

TOS for Nature The Folf/Teal

My rights

I hold the right to deny any commission request. I also hold the right to terminate a commission at any time with an appropriate amount being refunded if any work has been done. Reasons for declines / termination can be any one or multiple of the following:

- Abuse, harassment, and/or disrespect
- Fraud
- Have multiple artist / customer beware held against you (that are unresolved)
- Have been blacklisted by multiple artists
- Commissioning art of a character that is stolen
- Using AI artwork

Please note that I hold the right to add on any additional charges, examples of this are:

- Requesting parts with high amounts of detail (multiple angles, buildings etc.)
- Excessive change requests

Terms of use

By commissioning me I hold the right to post, print and display the commissioned artwork on social media as well as at irl events.

You may repost my artwork to your social media under the conditions that:

- You give full credit (like tagging, or an equivalent of), although this only applies when it is posted as a stand alone post
- Do not use the artwork for advertisement or other kinds of commercialization
- Do not print my artwork for non-personal use (selling prints, etc.)

All of the above may be able to be talked over and or changed, especially the commercialization and advertisement clause may be lifted for a fee proportional to what it will be used for. This means private individuals most likely will have to pay far less than corporations or organizations to get the right to advertise their product or service with my art, without credit, and or sell prints.

However, these few following terms are absolutely non-negotiable:

- Do not claim the artwork is in any way, shape or form produced by you
- Do not use my artwork for any form of AI generation and or AI generated content
- Do not use my artwork to advertise or include in any type of crypto-currency, and or NFTs
- Do not edit my artwork unless explicit permission has been given

Depending on the severity of breaking these terms the repercussions may reach from being permanently blacklisted from my commissions, up to legal action being taken.
