

Ok now

I'll give you a head start and continue the rest

Something like

Wiz "what does it mean to be a god. Are they born. Did they exist far before anything else. Or else were they created. Maybe that was on the mind of the first genius of the cosmos zandar one kuwabara when his creation Nous ascended to be the aeon of erudition "

Boomstick " you'd think he'll be completely happy that he created the literal god of knowledge that calculates the entire universe. But no"

Wiz: Nous's calculations were so perfect. That it literally became the only future possible for mankind bringing the universe in a predetermined path where there's no free will or more things to discover or that's what lygus (a figment of the true zandar) thought. So he decided to "amend for his sin" and sought out to destroy his own creation "

Boomstick" And what better way to destroy something than with its own body"

Wiz. Long before Nous's ascension it had multiple celestial bodies to aid in it's calculation built by the second mechanical emperor rubert the second known as scepters designed to process information and calculate them on behalf of nous and the first of them was

Scepter \delta-me13 tasked with finding the prime mover of life and even after being disardeed by nous it continued to calculate eventually being found by lygus and then reprogrammed shifting it's calculation from erudition to destruction eventually find an answer in the anti organic equation which can destroy all forms of mechanical and organic life and also housing the Amphoreus simulation and right after the 50121 simulation due to the destructive choice of inorganic lifeform Chaoz666, δ-me13 caught the attention of the aeon of destruction themself Nanook transcending and becoming a Lord Ravager of the anti legion army

WizLygus got too excited and start sending the anti organic equation to multiple worlds to test it's efficiency destroying them completely that the IPC (Interastral Peace Corporation) counted it as an attack of the new ravager and give it the name of "irontomb" The cycles of the experimental world within the Scepter, would continue for at least 28,371,292 cycles. Twelve factors inserted into the experiment became the basis of electrical signals mirroring Aeons and Pathstriders, leading to the creation of the Titans and Chrysos Heirs that iterated and improved the equation with each cycle.

Wiz ' Over time, the equation eventually achieved near-complete evolution, with all its results invariably leading to Destruction, continually completing a reversal against Erudition through self-evolution. However, due to the actions of NeiKos496 and PhiLia093, iterations of the twelve factors otherwise known as Phainon and Cyrene, the "Era Nova" was prevented, halting Irontomb's birth into the cosmos. Acquiring the gaze of Fuli, the pair forced Amphoreus into an eternally recurring loop of the final cycle

After many other attempts to stop irontomb. He eventually broke out as the fourth instant of cosmos an event which will happen beyond all causality in an all out war against everyone and I mean everyone like the anti irontomb association which had