilt trippy, manipulative human being and these are the 100+ receipts we, as a collective group of people, some my friends, some from within other parts of the community, gathered on you.

Our side of the story is here, all in context. This team and/or I personally have made every argument against you we're willing to put our time into making. So I reiterate what many of us have said throughout this document; we were not in the wrong, at any point, during any of this. You were.

And with that, I made you a promise that I think the majority of those who lent a hand will be happy to embrace; goodbye!

SINCERELY, ALL 20+ WORKER BEES
BUZZ BUZZ. 🐝